At least 200 rioters were under arrest today. The dead include Detective Sergeant Harry Wilson, shot through the heart by a negro girl when he entered a house from which she was

MURDER OF 50 AMERICANS

Ambassador Fletcher Declares Mexico Has Failed To Prosecute Slayers

Says Withdrawal of Recognition of Carranza Would Increase Turmoil

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico told the house rules committee today that since his appointment three years ago about 50 Americans had been killed in Mexico without a single prosecution being made by the Mexican authorities.

Replying to questions by Chairman Campbell, Ambassador Fletcher said withdrawal of recognition of the Carranza government by the United States would only increase the turmoil in the southern republic. He added that he did not know of any revolutionary leader capable of establishing a permanent government.

Ambassador Fletcher said he had not noticed any special anti-American feeling in Mexico and explained that the presence of more American citizens there than other foreigners probably accounted for the greater number of outrages affecting Americans.

PRES. WILSON SITS UP

Able To Resume Conference With Republican Senators—Still Weak

WASHINGTON, July 22.—President Wilson had sufficiently recovered today from his indisposition to resume conferences with republican senators at the White House without objection from Rear Admiral Grayson, his physician.

Admiral Grayson said the president was in no pain, but that he still was extremely weak.

"The president is sitting up and now receiving a caller," he continued, "and he probably will be up at least until lunch time. He was very anxious to get to work this morning and I thought it would do him no harm to see one or two people. It depends upon how he feels in the middle of the day whether he goes back to bed again this afternoon."

The president went into conference at 10 o'clock with Senator Edge of New Jersey, and he hoped to fill other engagements which he was forced to defer yesterday because of an acute attack of intestinal trouble which developed upon his return from a week-end trip down the Potomac.

Senator Norris Declines
Senator Norris of Nebraska, one of the senators invited to the White House yesterday, declined the invitation, but others whom the president expected to see today were Senators Calder of New York and Cummins of Iowa.

Internal Revenue Officers Swoop Down on Lawrence Liquor Dealers

Sale of Whiskey and 2 3/4 Per Cent Beer Alleged—Arrests Expected

(Special to The Sun.)
LAWRENCE, July 22.—A number of this city's saloon keepers are said to have become paralyzed with fear today as the result of the sudden and quiet descent on this city last night of a group of internal revenue officers in search of drink sellers suspected of violating the national prohibition law.

It has been an open secret for nearly a week here that some of the saloons were not only selling the so-called 2 3/4 per cent. beer, but when the patron wanted a more punchy potion he got it and could get it in the form of whiskey. Lawrence is supposed to have been practically the only city in

DELAY IN ARBITRATION

Bay State Official Believes Alleged Grievances Will Be Taken Up Soon

(Special to The Sun.)
BOSTON, July 22.—An official of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. today showed resentment over the fact that opinion in Lowell emanating from officials of the Carmen's union had crystallized itself into an assertion that arbitration proceedings, including the selection of the third arbitrator, were being unnecessarily delayed and that it might be as late as September before the arbitration board commenced its sittings and began to review the troubles alleged to exist between the Bay State and its workers.

The official said: "The carmen have agreed upon James H. Vahey as their representative. Every newspaper reader knows Vahey has had his hands full the past two weeks trying to help the Boston carmen. The employer has selected Samuel Pillsbury, an attorney, as its representative. It is understood that these two men have selected James L. Doherty of Springfield as the third arbitrator. Mr. Doherty has acted in other arbitration proceedings and is regarded as somewhat of an authority on labor matters as well as on the science of transportation."

"Progress of arbitration proceedings now waits on the acceptance of Mr. Doherty of the invitation extended to him to be chairman of this board. We expect his acceptance would be sent either to Mr. Vahey or Mr. Pillsbury, and if his decision was sent by him to the president of the Lowell Carmen's union, it would be as a matter of courtesy."

"If Mr. Doherty decides to serve, it is expected that the time when the board starts its sessions will be left to him. He would probably call it at the convenience of the other two members."

"Lowell carmen and Lowell people in general should not hold to the idea that Lowell troubles entirely furnish the topics to be reviewed and arbitrated. The troubles alleged to prevail in Lowell are common all over the Bay State road and this arbitration board will undoubtedly take this view and its province will include every labor trouble existing on the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. system."

"The prominence of Lowell carmen in the arbitration proceedings lies in the fact that it was their action that drew the matter to a centre, suspended traffic over a great part of the road and forced conditions to make it necessary for an arbitration board to be appointed and to give a decision. There is a likelihood that this arbitration board will start its work not later than the first week in August."

SEN. McNARY DEFENDS LEAGUE

Republican Urges Senate To Accept Covenant Without Any Reservations

Declares Article 10 the "Pillar Section" of the League of Nations

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator McNary, republican, of Oregon urged in the senate today, that the League of Nations be accepted without any such amendments or reservations as "would alter the splendid purposes of the covenant or weaken it so far as it affects our duties."

Article 10 "Pillar Section"
The senate, he said, could without harm adopt certain "reservations in the form of interpretations," but should not endanger the covenant by making reservations that would vitally affect important features. Article 10, he said, must be unimpaired because it was the "pillar section" of the league.

"Repeatedly," he said, "the argument has been advanced that Article 10 casts upon this government an absolute obligation to go to war under any conditions, however heretofore of justice. This indictment, in my opinion, is untenable."

"By the force of another article in the covenant the council in arriving at a decision will be governed by unanimous vote, the power of veto standing between this country and an unwise remedy."

Moral Not Legal Obligation
"Indisputably this provision casts upon this country an undertaking to go to war to protect an associate of the league from invasion through external force, but this obligation is in no proper sense a legal one, but purely a moral obligation, entirely dependent upon the condition that the cause of the war and the war itself is violative of the moral conscience of the American people."

Senator McNary said that the supreme court had decided that by the rules of international law subjects like immigration and the tariff were exclusively within the jurisdiction of this country and that he could find no serious complaint with a policy that would annex a resolution to the treaty redefining an established doctrine of the laws of nations.

GEORGE ALLEN, Treas.

City Auditor Paige Resigns; Council Elects J. Joseph Hennessy to Succeed Him

Lawyer George F. Toye, Ex-Service Man, Appointed Mayor's Private Secretary To Succeed Mr. Hennessy—Big Surprise Sprung at Today's Meeting of the Municipal Council

A veritable bomb-shell of surprise erupted through the aldermanic chamber at city hall this morning as the final to a routine session otherwise devoid of interest, when Mayor Perry D. Thompson read the resignation of Charles D. Paige from the office of city auditor. The council promptly accepted the resignation, instructed a committee of its members to draw up resolutions of appreciation and a few minutes later elected J. Joseph Hennessy, private secretary to Mayor Thompson, to succeed Mr. Paige. The climax of the day's development came half an hour after the meeting when Mayor Thompson announced that he had chosen George F. Toye, well known local practicing lawyer and veteran of the world war, for his private secretary. All three men will enter upon their new duties officially on the first of August.

Mr. Paige leaves city hall after 14 years of service as city auditor to accept a position with the Noyes-Bulck Co. of Boston, a well known automobile concern. His duties will be of much the same nature as at city hall and his salary will be at least double his present compensation.

Who They Are
Charles D. Paige was a member of the old common council in 1895 and 1899, the latter year serving as president of the body. In 1900 he served as alderman. He then returned to private life only to re-appear at city hall in July, 1905, when he was elected city auditor. He has held the position continuously since that time or for 14 years. During his term of office an up-to-date and efficient system of auditing the city's books has been introduced and Mr. Paige has frequently been pointed out as one of the city's most valuable servants. He will remain in his present office until Mr. Hennessy becomes familiar with the details of the position and will go to Boston August 1. His salary as auditor is $2500. The firm to which he is going is one of the largest of its kind in New England and its president, Harry K. Noyes, is well known to Lowell people as he got his start as an automobile man in this city.

J. Joseph Hennessy has the distinction of being the first private secretary to a Lowell mayor. In 1897 he was chosen for this position under Mayor Courtney's administration. He was city solicitor in 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915 and part of 1916. When Mayor Thompson assumed his office in January, 1918, Mr. Hennessy became his private secretary and has served in that capacity up to the present time. While city solicitor he had an opportunity to familiarize himself with the city's financial system and this experience is counted upon as an asset for his new position. He enjoys a good

STORMY DEBATE ON DRY BILL

Prohibition Enforcement Measure Was Passed by the House Today

Described by Opponents as Drastic Enough To Invite Presidential Veto

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The prohibition enforcement bill, described by members opposing it as drastic enough to invite a presidential veto, was passed today by the house.

The vote was taken after a motion by Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri, to recommit the bill, had been defeated 255 to 136. Nearly every member of the house was in attendance and there was so much noise during the roll call that Republican Leader Mondell was recorded as supporting the Igoe motion. He was permitted to change his vote.

KEEPING AWAY FROM THE DEBT LIMIT

In order that the city's debt limit may not be too closely approached, there will be no more additional appropriation for the construction of an annex to the Morey grammar school until after the first of August, when the debt limit will be greater than it is now. Commissioner George E. Marchand stated after this morning's meeting of the city council.

The commissioner had hoped to bring the matter before the council at this morning's meeting, but it was deemed wiser to keep the matter in abeyance until the city was a little farther away from the debt limit than it is now. There are also several alterations to be made in the plans for the building as it has been decided to reduce the number of rooms from 15 to 14. The matter will probably come up at the meeting of the council, August 5.

CHARGES OF BRUTALITY LIFE TERM FOR SLAYER

Nine Officers Convicted of Cruelty, Says Baker—Smith a Prisoner

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Four commissioned officers and five sergeants were court-martialed and convicted on charges of brutality and cruelty toward prisoners in the Paris Bastille and at American prison farm No. 2.

This statement was made yesterday by Sec. of War Baker when his attention was called to the statement of Lieut. Col. J. Leslie Kincaid, former judge advocate of the 27th Division (New York national guard), that he had sent the war department a copy of his original report bearing on this subject.

"The original report was sent to Gen. Pershing, not to the war department," said Mr. Baker yesterday. "The only report I have seen is a copy. Some young men who returned to this country protested vigorously about conditions particularly at prison camp No. 2. We cabled for full information."

"The upshot of the matter is that four officers and five sergeants were brought to trial and all convicted of one offense or another as charged. I do not now recall the number dismissed from the service, but know one of the commissioned officers was given a prison term in addition to dismissal."

"I have advised the sub-committee of the special house committee investigating this matter that Gen. March, chief of staff, is now prepared to appear at any time and lay the facts before it as revealed in official records. The investigation, made some time ago, showed clearly that unnecessary brutality and cruelty were indulged in by some commissioned officers, non-commissioned officers and prison guards. Immediate steps were taken to remedy the situation when the facts were disclosed."

"Have Killed" Smith a Prisoner

NEW YORK, July 22.—Lieut. ("Hard Boiled") Smith, convicted by a court-martial in France of brutality to American soldier prisoners at Chelles detention farm, arrived here aboard the army transport Santa Elisa from Brazil, it became known yesterday and immediately was taken to Fort Jay, the disciplinary barracks on Governors Island. Neither the identity of Smith, whose name is said to be assumed, nor his place of residence, were discussed. The officer was separated from the rest of 50 prisoners on the ship, it was said, because of fear that they would do Smith injury.

Allie Corkins of Greenfield, Convicted of Killing His Brother-in-Law

GREENFIELD, July 22.—In the superior court yesterday afternoon, Allie W. Corkins of Greenfield, indicted for murder in the first degree, having shot his brother-in-law, Robert Lawless, while the latter was sleeping in bed at the Corkins house, early on the morning of June 4, retracted his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree.

District Attorney Schoomaker, stated to the court that Corkins had always borne a good reputation up to the present, that he had had mental trouble, that he had worked very hard on June 4, an excessively hot day, and that his taking the life of Lawless was unexplainable. He asked that the plea of Corkins be accepted.

W. A. Davenport, counsel for Corkins, reiterated what the district attorney had stated. The court then accepted the plea of Corkins and sentenced him to state prison for life.

Leon Lyons, a member of a prominent family, pleaded guilty to a highway robbery, $165 being the amount involved. Because of the illness of his mother sentence was postponed to November.

Ralph Demming pleaded guilty to an unnatural act and was sentenced to Concord reformatory.

Arthur Morse of Boston, who has a criminal record, was sentenced to state prison for not less than five nor more than seven years for breaking and entering the jewelry store of Foster Bros. John Spero, who pleaded guilty to the same offense, was sentenced to Concord reformatory.

Lincoln Nowell, who pleaded guilty to an unnatural act, paid a fine of $300.

Before the criminal business was taken up a jury in the case of George C. Corsiglia against E. J. Tetreault found a verdict for the plaintiff for $967.50.

DRY LAW MAKES HOTEL LIFE HIGH

BOSTON, July 22.—War-time prohibition, according to the statements made yesterday by some of the leading hotel men of Boston, has resulted in an increased charge for rooms, higher prices in the restaurants, the necessary discharge of many hotel employees and great financial loss.

"Soft" drinks have been a failure from a financial viewpoint, the hotel men aver, while "near beer," sold in hotels in competition with the 2-3-4 per cent article of the barrooms, does not meet with popular approval.

Hotel men were a unit yesterday in declaring that their overhead expenses had not been decreased materially, with the exception of employees discharged, but that the bar receipts have fallen off to almost nothing in many instances, while others report an indifferent amount of business.

Feeling that something of a radical nature must be done to offset losses which were bound to occur, even with increased room charges, L. C. Prior of the Hotels Lenox and Brunswick, recently put into effect fixed periods of time for the serving of meals.

Mr. Prior said yesterday that the plan has worked like a charm, and that he has been able to effect a saving of at least $3500 a month in salaries at the Lenox and an equal amount at the Brunswick. The plan now used is to serve breakfast from 6.30 to 10.30 a. m., lunch from 12 to 2.30 p. m., and dinner from 6 to 8.30 p. m. The saving is effected through the fact that only one kitchen and dining room "wait" is required against two under the old plan.

"This plan has made a great saving, and partially, at least, offsets the loss brought about by prohibition," said Mr. Prior yesterday. "I believe that I am the first hotel man in the country to do this, and while it may sound revolutionary, at least 90 per cent of the people who patronize the Lenox and Brunswick can be accommodated by this form of service and hours. When the cooks depart—between meals and after the theatre, etc., a bill is prepared that requires no cooking, such as relishes, soups, sandwiches, salads, desserts and ices, fruit and the like."

Fourteen million roses were distributed in London on the occasion of the recent Alexandra day celebration.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

"The Man Who Turned White" and "The Spark Divine," two delightful photo-plays, are the headliners on the bill of the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week, and both are sure to make a hit with everybody, for they are film productions of the highest grade, each featuring a popular star. In addition there is also an enjoyable comedy, as well as an interesting scene by the Universal Weekly and pleasing vocal numbers by Mildred Clifford.

"The Man Who Turned White" is a vivid drama of the great Sahara desert, dealing with Warner, an English captain who vowed vengeance on his people because of an injustice which reflected on his honor, after he was discharged from his regiment, dishonored and an outcast, this turn of affairs being brought about by his shouldering the blame attached to the actions of another officer. Warner sacrificed himself in an endeavor to repay the debt he owed to the officer, who saved his life, but nevertheless he felt the action of his superior officer, who located in the desert and carried out raids on hands of merchants. On one occasion he not only robbed his victims, but also took along with the daughter of one merchant, who was being loved by the officer for whose sake he gave up everything. The girl struggles to escape his embraces and during the scuffle his breast is bared and she notices that he is white and points out the fact to him. He gives her her freedom and later returns to the world, and who follows is very interesting and it may be stated that the story ends with the marriage of the captain and the young woman, who at one time was his prisoner in the desert.

"The Spark Divine" relates the story of a girl who has grown into womanhood with her spirit completely crushed, and who marries for convenience sake when the opportunity presents itself. Even after the birth of her baby she remains indifferent, but the husband sets out to kindle a love feeling in her heart and succeeds. Included in the scenes shown by the Universal Weekly are views of the Hall of Mirrors, where the peace treaty was signed, as well as interesting pictures of the stockless woman of the Metropolis. A picture of the Empire race track during one of the big events of the year is one of the good pictures shown. Miss Mildred Clifford is an exceptionally good singer and her numbers are very pleasing.

The result of the money contest so far, as announced at last evening's performance is as follows: Robert Carr, Jr., first with 24,650 votes, the others named in their order being as follows: Herbert Crocker, "Sunshine" McClellan, Joseph Boulker, Louise Hall, John Lester, Gladys Pitts, Ellen Devine, John Connors, Josephine Farrell, Correll Smith, William O'Brien and Herbert Barnes.

BRINGS MEN TO CHURCH

Each Man Thrown by Wrestling Parson Promises To Induce 5 Others To Attend

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN GERMANY, July 5. (Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Chaplain E. S. Currie of the Second Division, has become known among the American forces on the Rhine as "the wrestling parson." He has been wrestling members of the Third Battalion of the Sixth Marines in the Leutesdorf playhouse every night the last few weeks, and each man he throws promises to induce five other soldiers to accompany him to church the Sunday after the match. The chaplain has won 75 per cent of the matches.

ADMITS BANK $900,000 SHORT

HARRISBURG, July 22.—Commissioner of Banking John S. Fisher announced last night that Ralph T. Moyer, cashier of the North Pennsylvania Bank of Philadelphia had admitted to James W. McBurney, receiver in charge of the bank, that there was a shortage of $900,000. The commissioner has ordered Moyer's arrest.

Commissioner Fisher said Moyer had confessed to McBurney that he had falsified books by substituting loose leaves in the ledgers when State bank examiners appeared.

According to the commissioner, the lodge named Western Seneat association information at hand was that the bank had over extended itself and made bad loans, but he could not give any details as yet.

State officials said last night that Moyer would be charged with perjury, embezzlement, misappropriation of bank funds, re-hypothecation of securities, destroying and mutilating records and accepting deposits when the bank was insolvent.

Negroes at Memphis have formed a lodge named Western Seneat association of North America, South America, Asia, Africa and Australia.

When My Baby Had Fever

THE first time my baby had fever, I was frantic with fear. It seemed hours before the doctor came.

But he only smiled.

"You needn't worry," he said. "Pretty soon that first tooth will be through and he'll be all right. We'll just make things easier for him, though, by giving him Nestlé's Milk Food."

That was how I learned that Nestlé's is better for baby's stomach than other kinds of milk. The doctor told me it was made out of the pure milk modified with just the right amount of sugar and cereal, and all changed to a fluffy powder—pure, clean, safe.

Soon the fever was gone, but was kept on with Nestlé's as the safest and best way to give him milk. And somehow the other teeth came more easily, and he seemed to be getting more healthy nourishment out of those warm bottles than he ever had out of ordinary milk.

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, always uniform, and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and is today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

BILL FOR RESTORATION OF LOW FARES

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 22.—Success attended the efforts of the low trolley fare advocates in the legislature when the senate yesterday overruled an adverse committee report and passed a second reading a bill limiting the fares on all trolley roads in the state to five cents and providing that the excess in operating costs shall be assessed upon property owners.

In advocating passage of the bill, Senator John J. Walsh of Boston, its sponsor, likened the street car lines to fire departments, saying that one is as necessary to the well being of the community as the other.

"Every person who is taxed for the maintenance of a fire department may not call upon it to protect his property," he said, "but nevertheless the department is recognized as a public necessity and therefore supported by all. On the other hand trolley companies are a benefit to everybody, whether they be patronized by all or not. Few people realize they are indispensable to a class who seldom use them. I mean by that class business men who do not have to depend upon street cars to carry them personally."

"During the last four days when the transportation system between Boston and its suburbs was prostrate, how many of these men, dependent upon the trolleys for the transportation of prospective customers, would have been averse to being taxed were they assured they could avoid the losses through an uninterrupted flow of patrons. I think none."

Mr. Walsh expressed the opinion that the burden of an indispensable public utility should not fall wholly upon those compelled to use it but should be borne in part by those who are benefited by the utility, directly or indirectly.

Senator Perrin of Wellesley, senate chairman of the committee on street railways, opposed the bill on the ground that if enacted it would result in the imposition of taxes which would be prohibitively high.

"In Boston and vicinity alone," he said, "the enactment of the legislation would result in the piling up of taxes to the extent of $10,000,000 a year or more. A similarly excessive rate would follow in all other sections of the state where the law was put into effect."

On a roll call, the bill was passed to a second reading, 24 to 12. Among those senators voting in its favor were Mr. Callahan of Lawrence, Mr. Lane of Fall River, Mr. Nason of Haverhill and Mr. Halliwell of New Bedford. Senator Colburn of Dracut voted against it.

18 MONTHS' TERM FOR BIGAMIST

PITTSFIELD, July 22.—Six months apiece for each of the three women with whom he lived, a total of 18 months in the house of correction, was the sentence given to Edward Shaw, 20 years old, of this city, a street car conductor, when he pleaded guilty to bigamy and unlawful residence with a third woman, in superior court yesterday.

Shaw had agreed to pay $400 for the support of a child of Miss Ethel Stone of Ticonderoga, N. Y., who lodged the first complaint against him, leading to the discovery that he had two wives living, while he was residing here with Miss Stone as his wife.

The three young women were in the court room yesterday, Miss Stone, a brunette of 22; Miss Anna Brunker, a brunette, his second wife, 20, and Miss Sylvia Bennett, 22, now divorced, a blonde. Miss Brunker, clad all in white, from pumps to hat, of pronounced beauty, was called to the bench to tell her story to Judge Brown and she expressed a desire to have Shaw punished for his deception, saying she did not desire to be legally married to him. The other two women were not questioned.

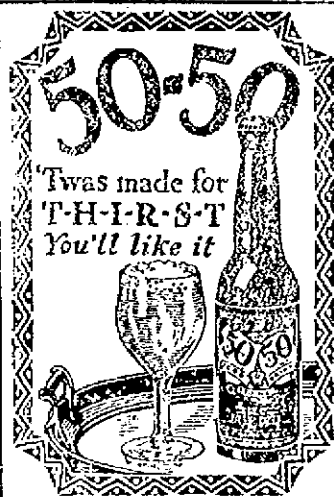

Shaw has a daughter 10 years old by a former marriage. The mother is dead. Shaw lived with the three women in three different states—New York, Vermont and Massachusetts—and it was only after he had sent Miss Stone to her home in Ticonderoga and delayed marrying her, as he promised, that he was arrested and his marital adventures discovered.

Dry Law Defied in One Bay State City

BOSTON, July 22.—Information has reached Assistant United States Attorney Lewis Goldberg that liquor is being sold openly in certain parts of the state outside of Boston in direct violation of the present prohibitory law and as a result an investigation has been started to bring the guilty parties to justice. It was learned at the federal building last night.

According to the story, which came from a reliable source, the alleged flagrant defiance of the federal statute is being carried out not only "under the eyes" of the local authorities, but the charge is made that the latter are conniving in the matter. It is this phase of the case that makes it more serious in the minds of governmental agents, and if the accusations are sustained there is said to be no doubt that some worthwhile fireworks will be set off in the near future.

In one Massachusetts city, Uncle Sam's prosecuting officers have been told, conditions are especially bad. The impression was gained from the government informant that in this particular municipality nothing like 2% per cent. beer is being dispensed to thirsty ones, but on the contrary hard stuff as well as real, genuine pre-war beer is going down the throats of patrons of standing.

All of which looks interesting, to quote one government official yesterday. To get at the facts, whatever they are, machinery has been set in motion which may bear fruit. It is understood, too, that drug stores will be closely watched.

WELCOME FOR "ACRE" BOYS

The veterans of the world war who hail from the so-called "Acre" district, in and around Broadway, will be tendered a welcome home reception in the near future by the Broadway Social and Athletic club. A public meeting to hear suggestions and make plans for the affair will be held at the club rooms next Thursday evening. Aug. 14 has been set as a tentative date for the affair.

The shadow of raven locks and shadowy eyes falls across the pink and gold beauty of the blonde! Science proves the dark type of beauty is slowly eclipsing fair maids of northern blood—a tragedy much hastened by the war. Olive Thomas, film star, is a typical blonde beauty of the vanishing type, and Elaine Hammerstein, also a film star, is a brunette beauty whose like will prevail in the future.

IT'S SURE COMING!

The Total Eclipse of the Blonde in America

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

NEW YORK, July 22.—The blondes are doomed as a result of the world war!

They will be swallowed up—racially—by the brunettes.

Real blonde Americans are becoming fewer: American women are tending to a neutral type, with brown rather than golden hair, and brown eyes instead of blue. This foreshadows the triumph of the still darker brunette type in America, where the old strains of northern European blood are being swallowed by the later immigration to this country. Soon a blonde beauty will be an exception, and "American beauty" will mean the Spanish, French or Italian type.

Such is the prediction, expressed in scientific language, of course, of Madison Grant, trustee of the American Museum of Natural History, and councillor of the American Geographical society, who has made a study of the effect of the war superimposed on centuries of slow progression on the part of the brunettes. In his book, "The Passing of the Great Race," by Scribner's.

The world war, he says, has made matters worse for the blonde because it is the blonde Nordic element in all peoples that invariably makes the greatest sacrifices in war, while the less energetic brunette element emerges from each world struggle stronger in numbers than before.

Up to the middle of the 19th century the native American, Mr. Grant points out, was the almost purely Nordic. The Civil war destroyed a large part of the breeding stock of the blonde race, and the immigration since then has been largely from the Mediterranean basin and the Balkans.

Mr. Grant believes that the destruction of life of the blondes in the present war has been so immensely greater than that of the brunettes, that a great step has been taken in wiping out the blonde type.

"The world war will leave Europe much poorer in Nordic blood," he says. He points out how the blonde race has been absorbed by the brunettes all over the world, and cites the Aryan conquerors of northern India, who imposed their language and customs on the natives, but were swallowed up in the darker stream of blood.

He thinks that the same thing will happen in the United States, and that the only hope of a relatively pure type of blonde community is in northwest Canada, which because of its climate is suitable for the blonde types and unsuitable for the brunettes.

L STRIKE CAUSED LOSS OF $360,000

BOSTON, July 22.—The cost of the strike of the carmen on the Elevated which ended at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, is now estimated by Pres. J. Henry Neal of the company as about $360,000, while the loss to the strikers themselves in wages he places in the vicinity of $160,000.

Mr. Neal predicted yesterday that the unit of fare on the road will probably remain at 10 cents for the present.

For Dismissal of Non-Citizens

BOSTON, July 22.—An order providing that the Elevated trustees be requested to ascertain the citizenship and residence of all officers, agents and employees of the company and to dismiss any who are not United States citizens and residents of Massachusetts, was proposed in the house of representatives yesterday by Representative John I. Fitzgerald. This order was referred to the committee on rules.

PUT SPOTLIGHT ON SPOONERS

NANTASKET, July 22.—The spooners along Nantasket beach were under the spotlight Sunday night. Up and down the beach the plain clothes officers of the Metropolitan park police patrolled in search of them. Time and again the glare of light revealed the spooning "Roméo and Julietts."

The minute the searchlight of the police would reveal their position they would "break" and sit up, disturbed and trying to appear at ease.

Many others would not give the light a thought, but keep right on spooning under the glare until sternly ordered to cease by the officers. The police had a busy night and many happy couples were forced to bring their love-making to an abrupt ending under the orders of the law.

The searchlight was more or less embarrassing to the older persons who came to the beach to witness the air battle above the sandy shore. Often while watching the aviators perform, they were "spotted" by the officers, who seemed to take delight in playing with the searchlight.

When Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leggett of Palmyra, Kan., celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary recently, all their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present. In the whole family there had not been a death in all the 55 years.

TREE FALLS IN EAST MERRIMACK STREET

Believers in fate can point to the example of the big elm tree crashing to the ground at the corner of East Merrimack and Willow street late yesterday afternoon, and show there is something in it after all for this is a spot where auto, pedestrian and trolley traffic is constantly passing in large volume all day long yet the venerable elm, although tying up car traffic for two hours, fell at a time when man or vehicle fortunately was not in its path.

This elm is but one of many beautiful shade and ornamental trees adorning East Merrimack street. Passersby believed it was as staunch as any of its neighbors. Examination by park department workers after the crash yesterday showed that in spite of the fact that it supported a luxuriant foliage and looked healthy, it was supported by a small segment of live, strong wood, the rest of the trunk being punky dry rot. It was on this account that the slight breeze of yesterday afternoon caused it to crash.

Street railway employees and city employees came quickly to the scene where the tree had fallen directly across East Merrimack street and with saws and axes quickly disintegrated it and restored the thoroughfare. The tree in its fall crashed squarely across the trolley feed wire and while police officers established a danger zone permitting no person to go near the rail, street railway electricians got busy.

Many expressions of regret were heard at the death of this old tree which in its humble way has been a friend to Lowell people such a long time.

A tin pail on the gravel near Corbett Tralmer's house at Palms, Mich., reflected the sun's rays against the house. The wood presently began to smoke and then there was a blaze.

We know that many telephone toll calls can be satisfactorily completed if the call is made for anyone at a telephone address instead of for a particular person. If it is not absolutely necessary to talk with a particular person, one can transact one's business, in most instances, if communication is established with an office or residence.

If YOU can make your TOLL calls this way, the rate will be about 25 per cent less.

Quicker service will be obtained if you call the telephone number desired. If you do not know the number, the toll operator will get it for you.

DISCUSSING THE TREATY

With strikes frequent all over the country and discontent brewing even where there are no strikes, it is high time that congress should get down to business on the work of reconstruction. So far as this nation is concerned, we are still at war with Germany. True, the fighting has ceased but there is hope of a settlement before next year. The republicans apparently have given up the idea of making the treaty a campaign issue in the national election of 1920. There is a feeling springing up in the senate that this is a rather dangerous question with which to play politics.

No documentary steps have been taken to declare that the state of war no longer exists. The treaty is before the senate and there is no telling when it will be disposed of either by adoption or rejection. The senate, however, seems to be making progress towards a solution so that Borah, Knox, Brandegee and Sherman are apparently beginning to realize that there are issues involved of which they had no conception when they took their stand relative to the treaty and the covenant.

The Shantung affair is one obstacle and the rejection of the treaty on that account might lead to trouble with Japan which may be the next to precipitate a world war. Her military ambitions seem uppermost and her efforts to get into China are indicative of what she intends to do in the future. She is now in alliance with England, but may soon be in league with Germany or even with Russia should the Bolshevik clouds pass away.

To balk on the treaty because of the Shantung affair would be to assume responsibility for enforcing fair play against a nation that has set out to exploit China. Such a course would isolate the United States as against the rest of the world, or at least against the powers that are willing to concede anything to retain the friendship of Japan.

The treaty is likely to be adopted with reservations and one of the most important reservations that can be made is that no provision of the treaty will be construed to set any barrier to the march of a nation towards complete independence.

Whatever the senate may do should be done quickly so that all uncertainty shall be removed as to the future and so that the business interests of the nation may receive the attention they demand.

TEACHERS HARD HIT

In all probability, no class of public employes has suffered more from the high cost of living than have our school teachers. Their salary has been fixed and although they have received an occasional increase, yet their stipend is not sufficient to meet their ordinary expenses as in past years.

The cost of room rent and of board has gone up to such an extent that in many cities teachers have been obliged to club together and run a boarding house for their own accommodation. They have furnished the house and hired a cook to prepare their meals, fixing the price of board at what it actually costs. In this way, they have been able to save a little; but they have to help in doing the housework. Nevertheless, the plan is to be commended as it furnishes an opportunity for the teachers to enjoy a degree of freedom and seclusion that no ordinary boarding house would afford.

Young teachers who go from the Normal school to spend their probationary period in country schools find difficulty in securing room and board at reasonable rates. In some cases what they earn is not sufficient to pay their expenses, while in others they cannot get a decent boarding house at any price. This is one of the most trying expe-

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Various plans of co-operation are being devised by employers throughout this country to hold employees at work long enough to become valuable to their employer and thus be able to earn more for themselves. In one it is insurance, in another a plan of saving, and in a third an interest in the business.

A western manufacturing concern has announced that it will advance dollar for dollar of savings by its employees. If a $3000 mechanic can save $300, the company doubles that amount, the only condition being that the employee remains five years in the company's service at the end of which the bonus will be paid. This plan attracts the most efficient and reliable workers; it removes the necessity of constantly breaking in new hands; it spreads contentment like a healing balm over the entire institution, and it protects the families of the workmen from the sudden reverses of sickness or death, that, until recently, have terrorized the toilers.

The worker has always responded to advances like these. The more highly paid any class of workers becomes, the more highly skilled it becomes, and the more profitable its services become to its employer. The lesson is obvious. When such relations are established between employer and employee, there will be no strikes, no discontent and nothing to block the company's prosperity.

ABOLISH THE BOARD

In view of the uselessness of the present board of arbitration and conciliation, why not abolish it or else invest it with power to do something effective? Whenever a strike of any consequence occurs, it is not the body provided by the state that is called, but a privately chosen board, while the men paid for doing the business are idle or waiting to be called.

This fiasco is too absurd to be permitted to exist any longer. Why pay a body that has fallen into disrepute and that, under present conditions, can accomplish very little good?

The Atchison Globe, dispensing a good brand of journalism from the woods of Kansas, said that while Roosevelt might be called the greatest American of his time, Wilson could be listed as the greatest European. If this were true, it would not be the first time a prophet was "never without honor save in his own country." It would not be strange if Europe believed President Wilson was her greatest benefactor. He enabled the little peoples to retain their flags and their governments secure.

Thomas Davis, speaking of Ireland, said she had "a climate soft as a mother's smile and a soil fertile as God's love." Yet Richard Croker finds the climate "unsatisfactory." So far as we have heard, the climate has not changed. Perhaps Mr. Croker has, or perhaps he feels that troublous times are ahead in Ireland and that it is better for a man who does not care, to get out. This is a time when men like Croker should be counted for the old cause.

When you hear a traveling medical faker on the street corner tell you that your medical men are no good, or when you hear a pack peddler say the morebards of Lowell do not know their business, do you believe either one or the other? Yes, if you belong to the class that P. T. Barnum said liked to be humbugged. Don't be humbugged by fakers.

Chicago folks need not be surprised that President Wilson's itinerary of stops at which he would discuss the League of Nations did not include that city. The idea is probably to honor cities known in advance to be 100 per cent American and to harbor no civic sentiments of a kind to nourish anarchists.

The best treat we believe any American boy can possibly enjoy in the next four months, is the experience of that American boy who has been living with German relatives in Saxony for the past six years, and is now allowed to return to his father's home at Fort Bliss, Texas.

It is up to the building department to provide school accommodation as best it can within its available resources. In doing this it can show good judgment or the reverse. This is a time that calls for wise expenditure of every dollar of the city's money.

When John McCormack bought a neat Connecticut farm and paid $200,000 for it, it is not quite fair to say it "cost him a song." A series of songs would perhaps be better to use but withal very fine and sweetly sung songs!

The Boston Globe asks if there is room enough in our cellar for the winter's coal. As for cellar room, most of us are millionaires, but for coin in the purse wherewith to pay in advance, the condition is not plethoric.

Those Ozonite Boats

Kansas City citizen goes up in air because air gondolas trespass on his vacant air lot. Argues that ozone boats have no right skidding over the atmosphere above his chimney. Claims that the air over his wigwag is his property as far up as it goes, and all wind wagons should carry up the aerial street or alley on the side of his premises. Maybe in means to come land owners will have the air above their property fenced off in chicken wire. Another chance for landlords. Might set up aerial toll gates or lease their air lots, and raise the rent every couple of months for some short-weight reason, like the high cost of root, or the wear and tear of their fresh air property by the wing carts. Looks like they'll have to file down the sharp points on the stars for airplane passage in the future.

A Modern Fairy Story

Once upon a time a young married woman inserted the following want ad in a daily newspaper:

"Wanted—A cook. Must be able to get three meals a day for family of three, do all the washing and cleaning, take care of the baby, while mistress is attending bridge parties and be prepared to cook and clean for her relatives come for visits of three or four months. Cook will have one hour each week, every Thursday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock, provided mistress hasn't something better for her to do. Salary, $175 per week, all broken china ware to be taken out of wages. Apply Mrs. O. Howe Hopeful, 23 Ward-Job ad."

Ninety-seven excellent cooks, with superior references, applied for this position and from this number Mrs. Hopeful chose the best, a big Swede who was a bear for work, who was as gentle as a child with children, who adored washing, ironing and housecleaning and who could do things with food that would make a French chef take rat poison out of sheer jealousy. However, after being on the job ten days, the cook made a demand on her mistress. She claimed the work was too little and she wanted her wages reduced to 50 cents a week. Mrs. Hopeful, on the other hand, voluntarily increased the cook's wages to $15 a week and gave her two days a week off. The affair ended in a big row and the cook, rather than make trouble in the family, quit. Now, now, gentle reader, don't get excited and try to locate this cook. Just remember that this is a thoroughly modern and up-to-the-minute fairy story.

Packing

Did you ever attempt to pack a trunk and find it impossible to get things back in the place where you're certain they were before?

Trying to fit in a two-inch space a garment that takes up eight, and viewing the trunk and the whole household with a gritting, consuming hate?

Did you ever sit down to think it out and figure and measure and swear, and groaning a groan as you cursed the job?

And tore at your sweat-damp hair? O, a man who packs, though a saint he be.

Is a temperous cuss at best. When he's trying to put a coat in a trunk that is far too small for a vest.

You may hammer your thumb when you may step on a carpet tack—You may smash a rib when you're cleaning house.

And you may break your back; But physical hurts are bagatelle compared with the mental pain When you know that your shoes were in the trunk and you can't get 'em in again!

Somewhere in the asphodel meadows, Where the shades of our fathers dwell, By the other side of the Path of Joy, By the brink of the place called Hell, I think those sinners whose sins were great, Are doomed forever to pack.

Knowing that things were once in the trunk And condemned to get 'em back! —HENRY EDWARD WARNER, in the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

At one time last week it looked as though the jitney as a solution of Boston's increasingly bad transportation problem might come into its own.

The case got far enough, in fact, so that the Boston city council went to the extent of drafting municipal regulations under which it proposed to allow jitneys to operate. Apparently never before had Boston taken the jitney seriously, although many other Massachusetts cities and towns have been glad to. A friend of mine has called attention to the regulations which were brought up for action before the Boston city council and avers that in his opinion they were the best set of rules yet devised to govern commercialized motor traffic. Persons familiar with our municipal jitney regulations may be interested to compare ours with what is proposed for Boston. In Boston it is proposed to make a five-passenger car file a bond of $3500 as surety against accident. Six-passenger cars must file a $2000 bond with an increase of $500 in the bond for each passenger more than six. The jitney must pay two fees of $5 each, one to the city collector and one to the police commissioner. Some of the other regulations which struck my friend as safe, sane and sensible were as follows:

Adults riding in front seats not allowed to carry children in laps.

No intoxicated, boisterous, obnoxious, disorderly, or profane persons allowed on jitneys.

Chauffeurs can't smoke while transporting passengers.

Taps and curtains must be down after sundown to sunrise unless weather conditions make this impossible.

No passengers allowed to stand on running boards.

No sitting on dashboards, hoods, or tops of cars.

No allowed to carry passengers in excess of seats.

Must stick to route designated on license and can't turn around until terminus is reached unless emergency makes such action necessary.

Must be equipped with proper sounding horn, fire extinguisher, one serviceable spare tire, complete kit of tools, set of skid chains.

Chauffeurs can't collect fares while car is in motion and must not allow passengers to board or alight while the car is moving.

Chauffeurs must not use any drugs or intoxicating liquors.

Signs designating fare and route must be placed in conspicuous place on car.

Must report immediately all accidents.

Police have power to prosecute and revoke or suspend license for violation of laws of commonwealth.

Fine of $20 each for each offense. Positively no overcharging.

It seems to me that a lot of young fellows who hold down the really responsible job of piloting auto trucks through the city do not realize fully their responsibility. Their employers would do well just now, before anything has happened to caution the young men about speeding. One never knows when somebody is going to step out in front of the speeding truck and when a serious accident does happen it is a small consolation to the driver to know that it was really the victim's own fault for being careless enough to get maimed or killed. A little more care means a lot more safety in this case, it seems to me.

If the number of men, women and children that went through Pawtucketville Sunday carrying pails and other receptacles filled with blueberries, is to be taken as a criterion, blueberries are very plentiful this year. Of course the weather for the past few weeks has been ideal for the ripening of the tiny berries and the result is that thirty people, who know just where to go to fill their pails, are canning in abundance. I am informed that fields on the outskirts of the city are literally covered with the berries, while there is also an abundance of them on marshy land along the meadows and ponds. Mud pond near Lake Mascuppie is a favorite place with many for the picking of blueberries, while Crystal Lake at North Chelmsford is also the scene of many gatherings of berry pickers. There are also large fields of berries in Dracut street and the vicinity of Hildreth st. and across the line in Mammoth road. One of the berry pickers informed me Sunday that bakers are paying between 22 and 30 cents for good berries, while the stores are also giving good prices for them. This party, who by the way, was taking home no less than 25 quarts of berries, had spent but three hours in the fields with his wife and three children and he claims it was a real picnic for every member of the party. He said he is going back again for more, for it is the intention of his wife to can at least 50 quarts before the season is over.

Sergt. Harry Gerson, a Lowell boy with the 66th Casual Company, was scheduled to leave Germany for this country early in July and before breaking camp he took pains to write to his friends here telling of some of his 11th-hour impressions of the overseas country. His unit is made up entirely of New England boys and at the time he wrote every one of them was anxious to get started on the trip home. He tells of enjoying a 36-hour pass to Rheims and meeting Denis Sullivan, one of the K. of C. secretaries. He pays a high tribute to this organization and said that at Rheims the K. of C. tent was loaded down with all kinds of food for the soldiers. Gerson is the ordnance sergeant of his company and is well known in this city.

Two Who Betrayed German War Plans to U. S. Secret Service Reach New York

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A story of the betrayal of the German high command through the efforts of the American military secret service, and of the organization among German officers of a vendetta aimed at the lives of the traitors, was brought to light with the arrival at New York yesterday on the transport Agamemnon of "two German prisoners of war assigned to the director of military intelligence, Washington, D. According to information here, the mysterious prisoners who landed from the Agamemnon under heavy guard formerly were German officers of high rank, occupying positions of great responsibility under von Hindenburg. Before the inauguration of the American offensive in 1918, operatives of the American military intelligence corps prevailed upon them, through inducements which have not been divulged, to deliver plans of the German general staff covering the proposed movements on the western front, probable lines of retreat, points at which stands would be made and other detailed information of inestimable value.

INTIMATE VIEW OF EX-KAISER

BERLIN, Sunday, July 20. (By the Associated Press).—An intimate view of the former German emperor is given by Friedrich von Berg, who was chief of his civil cabinet, writing in the Aufrecht today. Von Berg was at Auerfrecht when the German national assembly accepted the peace treaty.

"It was a terribly melancholy and moving meeting," he wrote. "and yet it was a great joy to see the Kaiser was not a broken man. It is true his features have become sharp, but he bears his lot like a real Christian, quietly and with dignity, the fatherland's fate weighing more heavily upon him than does his own. Hours of bitterness come also, but they are over- come in calm, quiet discussion and good feeling, and over the quiet cheerfulness of an earnest man constantly reappears."

"Not one complaint was uttered when it became known the ignominious extradition clauses were accepted. There were only quiet words of comfort for the emperor, that wonderful unselfish woman, who also bears her suffering like a crown and whose health threatens to collapse under this fresh blow."

BULGARIA ACCEPTS ALLIED PRINCIPLES

NEW YORK, July 22.—Bulgaria is willing to have its problems and disputes settled by the peace conference under the principles announced by President Wilson and the allies, according to a cablegram from Constantine Stephanov, leader of the Macedonian colony in Switzerland, to H. L. Bridgman, publisher of the Brooklyn Standard Union.

Mr. Stephanov is an American citizen and professor of English literature in the University of Sofia, Bulgaria.

The cablegram sent from Bern on July 19, says: "The Bulgarian peace delegation will appear soon at Paris to plead its cause on the basis of Wilsonian and entente principles. It is

DASHES IRISH HOPES AGAIN

Lloyd George Says No Settlement Until Irishmen Get Together

Talks in Commons—Anglo-French Treaty Bill Unanimously Passed

LONDON, July 22.—At what was virtually an all night session, the house of commons today completed its consideration of both the German peace treaty and the Anglo-French convention.

The bill carrying approval of the German treaty, was considered in committee of the whole, exciting lengthy debate, in which Premier Lloyd George took an active part. The bill was then placed before the house and passed its third reading, after a motion by John Devlin to reject it as a protest against the premier's attitude towards Ireland, had been defeated 163 to 4.

Then at 3 a. m., the Anglo-French pact was taken up and the bill approving it was unanimously passed after short but sharp debate, in which the argument that the treaty was not consistent with the spirit of the League of Nations failed to find any substantial echo.

The German treaty passed through all its stages without amendment.

In concluding his speech on the treaty Premier Lloyd George, while making no claim of perfection for it, expressed confidence that any defects would be remedied by the League of Nations. Despite its imperfections, he declared, the treaty would stand as a lighthouse in the deep and a warning to nations and rulers of nations against the peril which the German empire shattered itself against.

Premier Lloyd George replied to his critics during the debate. His recent announcement that the former German emperor would be tried before a tribunal in London had created much discussion and several members, including Lord Robert Cecil, expressed doubts as to the advisability of the trial being held in London. The selection of a neutral country for this purpose, he said, it has been contended, would have been better.

The premier, in answer to this, said: "What right have we to assume that any neutral country could desire to be the scene of such a trial? The allies have sufficient evidence in this country that whoever comes here for trial will receive a trial equal to the highest traditions of the British nation, and there are none higher in the world.

"If war is to be abolished it must be treated, not as an honorable game with the prospect of personal glory, but as a crime. That is why we decided that the author of this war should be tried."

Premier Discusses Ireland

Another matter of extreme importance which came up for discussion was the Irish question and to this the premier devoted considerable time, with numerous interjections by Joseph Devlin, nationalist for Falls division of Belfast.

Sir Samuel Hoare, unionist of Chelsea warned the government that some of the unionists considered the settlement of the Irish difficulty just as urgent as did the Irish members.

The premier caused laughter by describing the Irish convention which failed to agree to his attempt to apply President Wilson's principles to Ireland.

Answering Mr. Devlin's demand for a referendum, he urged that the difficulty was that Ireland was not a nation, but three nations in race, religion and temperament and outlook—in fact, in everything representing the fundamental conditions of a nation. Until this difficulty was bridged, it was useless to talk about self-determination, and until Irishmen definitely faced this difficulty he despaired of any settlement.

Want Trade With Germany

There is a natural prejudice against trading with Germany, Sir Donald Maclean said in opening the debate, but he added that he could not see how the allies could recover an indemnity unless they traded with her. He said he regretted that the peace terms should in themselves prevent Germany from giving immediate reparation and making speedy payment of part of the indemnity.

"Unlike many of my party," Sir Donald continued, "I agree absolutely that the ex-kaiser, who was responsible for some of the grossest acts of the war and who has been rejected by his own people, should be brought to a fair and solemn trial."

Sir Donald suggested, however, that instead of the trial being held in London, it should take place in "relative obscurity in some neutral state."

After referring to the seething cauldron in the Near East, Sir Donald said "the one bright and shining hope of the whole picture is the League of Nations."

Lloyd George Gratified

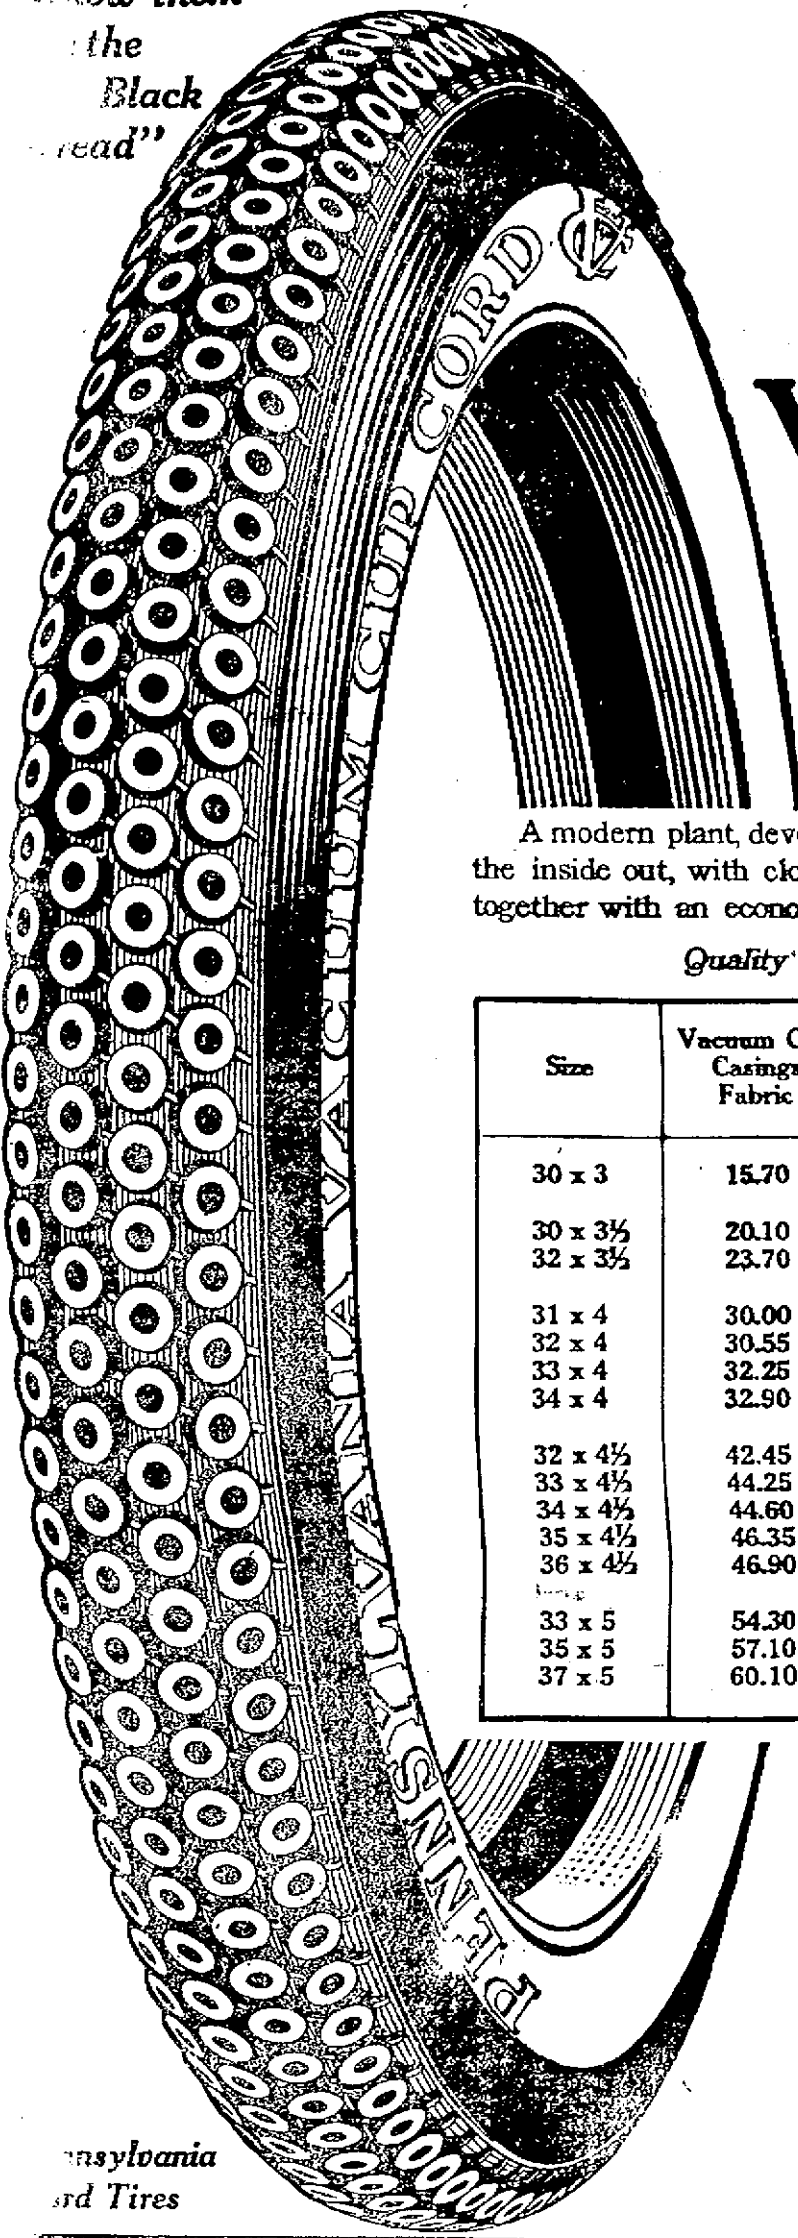

John R. Clynes, former food controller; George Nicoll Barnes, minister without portfolio; Lord Robert Cecil and other members continued the debate. Lord Robert Cecil spoke in favor of a renewal of the revision of the treaties when it became necessary and expressed doubts as to advisability of trying the ex-German emperor in London.

Premier Lloyd George, in replying, expressed gratification at the course the debate had taken and the spirit in which the treaty had been received. He believed this reflected the spirit of the great public outside.

The premier defended the Anglo-American convention with France, which he contended was no proof of France's want of confidence nor any reflection upon the League of Nations. The league was in the nature of an experiment. He considered France justified in arguing, after the experience she had gone through, that while she believes in that experiment and will do her utmost to promote its success, she thinks the league would have a better chance of establishing itself as a permanent organization if it has the British Empire and the United States behind it and its decrees are feared and respected.

that Germany had not been required to enter into binding obligations to pay the whole cost of the war, the premier gave details respecting the demands of the treaty on this subject and pointed out that the first clause was a recognition by Germany of her responsibility to defray the whole cost. But, he asked, was there the remotest chance of exacting that sum? The total cost of the allies was $30,000,000,000. The sinking fund Germany would have to provide was $1,500,000,000 yearly. How could she pay that?

"It is useless to talk about Germany's waterways," continued Lloyd George. "You can't cash waterways at the Bank of England. It is useless to talk about German soil. You can only talk about the produce you can get outside Germany and get the cash for. Germany has lost three-quarters of her iron ore, one-third of her coal deposits, between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 of her population, and all her colonies. Nobody could think that she would be able to pay $1,500,000,000 even if all these were still in her possession."

ness should be fled against them. Among them are Jack Boettner, pilot of the dirigible, who escaped by jumping with the parachute, and W. C. Young, in charge of the aeronautical department of the Goodyear Co.

Fell to Pieces of 200 Clerks

Of the 11 dead, nine were employees of the bank and two were passengers in the airship. Five persons were in the airship at the time of the accident and three escaped. When the balloon crashed through the skylight of the bank at 6 o'clock, more than 200 employees, mostly girls, were at work. The balloon with its five passengers was making its maiden trip above the city in the interest of an amusement park. A spurt of flame appeared at the stern above the engine. In a moment there was a puff of smoke and flames attacked the big egg-shaped gas bag. Almost simultaneously four parachutes leaped from the airship. Three got clear, but the fourth was caught in the falling balloon and burned. Its passenger, Carl Weaver, mechanic of Akron, Ohio, plunging to death. Earl Davenport, publicity man for the amusement park and one time a sporting writer, did not jump from the machine. His body was hurled through the bank roof and burned to a crisp.

Pilot Escapes Injury

Harry Wacker, Akron, Ohio, chief mechanic of the dirigible, came down alive. His back was broken, however. Milton G. Norton, a photographer employed on a morning newspaper, also landed, but his legs were broken. J. A. Boettner, civilian pilot, was the only one of the airship's crew to land without injury.

Five Women Killed

Five of the nine killed in the bank were women employees, three were men, and one a boy. There were but two exits in the iron cage, in the center of the bank, and as the wreckage of the balloon crashed through the skylight to the floor there was no time for the employees to escape. The tanks exploded and the interior of the bank was sprinkled with gasoline, which quickly ignited, burning the employees to death. More than 200 persons were in the bank at the time of the accident.

Pilot Describes Accident

Boettner, the pilot, who was at police headquarters today, said: "As we neared State street I felt the machine buckle and there was a tremor throughout the fuselage. I knew something had happened and saw the flames licking the bag. I shouted for all to jump, and I leaped out of the car."

Body Falls at His Feet

F. I. Cooper, assistant cashier of the bank, left his desk a few minutes before the balloon crashed through the room, to put some records away. "The body of a man, as badly burned and mangled that I could not tell at first that it was a man at all, came hurtling through the air and fell at my feet," he said. "Then there was an outburst of screaming from the railroad space, where the girls worked, and everything seemed to be a mass of flames."

The damage to the building was not more than $15,000, according to John J. Mitchell, president of the bank.

Against Flying Over City

"I don't see how we can blame anyone for this most regrettable accident," he said. "It was one of those things that no one could have foreseen or forestalled, but I do not think any flying should be done over a large city unless really necessary."

The corporation counsel today began the work of drafting an ordinance regulating the operation of aircraft above the city.

Major Clarence Maranville, chief of the army aircraft division at Akron, who witnessed the accident, has sent a report to the war department.

Making Great Speed at Time

"Deplorable as it is, I believe there is an explanation," he said. "I have my own ideas as to how the flames started, but must decline to tell as it is purely an army matter. I loaned the two La Rhone motors to the Good-year people for the experiment. These rotary motors are known to be dangerous, but I asked if the precautions had been complied with and found they had been. It was the first time the motors had been used."

"The bag was gas tight, that is it was being handled for the first time, and as there was only sand for ballast, the heat of the sun had forced the pilot to use the valve to free gas. The balloon was making great speed, I should judge about 50 miles an hour."

Seek to Strangle Treaty

Naming Senator Lodge, Chairman Hays of the republican national committee, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania and others, Senator Harrison asserted that the republican leaders had sought to embarrass President Wilson at Versailles and now were seeking to strangle the treaty for partisan purposes.

"I appeal to you," he said, "to come out from that spell of partisanship. Help us ratify this treaty. Give to the people the peace they desire."

"Do not think yourselves wiser than your masters; do not think that the wisdom of the republican party is lodged in your membership. The thousands of men and women throughout the country who have never voted anything but the republican ticket believe that this treaty should be ratified."

"Sirs, if you are to defeat it, let me appeal to you to meet the issue in the open. Do not put yourselves in the attitude of voting reservations that are meaningless or ratify it with a string tied to it, such a string that will strangle it."

Reservations urged by Chairman Hays and other republican leaders, Senator Harrison said, were unnecessary and would require reconsideration of the treaty by all the signatories and "destroy the hope of mankind for world peace."

Arouse Racial Prejudices

He charged the republican leaders with having sought to arouse racial, labor, religious, Irish and other prejudices in their partisan opposition. Their real opposition, however, he declared, was because President Wilson had a hand in making it and because they objected to the disarmament and commercial equality clauses. In this connection, he pointed out that munitions industries were important in the states of prominent senators attacking the treaty.

"No argument has been too fallacious, no illustration too far fetched," he said, "for you to seize upon in your desperate efforts to belaud the issue. They became jealous of the growing ascendancy of this man (President Wilson). He was becoming too popular, too influential. Your opposition arose simply and merely because he happened to be the spokesman and leader of another political party. I had never believed partisanship would become so acute that jealous leaders would rather see the star of their country dimmed than to witness the ascendancy of one individual simply because he was of different political faith."

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

Tried to Embarrass Wilson

"You tried by every possible means to embarrass him. No task was ever accomplished against such unfavorable odds: in a foreign country against a propaganda conceived by men in this chamber, adequately financed and consistently prosecuted, that his influence might be destroyed and his plans defeated, he won."

"And now, with the work finished and signatures of these able statesmen of the allied countries attached, you have organized the machinery of this body that their work might be undone. Bargaining has been indulged in and compromises effected that you might carry out your nefarious schemes. The erstwhile pretended progressives of the republican party buried all their differences and solidly voted for the senators from Pennsylvania (Penrose) and Wyoming (Warren) as chairmen of the finance and appropriations committees. While it appeared an awakening at the time, subsequent events and the deliberate stacking of the foreign relations committee against this treaty of peace including the League of Nations, explains everything."

Fanned Flames of Discontent

"Not content with leveling your mud batteries on the League of Nations covenant, when you failed, you continued to take issue with your representatives at Versailles on practically every important question."

Senator Harrison quoted an address by Senator Lodge supporting Italy's claim to Fiume, and continued: "When China, stirred and influenced by expressions emanating from your leaders, refused to sign the peace treaty, she received the most sincere co-operation and sympathy from you. When the representatives of America were doing everything within their power commensurate with right and justice to compromise our differences with Japan, your leaders fanned the fires of discontent and did everything to widen the breach. You are still doing it."

Act Like "Hell Hounds"

"Before Germany signed the treaty your leaders in this chamber by eloquence that sounded to German ears, showed to them opposition that was sympathetic and akin. Nothing has been left undone by you to have failure written over the conference door at Versailles. Your action is only comparable to the conduct of the never-ceasing hell hounds Milton stationed at the infernal gates."

Senator Harrison denied that Great Britain could dominate the league or that the Monroe doctrine was not safeguarded. He continued:

"The opponents have appealed to the religious prejudice of the people, saying that the papacy might control. I am a Protestant, but I denounce as unfair, unjust and infamous such arguments against the League of Nations."

"You have tried to arouse the Irish of the nation into believing that if the League of Nations is adopted Ireland's hope for self-determination is gone. You have tried to arouse their prejudice. There is nothing in that language (of article X.) that could be construed to make it obligatory upon the United States to interfere in any war between Ireland and England. We might side with Ireland."

House Adopts Prohibition Enforcement Bill With Drastic Provisions

Man's Right To Store Liquor in His Home Stands Against All Attacks

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The prohibition enforcement bill, drastic provisions and all, was adopted yesterday, section by section, by the house, but a man's right to store liquor in his home stood up against all attacks. On the final count, only three votes were recorded in favor of an amendment to make home possession of intoxicants unlawful.

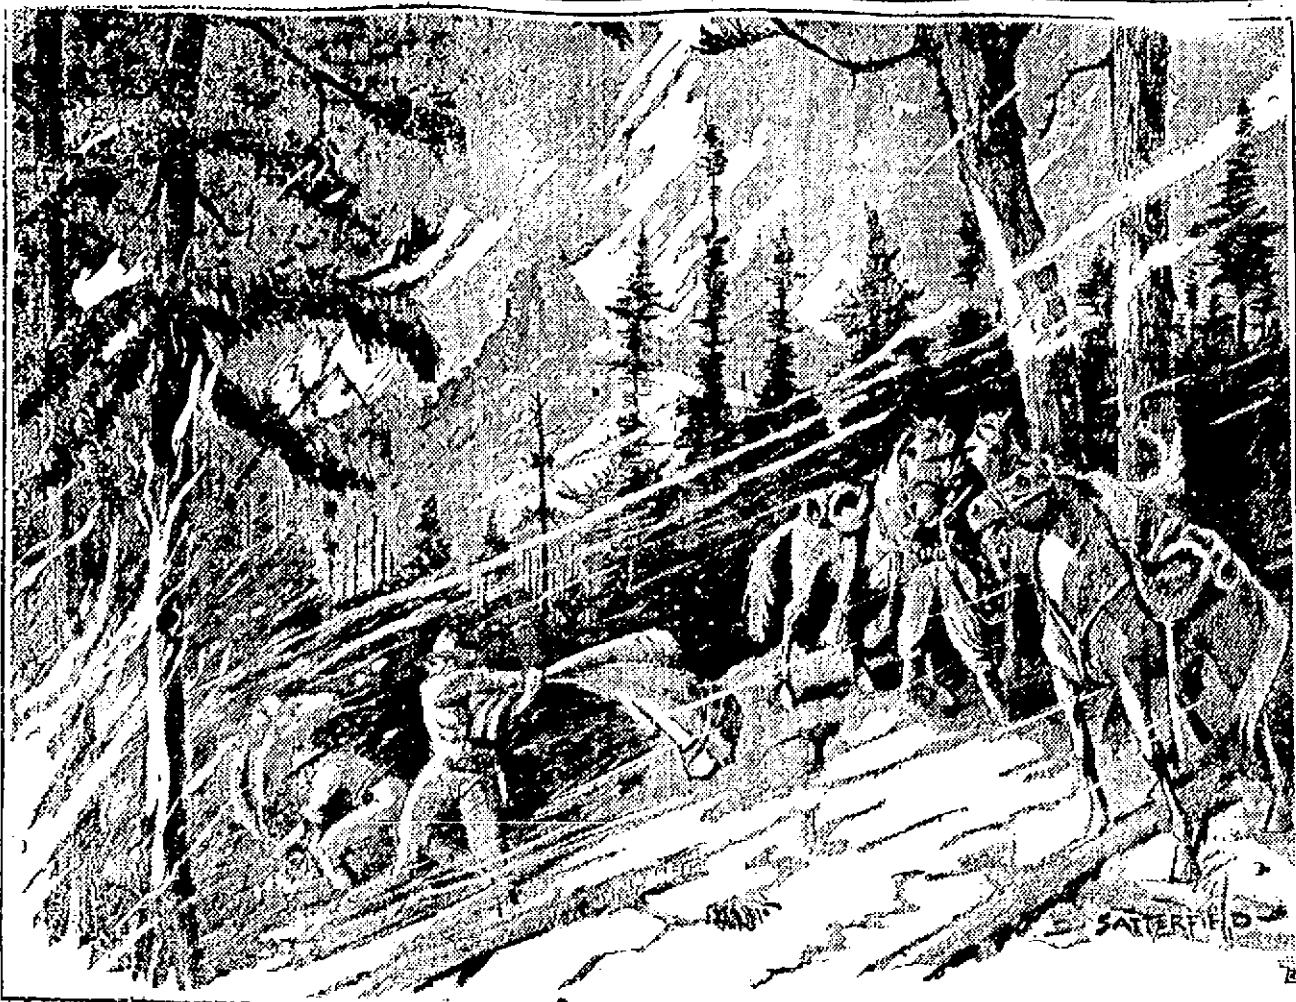

After all perfecting amendments had been adopted and others designed to make the bill less severe had been howled over in a chorus of "noes" an attempt was made to adjourn over night.

This prevailed, but there was a demand for a roll call and the prohibition forces, summoned from all sides by their leaders, piled into the chamber in sufficient numbers to keep the house in session last night for the tedious roll call vote on half a dozen amendments in dispute which had to be passed on before a vote on the bill as a whole.

Demand for a formal reading of the engrossed bill, which was not in shape for that purpose, finally forced adjournment of the house and delayed its passage until today.

Kill Plan for Requiring Bond

The first fight of the day was over the section giving the courts the right to put under bond a person convicted of violating the liquor law. This was stricken out after Representative Hard, dem., Ohio, had pointed out that it provided double punishment for the poor man, who might be sent to jail. The vote was 53 to 66, many prohibitionists opposing its retention.

When the house reached section 35 of the bill, dealing with enforcement of constitutional prohibition and which contained the provision that it was not unlawful to store liquor at home for personal use, the scene was not unlike that on a stock market on a high sales day. Everybody wanted to speak or offer an amendment, fully a score clamoring for recognition at once.

Time for Reporting Stocks

First consideration, as a matter of parliamentary right, was given Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, in charge of the bill, who had two amendments. These fixed the time for reporting possession of intoxicants. In one Mr. Volstead offered, which the house accepted, the time specified in the proclamation by the state department as to the effective date of constitutional prohibition—Jan. 16, 1920—was accepted without discussion. Representative Rubey, democrat, of Missouri got the floor after Chairman Volstead was through with the section and immediately he announced intention to throw the searchlight on American wine cellars, reported to be stocked with liquor enough to last for generations. His amendment provided that a person should not possess more than 450 worth of liquor, which a member likened to "one white chip in a steamboat poker game." The house did not take kindly to this proposal and defeated it.

Save Home Stocks

With this out of the way, Representative Baker, democrat, California, offered what the house had been waiting for—an amendment to make it unlawful to have liquor in one's own dwelling. Chairman Volstead opposed it, saying this section had been given very serious consideration by friends of prohibition. When the vote was called only three members, and all of them democrats, supported the amendment—Mr. Baker and Representatives Blanton of Texas and Upshaw of Georgia, the latter an evangelist.

This section was amended, however, so as to provide that such liquors must be for personal consumption by the owners of the dwelling or his family or bona fide guests. This restriction, put in by Representative Steele, a democrat, Pennsylvania, was aimed at the man who might turn his dwelling into a saloon.

How the Section Reads

As approved the section of the constitutional enforcement measure relating to possession of liquor follows: "Section 35. That on Feb. 1, 1920, the possession of liquors by any person not legally permitted under this title to possess liquor shall be prima facie evidence that the liquor is kept for the purpose of being sold, bartered, exchanged, given away, furnished or otherwise disposed of in violation of the provisions of this title.

"Every person legally permitted under this title to have liquor shall report to the commissioners of internal revenue within 10 days after Jan. 16, 1920, the kind and amount of intoxicating liquors in his possession. But it shall not be unlawful to possess liquors in one's private dwelling while the same is occupied and used by him only as his dwelling and such liquor must be used for the personal consumption of the owner thereof and his family residing in such dwelling and bona fide guests when entertained by him. Provided the burden of proof shall be upon the possessor to prove that the liquor was lawfully acquired and possessed."

Handling of Sacramental Wine Several amendments were adopted, those including one by Representative Igou, democrat, Missouri, making provision for the handling of sacramental wine, which the bill had failed to do.

Representative Esch, republican, Wisconsin, offered one which would require the government in picking its agents to enforce the prohibition law to give due regard to civil service rules, while Representative Siegel, republican, New York, put through one providing that men discharged from the military and naval service be given first call in making appointments.

Many amendments were defeated and some were ruled out on points of order. A fight was made against the section permitting the manufacture of beverages containing less than one-half of one percent alcohol. After the house had adopted an amendment to include any liquid such as beer, ale, porter or wine.

An amendment by Mr. Igou, which would make valid the defense of a person charged with violation of the prohibition law if he proved that such liquor or beverage was not intoxicating, was defeated 73 to 36.

URGES FRANCE TO AID IRELAND

PARIS, July 22.—John A. Murphy of the American commission on Irish independence, who is now in Paris, yesterday sent to André Tardieu of the French peace conference delegation a letter stating that the Irish-American population was now hostile to the League of Nations, but could be made friendly by a proper settlement of the Irish question.

"The silence of France and its failure to suggest or propose in any form a settlement of that question," he added, "are operating detrimentally to the old ties of friendship and affection the Irish race in America and Ireland had always shown to France."

ENACTMENT INTO LAW OF THIS BILL WOULD COST CITY OF LOWELL $15,348

A bill in which Lowell should be very much interested because of the fact that its passage would mean a loss to the city is entitled "an act to provide for the distribution of a portion of the income tax and of the income of the Massachusetts school fund, for the purpose of improving the public schools."

The bill has already been passed by the senate and was given a hearing yesterday before the ways and means committee of the house. The net loss for Lowell under the conditions set forth in the bill relative to estimated receipts and deductions for the various cities and towns would be $15,348. The bill was reported by the committee on education.

SWIMMING POOL FOR GIRLS

A committee representing the eight or more women's organizations of Lowell, which have petitioned for the inclusion of a swimming pool for girls in the auditorium, was given a hearing by the Memorial public building commission at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The committee asked for a hearing that it might further argue the desirability of such a pool and its service to many young women if installed.

Stomach is Quick to Upset When School Children Are Idle

VACATION days are days of over-eating and under-exercising for most boys and girls. They loiter around nibbling at light food, unconcerned whether the fruit is green or ripe.

The result is cramps, skin eruptions, pimples, "summer colds," constipation and diarrhea. The basis of such trouble is an upset stomach, and nothing will give faster and quicker relief than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, a formula evolved some 30 years ago by Dr. Caldwell himself. Syrup Pepsin is now used by millions of people and is today the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world.

It is the mildest and gentlest of laxatives. It regulates the stomach and bowels so well that they can soon work normally again without the aid of medicine. And unlike the harsher physics and cathartics, Syrup Pepsin does not grip or cause discomfort, even to a tiny baby.

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter the family size. A free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

DUNDEE TOO FAST

Tiplitz Is Twice Held Up by the Ropes

Johnny Dundee further proved that he has come back to stay when he defeated Joe Tiplitz of Philadelphia in Boston last night. The Scotch won fought his way back into the good graces of Boston fans last week when he beat Walker and simply solidified the process last night by outboxing the recent conqueror of George Chaney. Dundee was too fast for Tiplitz and knew too much ring stuff for him. Joe's far famed right punch was missing and although he jabbed well with his left the blows usually landed on Dundee while the latter was backing away. Twice in the 12 rounds Dundee almost had Tiplitz down, but the ropes saved the Quaker City boy on each occasion.

TWO SEASON RECORDS FOR SINGLE G

TOLEDO, O., July 22.—Single G, winner of last year's free-for-all pace, repeated the performance at the opening of the Grand Circuit races at Fort Miami park yesterday and set up two season records in the second year. The big bay horse, with C. D. Allen driving, stopped the second half of the second heat in 2:04, finishing the mile in 1:54.

Single G took the race for a purse of $2000 in straight heats.

Miss Hattie M., which established a world's record in the first heat of the free-for-all at Toledo last season, took second money after him. A Cleveland horse had made the place in the first heat, forcing the winner to step from the half to the wire in 59 1/2 seconds. Direct C. Burnett took the 212 pace in straight heats and McGreevy the great, driven by Walter Cox, took the Tecumseh stake for 214 trotters, also in three heats. Hollywood Naomi, whose owner refused $15,000 for her last week, finished third. The offer was made by Tommy Murphy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. horseman, to Dodge, the owner. The horse had been entered through the Hollywood farm, Lexington.

The Call-em

It doesn't make so much difference these days whether or not the Red Sox win but, rather, how far and high Babe Ruth's "em. He made his cycle of circuit clouts complete yesterday when he waited one of Howard Ehmke's best shoots over the right field fence at Navin field, Detroit. The home of the Tigers has been the only restricted domain for Babe up until yesterday, as he had stung homers in all seven other parks around the A. L. string and needed but a four-ply clout in Detroit to make his record complete. It was his 14th home run smash of the year and brought him signal honors for never before in the history of the field has any ball player been able to perform such a stunt. The Detroit right field fence is 325 feet from the home plate and yet the ball cleared it with several feet to spare. He was given a tremendous ovation, reports say, in fact, one of the greatest ever accorded a player, local or visiting, in the automobile city.

Lewiston Has Edge

The former Lowell club, now playing under the Lewiston banner, looks to have a very fair chance of taking first honors in the abbreviated New England league, which, according to Percy Donnelly, is going to play out its entire season here. The club is a few games stronger than Portland in the long run, due in the main to the better balance and effectiveness of its pitching staff. Clark is the big ace, but he is getting fine co-operation from Tuckey, Penfold and Scanlon.

Job too Big for Him

We have not heard one single voice upholding Referee Jack Wagner's decision of the Ahearn-Wilson fight in Lawrence Saturday afternoon. Only cooler heads prevented a wholesale attack on the referee and he was escorted from O'Sullivan park with 200 odd cat-calling fans treading on his heels. Billie Peters of the Lawrence Tribune says in part: "Fans accused Wagner of being a party to an agreement whereby Ahearn had to get a draw at least. We do not subscribe to any such sentiment. We believe Wagner to be thoroughly honest and whatever his failings are as a referee he is not crooked. The mistake was made in naming him referee. He is not competent to handle an important bout, much less a main bout, particularly where so much is at stake."

New Pitcher for Boston

The Boston American League club has obtained the services of Waite Hoyt, one of the hurling staff of the Baltimore dry docks team. Manager Sam Frock of the shipyard champions is being congratulated on the young pitcher under his wing, but he hates to part with him at a time when he is booking games with major league clubs. Hoyt joins the Red Sox in Detroit today. The New York Giants owned Hoyt and last winter released him to Rochester of the International league. Hoyt refused to consider the salary offered him by President Chapin of Rochester and accepted a position with the Baltimore semi-pros. About a month ago Rochester traded Hoyt to New Orleans for an outfielder and now Boston has bought his release from the Southern league team. He was a schoolboy phenomenon in New York when the Giants first grabbed him.

You Kill Him, Bruggy!

Frank Bruggy, Lawrence N.E. league catcher for a number of years, is credited with being an extraordinarily quick thinker. He must be. If you believe it, here is the evidence. During a close and terrific game, a couple of seasons ago, Bruggy and the umpire became embroiled over a decision at the plate. The war grew in intensity; they swung their fists in the air and called each other all sorts of acrimonious names and yowled like irritated tomcats. The left fielder came galloping in and shouted words of encouragement to the angry Frank. "Hit him, Bruggy! Hit him!" he yelled—and Bruggy turned suddenly upon him. "Hit him yourself, you big bum," yelled the backstop, "your salary is bigger than mine."

DOYLE AND MORRIS A CLASSY PAIR

Paul Doyle of New York and Johnny Morris, the Y.D. welterweight champion, who are to appear in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Crescent park on Thursday night, are a real classy pair of fighters. Both are training hard for the bout. Morris made a great record while overseas, and since returning home has appeared in but one bout, but won it easily on the K.O. route. He has hurled challenges at a number of men of his weight in and around Boston, but few are anxious to mix with him. Doyle, however, never ducked a man. He is always ready to tackle any man near his weight and while he realizes that the Y.D. champ is a clever performer, he feels confident of winning. Tony Atlin, the "iron man" and Kid Chakas of Manchester, will meet in the semi-final and this number promises to do a hummer. There will also be two good preliminaries. Mally Carney of Lowell will referee.

K. of C. To Play Pere Marquette Team—Local Semi-Pro News of Interest

The most important amateur or semi-pro game of the season is scheduled for one week from next Saturday, August 2, when Nixy Coughlin's Lowell Knights of Columbus team goes to Boston to play the Pere Marquette Council team, acknowledged state K. of C. champions. The game will be played on the M street playgrounds in South Boston and all day is being advertised all over this part of the state.

As now constituted the local Knights have one of the strongest semi-pro aggregations since the halcyon days of the old South Ends, Sanctuary Choir, Emerald and Americans. Eddie Cawley is playing third and acting as field captain and he has a number of hard working, hustling ball players pastimeing with him.

Big Series Arranged

Manager Coughlin and Manager Mitchell of the St. Peter's A.A. met last night and came to agreements whereby these two clubs will play a series of the games for the city championship. The first game will be staged on the South common next Saturday. The St. Peter's A.A. will be strengthened by the acquisition of Duke Connors and Billie formerly of Lamsons. Two K. of C. will have practically the same lineup as on last Saturday, with Scully and Mitchell doing the battery work. The Lowell Knights are expected to line the slopes of the common and the grounds will be roped off. Score cards again will be distributed. The rival managers have agreed upon Bob Hart for umpire.

B. & M. Wants Game

Jim Reynolds, manager of the B. & M. car shop team, wants to match his club again in any semi-pro team in the city at Spaulding park Saturday. The grounds have been secured and he now awaits a challenge. The Lowell players are asked to meet at the South common, handstand at 7 o'clock tonight. White, Wheeler, Gibb, McGowan, Chouinard, Schronberg, Brean, Brown, Dean, Lavole and McNabb.

BIG MAN IN BASEBALL TEN YEARS AGO

BY FRED TURBIVILLE, N.E.A. Sports Writer.

Ten years ago he won a world's series pennant. He was one of the greatest managers in major league baseball history. He has been out of the game but the picture and connect him with baseball?

Time flies and so does memory. Fred Clarke, the man referred to no longer in the baseball limelight. Once in a while some veteran writer, making comparisons between present days and the past, refers to him. Clarke has taken up the less strenuous pastime—trap shooting. He is president of the Kansas State Sportsmen's association.

Fred doesn't boast of being as good a trap shooter as he was baseball general but he does fairly well. He broke 245 birds in the state titular meet.

Clarke is a native of Winfield, Kan. He lives there now and plans to enter in the 1920 state trapshooters' tournament there this fall.

The run Clarke is shooting with today is a present from Pittsburgh fans when he retired from baseball several years ago. It is a 12-gauge single-barrel shooting extensively engraved the chief adornment being a figure of Clarke in Pittsburgh uniform, bat in hand.

Now Clarke is just plain farmer, trap shooter and oil man.

ley of the K. of C. are the class of local first sackers.

No catcher in the city has anything on the K. of C. as far as local batters. He takes advantage of their every weakness and works his pitcher accordingly.

Manager Coughlin and Capt. Eddie Carver of the Knights look upon Scully as a real find.

Watch Pare of the C.M.A.C. from now on. He is a natural hitter and pulls them to either field impartially.

Manager Rutledge of the Saco-Lowell team has a good looking outfield trio in Souza, Willett and Donohoe.

It is very seldom that two star first sackers are available for one team, but in Finnekan and Murphy the Knights have a pair of equally good men.

Ducky Wheeler still retains his curve ball and good control and that combination will win him many games this year.

Maloney of the K. of C. is a versatile player and can fill in at almost any position.

The St. Peter's A.A. and K. of C. series threatens to be a duplicate of the Emerald-South Ends clashes of years ago.

St. Peter's will have two sons of famous old-timers in the lineup Saturday—Condon, son of Jack and Duke Connors, son of the late Bills.

Boot Mills Wins

The Boot Mills team defeated the Segamores Saturday afternoon at noon at Shedd Park by the score of 5 to 3. Cox and Riley were the winning battery. The Boot Mills would like a game for next Saturday with any one of the following local clubs: St. Peter's, Matthews, K. of C. Saco-Lowell, C.M.A.C. or B. & M. car shops. To date the mill boys have won seven games and dropped four. For games telephone J. Higginbottom, 4110 or 593-W.

BOYS RUN DOWN BY ENGINE, ONE KILLED

BOSTON, July 22.—William Hennessey, 7 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hennessey of 104 East Newton street, South End, was killed yesterday on the tracks of the Boston & Albany, between Charlesgate east and Charlesgate west, while his chum John Roach, 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Roach of 13 Sharon street, was seriously injured. The third boy in the party crossing the tracks at the time of the accident was Harold Sales, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sales of 13 Sharon street, South End, and escaped without injury.

Young Sales, who on seeing his two "pals" struck by the big engine was so frightened that he leaped the fence and ran all the way to his home, a distance of nearly two miles. When he reached his home he told his parents of what had happened and then was overcome by the shock.

The story is that the three boys jumped a freight train at the Albany street yards and stole a ride as far as the Cottage Farm bridge where they got off.

While they were walking back along the tracks a shifting engine overtook them.

Hennessey and Roach jumped to one side while Sales leaped to the opposite side. Seeing Sales on the other side the other two boys attempted to cross over in front of the engine but before they were able to the locomotive struck both boys, knocking them some distance.

Captain Goodie of Station 16 was riding near by in his automobile when the accident happened. He telephoned for the police ambulance and the two boys were hurried to the city hospital. At the hospital it was found that Hennessey was dead. The doctors found Roach to be suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, lacerated scalp wound, fracture of the left jaw and left arm and multiple abrasions and contusions of the body.

firing indiscriminately into the street.

Four Negro Men Killed

Detective Bernard W. Thompson was seriously wounded by a negro in the same section of the city. Four negro men were killed and several others were fatally wounded. Three patrolmen were badly wounded.

Although two troops of cavalry from Fort Meyer had been called out to patrol the streets and four hundred marines from Quantico and the Washington Marine barracks had been added to the provost guard, the situation at times was more than the authorities could cope with.

45 Riot Calls in One Precinct

Reserve squads of police and provost guards were rushed through the streets of the city all night in answer to riot calls. Army motor trucks were stationed at precinct headquarters with a squad of men armed with automatic rifles, assigned to each. More than 45 riot calls were turned in at one precinct alone between 7 and 1 o'clock.

While in the minor disorders of Saturday and Sunday night crowds of white men assumed an aggressive last night's rioting was marked by a general preparedness on the part of the negroes who during the day purchased hundreds of revolvers.

Expert Shot Is Attacked

Early in the evening they formed crowds and attacked white men wherever found. The first casualty occurred when Patrolman J. C. Bunn, who was attempting to place a negro under arrest, was shot in the shoulder. He is the best shot on the local police force.

Soon afterward a negro, riding on the back platform of a street car, opened fire with a revolver on a crowd of white men, women and children, wounding four, two seriously, before he was himself killed by seven bullets fired by an officer who boarded the car close to him. Although each bullet took effect, the negro was not fatally injured.

Marine Shoots Negro

Later in another locality, a negro, who flourished a revolver in an attempt to hold up a street car, was killed by a marine using the butt end of his gun and was fatally shot when he got up and attempted to escape. Two negroes were later shot in the northwest section of the city, one after he had shot and seriously wounded two white men.

Marine Shot in Neck

One of the most seriously wounded was Private Albert Luck, Marine corps, who was shot in the neck by a negro near the treasury building. An unidentified cavalry man was shot from his horse while patrolling the street. A marine sergeant was shot in the neck by a negro, and Patrolman Herman Glassman was wounded in the leg by negroes speeding by in an automobile.

Late in the night negroes raced about in automobiles pumping bullets from revolvers at all whites within range.

White Woman Assaulted

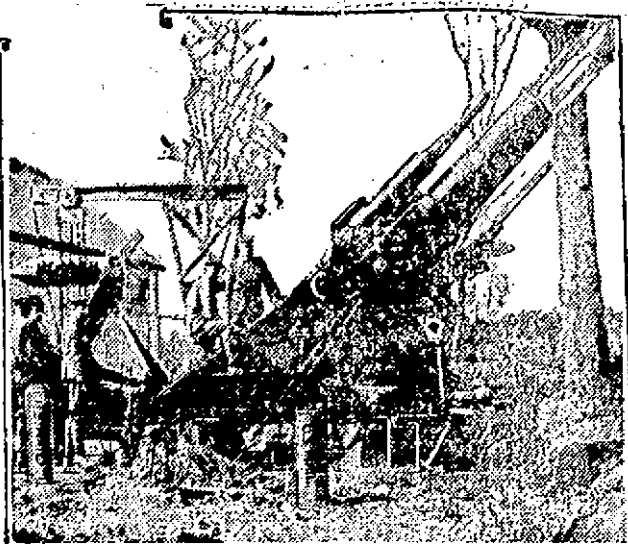

The first police report of the day told of another white woman assaulted and injured by a negro at Capitol Heights, a suburb. The negro, who had loitered about the woman's house all yesterday, was first scared away, and then biding behind a hedge, seized her as she passed by late last night. The woman was practically disrobed in her struggle with her assailant who escaped after she had scratched and bitten him badly.

This was the seventh attack on white women by negro men in and near the District of Columbia within two weeks.

Six Shot at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va., July 22.—Six persons were shot during a clash between whites and blacks in the negro sections of the city last night. Four of the wounded are negroes, of which two are expected to die. The other two wounded are officers.

The trouble started when the policemen attempted to arrest negroes fighting among themselves.

BIG CHIEF TELLS

How "Many Bear" Made
His Spear

This is the third in a series of talks by Chief Tahana to Lowell boys. These talks appear exclusively in The Sun.

BY CHIEF TAHANA

OF KLOWA INDIAN TRIBE

Boys, when you ask me to tell you how to make a spear, it takes me on the back trail of memory to the time when I was a boy. I lived away out on the western plains then, and was what you might call a savage Indian. There were great men in our tribe in those days. One of them was a young chief by the name of Many Bears. He had a wonderful spear or lance. It was called a medicine spear. That is to say, a kind of spirit, or magic power belonged to it; so the warriors believed.

The spear was shaped like an arrow, with feathers on one end, and the point of it was the point of a soldier's sword captured in battle. When the chief went on the war path he always carried that spear; for he believed that the power that belonged to it would help him to defeat his enemies. Before Many Bears went into his last fight he fixed his spear to his body by a long buck-skin sash; and when he saw that his warriors were outnumbered and about to retreat, he rode out in front of them, dismounted, and thrust his spear into the ground. "I will never pull this spear out of the ground unless we win this battle," shouted Many Bears to his warriors. "Here I shall win or die."

It was left for one of his warriors to pull that spear out of the ground; for beside it the brave young chief fell fighting for his country, hounded by his sense of honor to his duty by a stronger tie than the buckskin sash which bound him to his lance. But pardon me, boys, I was going to tell you how to make a spear which you could use when you go out into the woods. Well, as I have said, a spear or lance is made of a good deal of arrow; but it is longer and larger. Get a pole as long as you are tall, half the size of your wrist, straight, with as few limbs on it as possible. Trim it and peel the bark off. Now take it in your hand—just a little nearer the biggest end than the middle, and see how it will balance. You can make it do that by whittling off the big end, or by moving your hand back on it a little—of course you must trim off the butt end to a point so that it will throw it in the ground when you throw it pretty hard.

Now they are putting in time shifts at the community kitchens learning how to cooperate with boards of health, and boards of trade, to keep homes and cities sanitary, to conserve food production, manufacture and transportation for the community."

CURRENT NEWS

ABOUT CURRANTS

BY BIDDY BYE.

Currants are ripe in backyard gardens and on the market stalls.

The price is high this year, but the temptation to make just a little currant jelly for use with meats and salads is still strong, and for those who have a currant crop of their own, or boast a full purse, here are some proper currant recipes:

Currant Raisin Jam

Wash and seed 1 pound of large raisins and put in a preserving kettle. To the raisins add 3 pints of currant juice made from stewing red and white currants together. To the fruit juices add 3 pounds of granulated sugar, mix all well, and boil slowly. Cook the fruits until the mixture is thick and smooth, skimming it often. Cool, pack in sterilized glasses and seal.

Gooseberry and Red Currant Jam

Wash, stem and stew red currants enough to produce 2 cupsful of juice. To the currant juice allow 1 pound of stemmed gooseberries and 3 pounds of sugar. Make a syrup of dissolving the sugar in the currant juice, add the gooseberries, and simmer slowly for 10 minutes until the berries look clear. Pack in sterile pint glass jars and seal.

Red Currant Jelly

Pick red currants, stem and wash, and cook in a double boiler until well scalded, then boil for an hour over a moderate fire. Pour the cooked fruit into a clean jelly bag and let drip overnight. Next day put the strained juice in a preserving kettle and boil for 10 minutes. Lower the fire and skim. Return to a boiling point, and as soon as it boils add the heated sugar, allowing 1 pound of sugar for each pint of juice. The mixture should jelly within 5 minutes. Put in sterile glasses, seal and let stand in hot sunshine for several days.

Dried Currants

Pick ripe currants, stem and without crushing, stew gently in a little sugar. Spread the cooked currants on platters, sprinkle thickly with granulated sugar and dry in the sun. Serve as a confection with desserts.

Spiced Currants

To 3 pounds of ripe currants, washed and stemmed, measure 3 pounds of sugar, 1 pint of pure cider vinegar, and 1 tablespoonful each of whole cloves, cinnamon, ginger and allspice. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt. Simmer the mixture slowly for 3 hours, then bottle while hot and seal.

Liquor Dealers Panicky

Massachusetts where whiskey was being boldly and openly sold over the bar minus any camouflage whatever.

It has not been a case of belonging to a new order with an accompanying pans word in order to get the strong drink either. The token necessary to present was merely United States currency of the necessary amount. Patrons still having a kindly feeling towards the saloon keepers insist that in spite of the fact that the saloon keepers and their bartenders were, figuratively speaking, flirting with the possibility of reading their ball scores in the atmosphere of Atlanta federal prison, no profiteering was indulged in and the booze was of a fair quality.

The panic among drink purveyors has been due to the fact that they believe that the advance agents of the internal revenue crowd, were undoubtedly sick detectives who have been in the city a number of days filling their pitchers or the saloon equivalent thereof, at different refreshment places in this Essex county oasis, and have not only bought the drinks with marked bills but have succeeded in growing chummy enough with different bartenders to learn the name of the man who sold the booze. It was expected this forenoon that at least one and probably several arrests for violating the national liquor laws, would take place.

Lawrence Veritable Oasis

Lawrence has been the oasis in the desert for Lowellites as well as others for the last few weeks and there has been something incongruous in the situation, too, inasmuch as Lawrence dealers were buying beer at the brewery in Lowell. The Lowell men coming to Lawrence for their beer constituted a case of going to a neighbor's to buy something made in your own home, but that you could not buy at home. But the answer to it all is that the Lawrence liquor dealers took a chance that the Lowell men in the same business did not care to take.

A. PAUL KEITH LEFT $3,870,765 ESTATE

BOSTON, July 22.—A. Paul Keith personally invested $217,500 in Liberty bonds, aside from those bought by him as president of various theatrical companies, according to the inventory of his estate, filed by the special administrator, John P. Gorman, yesterday.

The inventory shows Mr. Keith's personal estate was $2,863,511 and his real estate $1,207,251, a total of $3,870,762. This does not include his holdings in real estate outside of Massachusetts, which are understood to be much larger than his holdings in this state.

There were miscellaneous stocks and bonds amounting to $577,324.54, and the balance was almost exclusively invested in his business.

NO LIQUOR LICENSES TAKEN OUT HERE

Although the license commissioners stood ready and willing today to grant 17 of the first, second and fourth class liquor licenses which were applied for by Lowell liquor dealers recently and which have now been advertised for the necessary 10-day period required by law, none of the 17 dealers had applied up to noon today for the grants which would allow them to open their doors again for the sale of beer subject to federal regulations.

This bears out the prediction made in The Sun yesterday that local liquor men—nearly all of whom have applied for licenses at the office of the commission in the past 10 days—would not open up again until the prohibition legislation now being worked out in Washington looked more promising from their viewpoint than is now the case.

It is the belief of the liquor men that congress will soon pass the prohibition enforcement bill making it illegal to sell any beverage containing over half of one per cent "kick" and therefore they feel that they would be taking a long chance in opening at present.

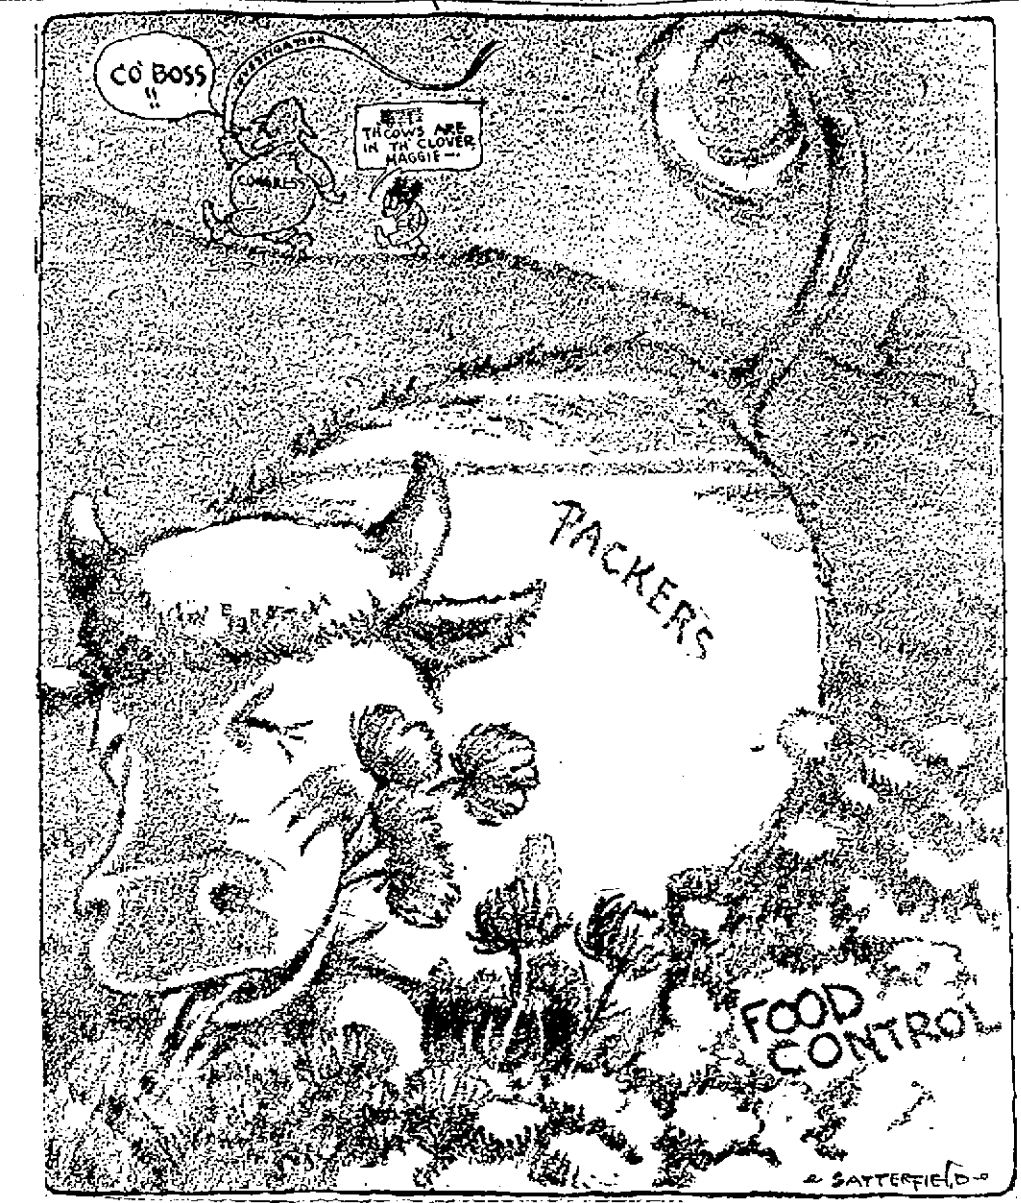

THIEF WAS VERY FOND OF BOOKS

Perhaps if arrested the thief, who a few days ago broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson J. Lebrun at 192 Pawtucket street, will tell the court that it was for the purpose of broadening his education that he entered the house, for he took along with him a valuable encyclopedia and several other books. The intruder also incidentally got away with a small amount in change, but he did not bother with other articles of value that were in the house, such as jewelry and silverware.

The break in the Lebrun home was committed while Mr. and Mrs. Lebrun were enjoying their vacation at the beach. According to neighbors the intruder paid two visits to the house and gained an entrance by picking the lock with either a skeleton key or a small file and in each instance his visit was during the night. The neighbors also claim that the thief used a flashlight to find his way through the various apartments.

The police were not notified and there was nothing said about the break until Mr. and Mrs. Lebrun returned from the seashore, and both were alarmed when upon entering their home they found everything turned upside down, the house having been ransacked from cellar to attic. They immediately notified the police, but as yet no arrest has been made.

THE MILK SITUATION
There is practically nothing new in the milk situation in Lowell, that is the producers are selling to the dealers at an advanced price, while the dealers are retailing at the old price. It was expected that there would be a meeting of the dealers last evening, but it was learned this morning that this has been postponed until Friday evening at which time definite action will be taken. It is not known just what the result of the meeting will be for it is understood that some of the dealers are in favor of increasing the price of milk at once, while others, even though they are selling at a loss, prefer that no action be taken until the first of next month.

ON THE TRAIL

COAL PROPAGANDA TO FRIGHTEN PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, July 22.—"Bituminous coal operators are conducting a nation-wide propaganda to frighten the people into buying coal at the present prices," Representative Hudson, democrat, of Alabama, declared yesterday before the house rules committee which is considering a resolution proposing congressional investigation of the coal situation. Lack of domestic demand for coal, he said, was due to "extortionate" prices. The committee reserved decision on the resolution.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Because he got married a few days ago, the case against young William J. Milnes, charged with being a stubborn child, was placed on file by Judge Fisher in police court today. William's mother testified that he had been very backward in coming through with his share of funds with which to keep the wolf from the door, hence the complaint for stubbornness. Now, she said, he has taken into himself a wife, but this has not caused him to loosen up any more than in the past. Judge Fisher allowed that she was entitled to some help from her son, and recommended that she talk things over with the clerk with reference to making out a new complaint against the youthful head-belt.

Other offenders
Another young man, William Brown, was charged with stealing newspapers from the stand in front of the waiting room at Merrimack square, and the case continued until Friday, when it will be tried in the juvenile session.
The one lone offender who graced the dock this morning, Thomas Carroll, of Woodstock, N. H., was given one week to get out of town under a suspended sentence of a month in jail. Thomas admitted being drunk, but avowed that it would never happen again if the court would give him another chance. Where Thomas got the wherewithal to tank up he absolutely refused to divulge.

A pig entered in the Bucks county Penn. Farm Bureau pig club contest has gained 51 pounds in a month, and two other pigs have gained 45 pounds each. At a meeting of the Warrington Pig club it was reported that the average gain for the month is 33.5 pounds. The Warrington club is but one of the many boys' and girls' pig clubs in Bucks county.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Proprietors of New York seaside resorts declared yesterday that if it does not stop raining soon they will be ruined. The block is fully rented to six first class tenants, some of whom have occupied the same premises for periods extending from seven to 15 years. There are four tenements rented for $3 per month each, and two tenements rented for $10 per month each, making a total rental of $52 per month or $624 per year. The lot has an area of about 7500 sq. ft. more or less, with a frontage of about 90 feet more or less. This parcel makes an attractive investment property and can be made to yield a much greater revenue.
Terms on this parcel: $500 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as struck off.

THE SECOND PARCEL
At Nos. 40 and 42 Chambers street. A full two and one-half story two-tenement house, containing 10 rooms, gas, water, sewer, etc., to each tenement. The building is in first class condition inside and out, has separate front and rear entrances, is fenced front and side, has splendid open yard room in rear, closets for each tenant, the cellar is well posted, dry and divided. The lot has a frontage of about 60 feet more or less, and a total area of about 5200 feet, more or less. The premises are currently rented to two first class tenants, one of whom has occupied the same premises for the past 13 years, and they pay as a rental the sum of $14 per month each, or $36 per month, $336 per year. This parcel would make a splendid home and investment combined, as the owner could live in one tenement and rent the other.
Terms: $350.00 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off.
This sale is of unusual importance, and should strongly appeal to all classes interested in real estate, both for the investor and home seeker; first an exceptionally attractive investment property, one with a splendid record for a continued rental, a property in first class condition, and one that can be made to pay a large net return on the amount invested. Secondly, an opportunity to buy an entirely separate two-tenement house, also in A-1 repair, to have one tenement for your own use, rent the other and the income received will help pay the running expenses of both. The properties are situated in a convenient neighborhood, within about 300 feet of Corham street, close to many of Lowell's largest manufacturing industries, within comfortable walking distance to the very center of the city, and both are to be sold to the one that will bid the most.
WAMESIT POWER CO.

CENTRALVILLE, LOWELL, MASS.
THE OWNER OF THE FIVE SEPARATE, FULL SIZED AND MODERN COTTAGE HOUSES AT NOS. 200, 206, 208, 210, 212 AND 214 COBURN STREET, NEXT HILDRETH STREET, HAS DECIDED TO MAKE SALE, AND THEREFORE HAS INSTRUCTED THE AUCTIONEER TO SELL AT ABSOLUTE PUBLIC SALE, THE VARIOUS PARCELS OF THEIR RESPECTIVE PREMISES ON SATURDAY, THE TWENTY-SIXTH DAY OF JULY, 1919, COMMENCING PROMPTLY AT 2:30 O'CLOCK P. M. WITH THE DWELLING NUMBERED 200 COBURN STREET, AND FOLLOWING IMMEDIATELY WITH COTTAGE NUMBERED 206 AND NOS. 208, 210, 212, 214 TO BE SOLD IN THE ORDER NAMED.

COTTAGE NO. 200 COBURN STREET
This house has seven rooms, also bath, pantry, open plumbing, hot and cold water, sewer, gas and city water and is in first-class repair. The lot has an area of about 3200 square feet, with a frontage of about 40 feet, thus affording a single lot of a good sized garden. The cottage is at present rented to a tenant who has occupied the premises for a long period at a rental of $17 per month or $204 per year, which is admittedly a very low rental for the cottage of this type.

COTTAGE NO. 206 COBURN STREET
Has seven rooms besides bath room, pantry, open plumbing, is piped for hot and cold water, has sewer, city water, gas, etc., and is in A-1 condition both inside and out, has large and light and airy cellar, and is on a lot of about 2700 square feet with a frontage on the street of about 45 feet. It is rented for $17 a month or $204 a year.

COTTAGE NO. 208 COBURN STREET
This cottage has seven rooms, bath room, pantry, and open plumbing, is piped for hot and cold water, has gas, sewer and city water, is in excellent condition both inside and out, the cellar is high, dry and airy. The lot has an area of about 1738 square feet, with frontage of about 35 feet. It has a large piazza in the front of the house, and is rented for $17 a month or $204 a year.

COTTAGE NO. 210 COBURN STREET
This property comprises a 6-room house, with bath, pantry, open plumbing, and is piped for hot and cold water, the cellar is very well lighted and is dry and airy. It also has gas, sewer, and city water. The property is in first-class condition inside and out, and is on a lot of about 2032 square feet, with a frontage of about 37 feet. It has a good sized piazza in the front of the house, and is now renting for $17 a month or $204 a year.

COTTAGE NO. 212-214 COBURN STREET
This house is situated on the corner of Coburn and Hildreth streets, has 5 rooms, also bath room, open plumbing, pantry, gas, sewer and city water, all in very fine repair, the location of this cottage on a corner assures the occupant plenty of light and air. This particular property could very easily be improved, as there would be a splendid opening for a small variety store, and the fact of the premises having two doors, the one numbered 212 would make an excellent entrance, this being directly on the corner.
Terms: $350 must be paid to the auctioneer on each cottage immediately after it is struck off. Other terms as sale.
In the offering of the above described cottages at public sale, the opportunity to secure a home all by yourself, at your own price, in a hard location is now given. The various parcels have all been thoroughly renovated, within a very short period, and each is in absolutely fine repair. The location is within easy and comfortable walking distance to Merrimack Square, also to the largest of the milk factories, shops, etc. With the great scarcity of tenements, and with the large number of people of moderate means looking to buy a home, and with the very few parcels, suitable for sale, this chance to get a home in this, an essentially home locality, and have it all by itself, is a most desirable one. It is fenced between the dividing line. Should be taken and acted upon by the many many numbers of home-seekers. In all probability, a most liberal mortgage can be arranged on each house. The various properties may be seen at any time before the sale by calling at the office of the auctioneer.

Dry Enforcement Bill Called Drastic Enough to Invite Veto Passed By House

STORMY DEBATE ON DRY BILL

Prohibition Enforcement Measure Was Passed by the House Today

Measure Now Goes to the Senate—May Be Put Over
—Text of Bill

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The prohibition enforcement bill, described by members opposing it as drastic enough to invite a presidential veto, was passed today by the house.

The vote was taken after a motion by Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri, to recommit the bill, had been defeated 235 to 136. Nearly every member of the house was in attendance and there was so much noise during the roll call that Republican Leader Mondell was recorded as supporting the Igoe motion. He was permitted to change his vote.

The vote on the passage of the bill was 237 to 101, with three members voting present.

The measure now goes to the senate, but house managers of the measure do not expect it will be accepted there as a whole.

Senate leaders were doubtful whether the bill could be brought before the senate until the German peace treaty had been disposed of, involving a delay of many weeks.

The prohibition enforcement bill, as it passed the house, provides:

After January 26, 1920:
Every person permitted under the law to have liquor in his possession shall report the quantity and kind to the commissioners of internal revenue. (This applies to chemists, physicians, etc.)

After February 1, 1920:
The possession of any liquor, other than as authorized by the law, shall be prima facie evidence that it is being kept for sale or otherwise in violation of the law.

It will not be required, however, to report and it will not be illegal to have in one's possession, liquor in a private dwelling while the same is occupied and used by the possessor as his private dwelling and the liquor used for personal consumption by the owner, his family or his guests.

The possessor of such liquors, however, bears the burden of proof that the liquor was acquired and is possessed lawfully.

Intoxicating liquor is defined as a beverage containing more than one-half per cent. of alcohol.

Any house, boat, vehicle or other place where liquor is manufactured or sold, is declared a nuisance.

No person shall manufacture, sell, barter, give away, transport, export, deliver, furnish or receive any intoxicating liquor.

Liquor for non-beverage purposes and wine for sacramental use may be sold under specified regulations.

Denatured alcohol, medicinal preparations (including patent) medicines unfit for beverage purposes, toilet articles, flavoring extracts and vinegar are exempted.

Registered physicians are authorized to issue prescriptions under strict regulations for the use of liquor in cases where it may be considered necessary as a medicine.

Liquor advertisements of all kinds are prohibited.

Sale, manufacture or distribution of compounds intended for use in the unlawful manufacture of liquor is prohibited, together with sale or publication of recipes for home manufacture.

MURDER OF 50 AMERICANS

Ambassador Fletcher Declares
Mexico Has Failed To Prosecute Slayers

Says Withdrawal of Recognition of Carranza Would Increase Turmoil

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico, told the house rules committee today that since his appointment three years ago about 50 Americans had been killed in Mexico without a single prosecution being made by the Mexican authorities.

Replying to questions by Chairman Campbell, Ambassador Fletcher said withdrawal of recognition of the Carranza government by the United States would only increase the turmoil in the southern republic. He added that he did not know of any revolutionary leader capable of establishing a permanent government.

Ambassador Fletcher said he had not noticed any special anti-American feeling in Mexico and explained that the presence of more American citizens there than other foreigners probably accounted for the greater number of outrages affecting Americans.

The ambassador was summoned before the committee in connection with a resolution introduced by Representative Goud, republican, New York, proposing appointment of a joint congressional committee to investigate relations between this country and Mexico.

Mr. Fletcher repeatedly declined to express opinions upon conditions in Mexico, insisting that he furnish only facts. He also told the committee that he had no statement to make but would answer any question he could.

"Do you regard the situation in Mexico as improved in the last three years?" asked Chairman Campbell.

"Oh, yes."

"In what respect?"

"Columbus has not been raided."

When Chairman Campbell called attention to the recent murder of an American citizen and the maltreatment of his wife in Mexico, the ambassador said this did not involve relations between the United States and Mexico.

Pressed further as to improvement in conditions in Mexico, the ambassador said that among other things agencies by which the United States was better able to transact business with Mexico had been established.

"Are the murders of American citizens as numerous as they were?" asked Chairman Campbell. The ambassador replied that he would refer the committee to the list of Americans who had been killed.

"Many of these outrages," he said, were committed by bandits. These bandits have been pursued, but it was difficult to tell if they got the man who had committed the murder."

Representatives in each case, he said, had been made to the Carranza government which in turn communicated with local authorities, who failed to take action.

"And you don't recall one prosecution," asked Chairman Campbell.

"I don't at this time."

"What excuse has been given in official circles for lack of arrests and prosecution?"

"They usually explained that the murder had been committed by bandits and that every effort would be made to run down the bandits."

LAWRENCE, July 22.—A number of this city's saloon keepers are said to have become paralyzed with fear today as the result of the sudden and quiet descent on this city last night of a group of internal revenue officers in search of drink sellers suspected of violating the national prohibition law.

It has been an open secret for nearly a week here that some of the saloons were not only selling the so-called 2 3/4 per cent. beer, but when the patron wanted a more punchy potion he got it and could get it in the form of whiskey. Lawrence is supposed to have been practically the only city in the state to do this.

SEN. McNARY DEFENDS LEAGUE

Republican Urges Senate To Accept Covenant Without Any Reservations

Declares Article 10 the "Pillar Section" of the League of Nations

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator McNary, republican, of Oregon, urged in the senate today, that the League of Nations be accepted without any such amendments or reservations as "would alter the splendid purposes of the covenant or weaken it so far as it affects our duties."

Article 10 "Pillar Section"

The senate, he said, could without harm adopt certain "reservations" in the form of interpretations, but should not endanger the covenant by making reservations that would vitally affect important features. Article 10, he said, must be unimpaired because it was the "pillar section" of the league.

"Repeatedly," he said, "the argument has been advanced that Article 10 casts upon this government an absolute obligation to go to war under any conditions, however bereft of justice. This indictment, in my opinion, is untenable."

"By the force of another article in the covenant the council in arriving at a decision will be governed by unanimous vote, the power of veto standing between this country and an unwise remedy."

Moral Not Legal Obligation

"Indisputably this provision casts upon this country an undertaking to go to war to protect an associate of the league from invasion through external force, but this obligation is in no proper sense a legal one, but purely a moral obligation, entirely dependent upon the condition that the cause of the war and the war itself is violative of the moral conscience of the American people."

Senator McNary said that the supreme court had decided that by the rules of international law subjects like immigration and the tariff were exclusively within the jurisdiction of this country and that he could find no serious complaint with a policy that would annex a resolution to the treaty redefining an established doctrine of the laws of nations.

SEN. MOSES RAPS TREATY

Declares It Is Not League But Big Five to Which Treaty
Gives Responsibility

By Accepting Role, U. S.
Would Embroil Itself in Troubles in Europe

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Declaring it is not the League of Nations but the big five to which the peace treaty gives responsibility for effecting the terms of peace, Senator Moses of New Hampshire, a republican member of the foreign relations committee, told the senate today that by accepting the role of a principal power as defined in the treaty the United States would embroil itself for many years to come in the troubles of Europe. He said that while the covenant was bad enough, other provisions of the treaty were worse.

"In this treaty," he said, "are considerations of many things—of shoes and ships and sealing wax, of cabbages and kings."

City Auditor Paige Resigns; Council Elects J. Joseph Hennessy to Succeed Him

Lawyer George F. Toye, Ex-Service Man, Appointed Mayor's Private Secretary To Succeed Mr. Hennessy—Big Surprise Sprung at Today's Meeting of the Municipal Council

Charles D. Paige was a member of the old common council in 1893 and 1894, the latter year serving as president of the body. In 1900 he served as alderman. He then returned to private life only to re-appear at city hall in July, 1905, when he was elected city auditor. He has held the position continuously since that time or for 14 years. During his term of office an up-to-date and efficient system of auditing the city's books has been introduced and Mr. Paige has frequently been pointed out as one of the city's most valuable servants. He will remain in his present office until Mr. Hennessy becomes familiar with the details of the position and will go to Boston August 1. His salary as auditor is $2500. The firm to which he is going is one of the largest of its kind in New England and its president, Harry K. Noyes, is well known to Lowell people as he got his start as an automobile man in this city.

J. Joseph Hennessy has the distinction of being the first private secretary to a Lowell mayor. In 1897 he was chosen for this position under Mayor Courtney's administration. He was city solicitor in 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915 and assumed his office in January, 1918. Mr. Hennessy became his private secretary and has served in that capacity up to the present time. While city solicitor he had an opportunity to familiarize himself with the city's financial system and this experience is counted upon as an asset for his new position. He enjoys a good

Mr. Paige leaves city hall after 14 years of service as city auditor to accept a position with the Noyes-Buick Co. of Boston, a well known automobile concern. His duties will be of much the same nature as at city hall and his salary will be at least double his present compensation.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Martial law may be necessary to end race rioting here which resulted last night in the killing of five persons and injury of at least 50 others. Head of Austrian Delegation
Declares Allied Conditions
Cannot Be Fulfilled

PARIS, July 22.—Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, has declared he would "not sign engagements which he knew could not be executed," according to today's newspapers. He protested against "the unheard-of hardness of the conditions made against Austria and Germany" and added: "Let us try to submit to the entente, completely unadorned, our great distress and so obtain a peace with conditions that will be supportable for our country."

SALLY WEDS Y.D. OFFICER

McIntyre Girl and Lt. Harmon Married—Romance
Began in Toul Sector

NEW YORK, July 22.—Miss Gladys E. McIntyre, who with her sister, Irene, gained fame making doughnuts for doughboys at the Salvation Army huts in France, was married last night to Russell A. Harmon of Floyd, Va., formerly a lieutenant in Company C, 104th Regiment, 28th Division. It was announced today.

The romance began in the Toul sector where the sisters began their Salvation Army work.

The commissioner had hoped to bring the matter before the council at this morning's meeting, but it was deemed wiser to keep the matter in abeyance until the city was a little farther away from the debt limit than it is now. There are also several alterations to be made in the plans for the building as it has been decided to reduce the number of rooms from 13 to 14. The matter will probably come up at the meeting of the council, Aug. 6.

KEEPING AWAY FROM THE DEBT LIMIT

In order that the city's debt limit may not be too closely approached, there will be no more additional appropriation for the construction of an annex to the Morey grammar school until after the first of August, when the debt limit will be greater than it is now. Commissioner George E. Marchand stated after this morning's meeting of the city council.

BILL FOR RESTORATION OF LOW FARES

(Special To The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 22.—Success attended the efforts of the low trolley fare advocates in the legislature when the senate yesterday overruled an adverse committee report and passed a second reading a bill limiting the fares on all trolley roads in the state to five cents and providing that the excess in operating costs shall be assessed upon property owners.

In advocating passage of the bill, Senator John J. Walsh of Boston, its sponsor, likened the street car lines to fire departments, saying that one is as necessary to the well being of the community as the other.

"Every person who is taxed for the maintenance of a fire department may not call upon it to protect his property," he said, "but nevertheless the department is recognized as a public necessity and therefore supported by all. On the other hand trolley companies are a benefit to everybody, whether they be patronized by all or not. Few people realize they are indispensable to a class who seldom use them. I mean by that class business men who do not have to depend upon street cars to carry them personally."

"During the last four days when the transportation system between Boston and its suburbs was prostrate, how many of these men, dependent upon the trolleys for the transportation of prospective customers, would have been averse to being taxed were they assured they could avoid the losses through an uninterrupted flow of patrons. I think none."

Mr. Walsh expressed the opinion that the burden of an indispensable public utility should not fall wholly upon those compelled to use it but should be borne in part by those who are benefited by the utility, directly or indirectly.

Senator Perrin of Wellesley, senate chairman of the committee on street railways, opposed the bill on the ground that if enacted it would result in the imposition of taxes which would be prohibitively high.

"In Boston and vicinity alone," he said, "the enactment of the legislation would result in the piling up of taxes to the extent of $10,000,000 a year or more. A similarly excessive rate would follow in all other sections of the state where the law was put into effect."

On a roll call, the bill was passed to a second reading, 21 to 12. Among those senators voting in its favor were Mr. Callahan of Lawrence, Mr. McLean of Fall River, Mr. Nason of Haverhill and Mr. Halliwell of New Bedford. Senator Colburn of Dracut voted against it. HOYT.

18 MONTHS' TERM FOR BIGAMIST

PITTSFIELD, July 22.—Six months apiece for each of the three women with whom he lived, a total of 18 months in the house of correction, was the sentence given to Edward Shaw, 39 years old, of this city, a street car conductor, when he pleaded guilty to bigamy and unlawful residence with a third woman, in superior court yesterday.

Shaw had agreed to pay $100 for the support of a child of Miss Ethel Stone of Ticonderoga, N. Y., who lodged the first complaint against him, leading to the discovery that he had two wives living while he was residing here with Miss Stone as his wife.

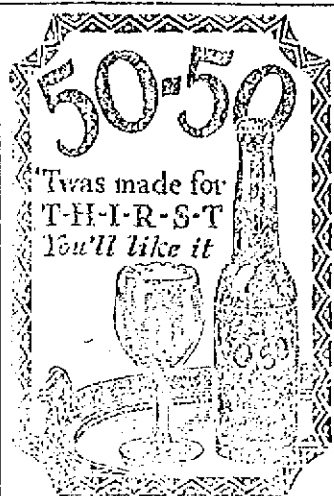

The three young women were in the court room yesterday. Miss Stone, a brunette of 22; Miss Anna Brouker, a brunette, his second wife, 20, and Miss Sylvia Bennett, 22, now divorced, a blonde Miss Brouker, clad all in white, from pumps to hat, of pronounced beauty, was called to the bench to tell her story to Judge Brown and she expressed a desire to have Shaw punished for his deception, saying she did not desire to be legally married to him. The other two women were not questioned.

Shaw has a daughter 10 years old by a former marriage. The mother is dead. Shaw lived with the three women in three different states—New York, Vermont and Massachusetts—and it was only after he had sent Miss Stone to her home in Ticonderoga and delayed marrying her, she promised that he was arrested and his marital adventures discovered.

Dry Law Defied in One Bay State City

BOSTON, July 22.—Information has reached Assistant United States Attorney Lewis Goldberg that liquor is being sold openly in certain parts of the state outside of Boston in direct violation of the present prohibition law and as a result an investigation has been started to bring the guilty parties to justice. It was learned at the federal building last night.

According to the story, which came from a reliable source, the alleged flagrant defiance of the federal statute is being carried out not only "under the eyes" of the local authorities, but the charge is made that the latter are conniving in the matter. It is this phase of the case that makes it more serious in the minds of government agents, and if the accusations are sustained there is said to be no doubt that some worthwhile fireworks will be set off in the near future.

In one Massachusetts city, Uncle Sam's prosecuting officers have been told, conditions are especially bad. The impression was gained from the government informant that in this particular municipality nothing like 25 per cent. beer is being dispensed to thirsty ones, but on the contrary hard stuff as well as real, genuine pre-war beer is going down the throats of patrons of standing.

All of which looks interesting, quote one government official yesterday. To get at the facts, whatever they are, machinery has been set in motion which may bear fruit. It is understood, too, that drug stores will be closely watched.

WELCOME FOR "ACER" BOYS

The veterans of the world war who hail from the so-called "Acer" district, in and around Broadway, will be tendered a welcome home reception in the near future by the Broadway Social and Athletic club. A public meeting to hear suggestions and make plans for the affair will be held at the club rooms next Thursday evening, Aug. 14 has been set as a tentative date for the affair.

The shadow of raven locks and shadowy eyes falls across the pink and gold beauty of the blonde! Science proves the dark type of beauty is slowly eclipsing fair maids of northern blood—a tragedy much hastened by the war. Olive Thomas, film star, is a typical blonde beauty of the vanishing type, and Elaine Hammerstein, also a film star, is a brunette beauty whose like will prevail in the future.

IT'S SURE COMING!

The Total Eclipse of the Blonde in America

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

NEW YORK, July 22.—The blondes are doomed as a result of the world war!

They will be swallowed up—racially—by the brunettes.

Real blond Americans are becoming fewer: American women are tending to a neutral type, with brown rather than golden hair, and brown eyes instead of blue. This foreshadows the triumph of the tall, dark, brunet type in America, where the old strains of northern European blood are being swallowed by the later immigration to this country. Soon a blonde beauty will be an exception, and "American beauty" will mean the Spanish, French or Italian type.

Such is the prediction, expressed in scientific language, of course, of Madison Grant, trustee of the American Museum of Natural History, and co-editor of the American Geographical society, who has made a study of the effect of the war superimposed on centuries of slow progression on the part of the brunettes, in his book, "The Passing of the Great Race," by Scribner's.

The world war, he says, has made matters worse for the blonde because it is the blonde Nordic element in all peoples that invariably makes the greatest sacrifices in war, while the less energetic brunet element emerges from each world struggle stronger in numbers than before.

Up to the middle of the 19th century the native American, Mr. Grant points out, was the almost purely Nordic. The Civil war destroyed a large part of the breeding stock of the blonde races, and the immigration since then has been largely from the Mediterranean basin and the Balkans.

Mr. Grant believes that the destruction of life of the blondes in the present war has been so immensely greater than that of the brunettes, that a great step has been taken in wiping out the blonde type.

"The world war will leave Europe much poorer in Nordic blood," he says. He points out how the blonde race has been absorbed by the brunettes all over the world, and cites the Aryan conquerors of northern India, who imposed their language and customs on the natives, but were swallowed up in the darker stream of blood.

He thinks that the same thing will happen in the United States, and that the only hope of a relatively pure type of blonde community is in northwest Canada, which because of its climate breeding stock of the blonde races, is suitable for the blonde types and unsuitable for the brunettes.

L STRIKE CAUSED

LOSS OF $360,000

BOSTON, July 22.—The cost of the strike of the carmen on the Elevated which ended at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, is now estimated by Pres. J. Henry Neal of the company as about $360,000, while the loss to the strikers themselves in wages he places in the vicinity of $160,000.

Mr. Neal predicted yesterday that the unit of fare on the road will probably remain at 19 cents for the present.

BOSTON, July 22.—An order providing that the Elevated trustees be requested to ascertain the citizenship and residence of all officers, agents and employees of the company and to dismiss any who are not United States citizens and residents of Massachusetts, was proposed in the house of representatives yesterday by Representative John I. PUT SPOTLIGHT

ON SPOONERS

NANTUCKET, July 22.—The spooners along Nantasket beach were under the spotlight Sunday night. Up and down the beach the plain clothes officers of the Metropolitan park police patrolled in search of them. Time and again the glare of light revealed the spooning "Romans and Julietts." The minute the searchlight of the police would reveal their position they would "break" and sit up, disturbed and trying to appear at ease.

Many others would not give the light a thought, but keep right on spooning under the glare until sternly ordered to cease by the officers. The police had a busy night and many happy couples were forced to bring their love-making to an abrupt ending under the orders of the law.

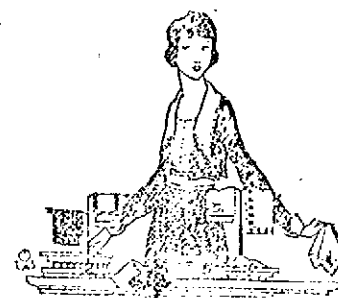

The searchlight was more or less embarrassing to the older persons who came to the beach to witness the air battle above the sandy shore. Often while watching the aviators perform, they were "spotted" by the officers, who seemed to take delight in playing with the searchlight.

When Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Leggett of Palmyra, Kan., celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary recently, all their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present. In the whole family there had not been a death in all the 55 years.

TREE FALLS IN EAST MERRIMACK STREET

Believers in fate can point to the example of the big elm tree crashing to the ground at the corner of East Merrimack and Willow street late yesterday afternoon, and show there is something in it after all for this is a spot where auto, pedestrian and trolley traffic is constantly passing in large volume all day long yet the venerable elm, although tying up car traffic for two hours, fell at a time when man or vehicle fortunately was not in its path.

This elm is but one of many beautiful shade and ornamental trees adorning East Merrimack street. Passersby believed it was as staunch as any of its neighbors. Examination by park department workers after the crash yesterday showed that in spite of the fact that it supported a luxuriant foliage and looked healthy, it was supported by a small segment of live, strong wood, the rest of the trunk being punky dry rot. It was on this account that the slight breeze of yesterday afternoon caused it to crash.

Street railway employees and city employees came quickly to the scene where the tree had fallen directly across East Merrimack street and with saws and axes quickly disintegrated it and restored the thoroughfare. The tree in its fall crashed squarely across the trolley feed wire and while police officers established a danger zone permitting no person to go near the rails, street railway electricians got busy.

Many expressions of regret were heard at the death of this old tree which in its humble way has been a friend to Lowell people such a long time.

A Call for "Anyone" Saves Time and Money

We know that many telephone toll calls can be satisfactorily completed if the call is made for anyone at a telephone address instead of for a particular person. If it is not absolutely necessary to talk with a particular person, one can transact one's business, in most instances, if communication is established with an office or residence.

IF YOU can make your TOLL calls this way, the rate will be about 25 per cent less.

Quicker service will be obtained if you call the telephone number desired. If you do not know the number, the toll operator will get it for you.

FORD STILL ON STAND

Admits Opposing Manufacture of War Munitions Prior to 1917

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 22.—You were opposed to the manufacture of war munitions prior to 1917?

asked Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson, when Henry Ford began his seventh day on the witness stand today.

"Yes, sir," responded the manufacturer, who is suing the Chicago Tribune for $1,000,000 on charge of libel.

"Prior to that there was much agitation as to furnishing food and munitions to the entire allies and floating guns, wasn't there?"

"I believe so."

"You opposed the loans and the missions which came over to arrange them?"

"I said they ought to be carried out of the country."

"You were also opposed to making trouble over the submarine outrages?"

"I don't recall that."

"Did you say that the excitement over the sinking of the Lusitania was a political bunk?"

"I don't think so."

"Didn't you say in the presence of friends that the Americans had no business to be on the ship?"

"I don't think so."

Stevenson read from a magazine article by Willis J. Abbott, in which Ford was quoted as saying that he had not been in Europe two hours on a peace mission before he realized that he had taken the wrong course and that German militarism must be crushed before there could be hope of world peace.

"I don't remember saying anything like that," said Ford.

Abbott further quoted the manufacturer as saying that he didn't see how the United States could remain neutral.

Ford testified that he did not recall that, either.

"You did talk with him?"

"Oh, yes; at the tractor plant."

"Well, what did you say?"

"I can't remember."

Testified By Own Counsel

Examination of Ford by Stevenson is concluded, and the plaintiff was represented by Alfred Lucking, his own lawyer.

Ford said that he was born of farmer parents at Dearborn, Mich., his present home.

"Did you tell John Reed, the magazine writer, that you built a $30,000 house for your gatekeeper?" asked Mr. Lucking.

"No. There is nothing but a sort of children's playhouse, about 10 feet by 12 feet."

"It was just a bit of the writer's imagination?"

"Yes."

"Mr. Reed spoke of guards about your grounds and counsel have worked us into armed guards. What have you there?"

"Only the one gatekeeper."

"And why do you keep him?"

"To keep from being overrun."

"Hundreds of people call on you in your house and you talk with them?"

"Yes."

"And is that why your memory fails to retain much that they or you said?"

"I think so."

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place this morning when Mr. James O'Brien, son of Mrs. John O'Brien, and Miss Trude LeLachur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. LeLachur, both well known young residents of North Billerica, were united in the bonds of matrimony.

The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's church by the pastor, Rev. David J. Murphy. During the mass appropriate hymns were sung by the choir, while at the offertory Miss Antoinette Alexander of this city rendered an "Ave Maria."

The communion Mr. Charles Fairburn of North Billerica sang an "O Tatarus." The bride was attired in a pink georgette trimmed with white. She wore a picture hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Trude LeLachur, a sister of the bride, wore pale blue crepe de chine and carried a picture hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The best man was a brother of the groom, Mr. Charles O'Brien.

The close of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's parents in High street, where a wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, who were the recipients of numerous gifts, left this afternoon on an automobile wedding trip through White mountains and upon their return they will make their home in High street, North Billerica. Prior to their leaving on their honeymoon the couple were serenaded by North Billerica Fife and Drum corps of which the groom is a member, and incidentally the musicians sang along a number of valuable tips for the newly married couple.

A middle-aged woman living in North Portland was married recently to her adopted son, who is some 30 years her junior.

City Auditor Paige Resigns

law practice and has an office in the Hildreth building. The office of private secretary to the mayor pays $10 per week.

George F. Toye has been practicing law for 15 years or since he attained his majority. He is one of the charter members of the Lowell World War Veterans' association which has resolved itself into a post of the American Legion and has served as temporary president of the organization.

At the time of the Mexican border trouble a few years ago he enlisted in Co. G of the old Sixth regiment and saw service with that unit in the south. When the United States entered the world war he was called out on March 30, 1917, with the other members of his company and saw preliminary service in New Hampshire.

When the old Sixth was skeletonized a few months later at Westfield he was sent to Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina, and became attached to the Fourth Pioneer. He had held every non-commissioned office in the regiment up to this time and at Camp Wadsworth was appointed second lieutenant. When the pioneers went overseas, Lieut. Toye was with them and upon his arrival in France was transferred to the 77th New York City Division and served with the 20th Infantry at the battle of the Argonne.

He returned to Lowell May 10 and since then has taken an active part in the organization of the local veterans' association.

Mr. Hennessy was elected to the position of auditor by the votes of Mayor Thompson and Commissioners Donnelly, Marchand and Morse. Commissioner Murphy voted for Daniel L. Martin. Only one vote was taken. Mr. Toye was appointed by Mayor Thompson.

The only other development of interest at this morning's meeting was the passage of an order to borrow $25,000 for street macadam work after nearly a month's effort on the part of Commissioner Murphy to have $75,000 borrowed for this purpose.

Meeting in Detail

Their meeting was called at 10:10 with all members present.

A hearing was held on the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for permission to erect and maintain two poles in Butterfield street to give service to a Mr. Brown at 11 Butterfield street. William O'Brien, Mrs. Katherine Conway and Mrs. Maguire registered protests, and the matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Another hearing was held on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to erect and maintain one pole in Warwick street, near B street to give service to Mr. Hest at 175 Warwick street. A letter from Margaret D. Green of 179 Warwick street, saying that she would protest if the pole were placed in front of her premises or if wires should cross her land, was read. The matter was referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Hearings were held on the petitions of the Standard Oil Co. for garage and gasoline in Canada street and Peter Nashorows, 255 Dutton street and the matters referred to Commissioner Morse.

On the petition of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for one pole in Cedar street, September 2 was set as the date for a hearing.

O. D. Sullivan, through his attorney, H. W. Sherburne, entered a claim for damage to his automobile on July 10, alleged to have been caused by depressions in Middlesex street. It was referred to the law department.

The petition of claim of Mary E. Madden for personal injury and damage to clothing was also referred.

George M. Harrigan entered a claim for compensation for damage to his automobile said to have been caused by skidding on the oiled surface of Harvard street. Referred.

The claim of Michael P. O'Connell, a patrolman of the police department for loss of wages from April 7 to July 2, amounting to $425.35, was also referred.

James E. Rudolph petitioned for a garage and gasoline license for 57 Powell street and Sept. 2 was set as the date for a hearing.

Similar action was taken on the petition of Nelson J. Pepin for gasoline at 63 Third avenue.

The petitions of Samuel Patenaude, that a sidewalk be laid in front of the premises at 29 Plymouth street, and Charles P. Kilpatrick, that Westminster street be accepted and sidewalks be laid were referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petition of A. J. Harris for a sidewalk at 32 Georgia avenue and also on the southerly side of Pembroke street and the accompanying order was adopted.

An order was passed providing for the holding of state primaries by precincts, and Commissioners Donnelly and Marchand were requested to present the council a list of polling places.

Commissioners Murphy and Marchand reported favorably on the petitions of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. for pole locations at 41 Fred street and 50 Adams street, and the accompanying orders were adopted.

The vote of the council at a recent meeting whereby Alcide A. Parent was given leave to withdraw on his petition to maintain a gasoline tank at 123 Walker street was rescinded, upon recommendation of Commissioner Morse and the council voted to grant the necessary license.

825,000 for Macadam

Commissioner Murphy then asked that his traditional $75,000 macadam loan order be brought up for discussion again, and it was so voted.

The commissioner then said that he had been requested to prepare a list of the work done with the $15,000 voted him for macadam at the beginning of the year and he read as follows:

South street $ 1,120.20
Colonial avenue 754.16
Second avenue 3,365.87
Lodge 5,340.55
Vermont street 929.27
Mammoth road 690.19
Other Expenses 1,764.24

Total $12,578.22
Balance, July 15, 1919 $ 1,215.39

The commissioner said that in 1914 the sum of $35,000 had been voted for macadam; in 1915, $50,000; in 1916, $41,000; in 1917, $71,000, and in 1918, $25,000. In 1919 $15,000 had been appropriated and of this a balance of $12,578.22 still remained.

If I had $51,000 or $71,000 or any of the amounts voted in previous years, I have had men working in the four corners of Lowell repairing our streets," commented Mr. Murphy. With the balance I have now I cannot do anything except keep a few men working. I'd like to have something done at this morning's meeting. I move that the order be rewritten to read $50,000."

Commissioner Morse: "If Commissioner Murphy will come down to the auditor's office I'll show him more work done in the three years I was in that department than for the previous five years."

Commissioner Murphy: "The roads that were built five years ago must be reconstructed, not patched. I don't want to buy tools by the half dozen, but as a real business man should buy them, I can work faster than you did. If I get the money I'll have more men looking for work."

Mayor Thompson: "I'm willing to vote for any reasonable sum of money, but I believe that if the commissioner is given as much more as he has already expended he will have enough to carry him through the season, because it's half over now. According to his own statements, he has done extensive work and employed 2000 men with $13,900 and I think he ought to be able to do it again."

The order finally came up for a vote, rewritten to read $50,000. It was adopted.

Commissioner Morse: "The roads that were built five years ago must be reconstructed, not patched. I don't want to buy tools by the half dozen, but as a real business man should buy them, I can work faster than you did. If I get the money I'll have more men looking for work."

Mayor Thompson: "I'm willing to vote for any reasonable sum of money, but I believe that if the commissioner is given as much more as he has already expended he will have enough to carry him through the season, because it's half over now. According to his own statements, he has done extensive work and employed 2000 men with $13,900 and I think he ought to be able to do it again."

Healed, Commissioner Murphy alone favored it.

Mayor Thompson said that if the commissioner were willing to cut the $50,000 to $15,000, he would favor it. Commissioner Murphy moved that it be cut to $10,000. This was again defeated, although Messrs. Morse and Murphy voted in favor of it.

The mayor moved that the order read $15,000 and Commissioner Marchand said he would like to amend that motion to read $20,000. It was so voted and the order was passed with the mayor opposing.

Paige's Resignation Read

Mayor Thompson then read a letter from Charles D. Paige, city auditor, addressed to Commissioner James E. Donnelly of the finance department, in which he asked that his resignation as city auditor be accepted as soon as possible.

Commissioner Donnelly moved that the resignation be accepted and it was unanimously voted. Mayor Thompson then rose and said that Mr. Paige resigned because he had an opportunity to accept a much better position in Boston, where the chances for advancement would be much greater than he could expect in Lowell. He said he considered it fitting that a committee of two members of the council who had served with Mr. Paige the longest, Messrs. Donnelly and Morse, be appointed to prepare a proper document extending the appreciation of the council to Mr. Paige for his efficient and conscientious service. One copy of this should be given Mr. Paige and one inscribed on the records of the city. It was so voted.

It was then suggested that the council proceed to the election of a successor to Mr. Paige and the roll call resulted as follows:

Commissioner Donnelly: J. Joseph Hennessy.
Commissioner Marchand: J. Joseph Hennessy.
Commissioner Morse: J. Joseph Hennessy.
Commissioner Murphy: Daniel P. Martin.
Mayor Thompson: J. Joseph Hennessy.

Commissioner Murphy said that he did not believe that a man with the professional training of Mr. Hennessy should accept such a position but should give way to somebody without his special training.

SELL TRAVELING BAGS NOW

If the people who keep traveling bags and other luggage containers for sale, can keep them moving over the counter this week, it's nobody's fault but their own. This is vacation time and nearly everyone has to have the most convenient means of carrying baggage when he goes on a vacation. The looks of your luggage marks your prosperity and your taste.

The best aid to selling all kinds of traveling bags is advertising in the evening paper. In this city that means using the surest and most reliable agency.

DISCUSSING THE TREATY

With strikes frequent all over the country and discontent brewing even where there are no strikes, it is high time that congress should get down to business on the work of reconstruction. So far as this nation is concerned, we are still at war with Germany. True, the fighting has ceased but there is hope of a settlement before next year. The republicans apparently have given up the idea of making the treaty a campaign issue in the national election of 1920. There is a feeling springing up in the senate that this is a rather dangerous question with which to play politics.

No documentary steps have been taken to declare that the state of war no longer exists. The treaty is before the senate and there is no telling when it will be disposed of either by adoption or rejection. The senate, however, seems to be making progress towards a solution so that Korah, Knox, Brandegee and Sherman are apparently beginning to realize that there are issues involved of which they had no conception when they took their stand relative to the treaty and the covenant.

The Shantung affair is one obstacle and the rejection of the treaty on that account might lead to trouble with Japan which may be the next to precipitate a world war. Her military ambitions seem uppermost and her efforts to get into China are indicative of what she intends to do in the future. She is now in alliance with England, but may soon be in league with Germany or even with Russia should the Bolshevik clouds pass away.

To talk on the treaty because of the Shantung affair would be to assume responsibility for enforcing fair play against a nation that has set out to exploit China. Such a course would isolate the United States as against the rest of the world, or at least against the powers that are willing to concede anything to retain the friendship of Japan.

The treaty is likely to be adopted with reservations and one of the most important reservations that can be made is that no provision of the treaty will be construed to set any barrier to the march of a nation towards complete independence.

Whatever the senate may do should be done quickly so that all uncertainty shall be removed as to the future and so that the business interests of the nation may receive the attention they demand.

TEACHERS HARD HIT

In all probability, no class of public employes has suffered more from the high cost of living than have our school teachers. Their salary has been fixed and although they have received an occasional increase, yet their stipend is not sufficient to meet their ordinary expenses in past years.

The cost of room rent and of board has gone up to such an extent that in many cities teachers have been obliged to club together and run a boarding house for their own accommodation. They have furnished the house and hired a cook to prepare their meals, fixing the price of board at what it actually costs. In this way, they have been able to save a little, but out this country to hold employees they have to help in doing the work long enough to become housework. Nevertheless, the plan is to be recommended as it furnishes an opportunity for the teachers to enjoy a degree of freedom and seclusion that no ordinary boarding house could afford.

Young teachers who go to the Normal school to spend their probationary period in country schools, find difficulty in securing room and board at reasonable rates. In some cases what they earn is not sufficient to pay their expenses, while in others they cannot get a decent boarding house at any price. This is one of the most trying experiences of the teacher's life when she has to go out among strangers in order to get training in managing a school on her own responsibility or under the guidance of an experienced principal.

Throughout the country, there is a demand for higher pay for public school teachers. This is necessary in order to hold them in the service. As things go now, there seems to be little or no reward for the man or woman who spends years in training for a profession. The woman who belongs to the Garment Workers union or the man who enters the service of a street railway company and learns the business in two weeks, very often can gain higher wages through membership in a union than through graduation from a college or years of study at some technical school. There is a great deal of injustice in the present order of things and school teachers are victimized perhaps to as great a degree as any other class. As a result, many of them are quitting the profession and entering other occupations in which they can earn more money while giving less laborious service.

AVOID THE SOCIALISTIC

Organized labor favors public ownership of the railroads of the country as being to its advantage, although there is no proof that the change would benefit the public. There is proof, however, that government ownership of the railroads, so far as it has been tried, has been a dismal failure. There is already a very large deficit shown and no means in sight to meet it except the government makes a special appropriation for the purpose.

It is very plain that the railroads of the country could not go on indefinitely in this fashion. They must be put upon a paying basis as they were before the government took hold of them, and the private owners can do this more effectively than can the government. Moreover, government ownership is a step in the direction of socialism that must be regarded with due caution.

The Boston Central Labor union has come out in favor of state ownership of the Boston Elevated, which would be but a step towards the acquisition of other roads in a similar manner. The Boston labor men may be honest in their intentions, believing that the system might be better managed under government ownership. However, there is the socialistic tendency in this step that is not to be encouraged. Between the every day socialist and the Bolshevik, there is but slight distinction; and any indication of the Bolshevik spirit must be resisted from the very outset regardless of the cost.

At the present hour, there are socialistic agencies at work to get control of industry and to promote government ownership of utilities so that all might depend upon the government. The pitiable spectacle now witnessed in Russia is sufficient to steel every true American citizen against anything and everything tending in the slightest degree to socialism or its twin sister, Bolshevism.

FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Various plans of co-operation are being devised by employers throughout the country to hold employees in the work long enough to become housework. Nevertheless, the plan is to be recommended as it furnishes an opportunity for the teachers to enjoy a degree of freedom and seclusion that no ordinary boarding house could afford.

cient and reliable workers; it removes the necessity of constantly breaking in new hands; it spreads contentment like a healing balm over the entire institution, and it protects the families of the workers from the sudden reverses of sickness or death, that, until recently, have terrorized the toilers.

The worker has always responded to advances like these.

The more highly paid any class of workers becomes, the more highly skilled it becomes, and the more profitable its services become to its employer. The lesson is obvious. When such relations are established between employer and employee, there will be no strikes, no discontent and nothing to block the company's prosperity.

ABOLISH THE BOARD

In view of the uselessness of the present board of arbitration and conciliation, why not abolish it or else invest it with power to do something effective? Whenever a strike of any consequence occurs, it is not the body provided by the state that is called, but a privately chosen board, while the men paid for doing the business are idle or waiting to be called.

This fiasco is too absurd to be permitted to exist any longer. Why pay a body that has fallen into disuse and that, under present conditions, can accomplish very little good?

The Atchison Globe, dispensing a good brand of journalism from the wilds of Kansas, said that while Roosevelt might be called the greatest American of his time, Wilson could be listed as the greatest European. If this were true, it would not be the first time a prophet was "never without honor save in his own country." It would not be strange if Europe believed President Wilson was her greatest benefactor. He enabled the little peoples to retain their flags and their governments secure.

Thomas Davis, speaking of Ireland, said she had "a climate soft as a mother's smile and a soil fertile as God's love." Yet Richard Croker finds the climate "unsatisfactory." So far as we have heard, the climate has not changed. Perhaps Mr. Croker has, or perhaps he feels that troublous times are ahead in Ireland and that it is better for a man who does not care, to get out. This is a time when men like Croker should be counted for the old cause.

When you hear a traveling medical faker on the street corner tell you that your medical men are no good, or when you hear a pack peddler say the merchants of Lowell do not know their business, do you believe either one or the other? Yes, if you belong to the class that P. T. Barnum said liked to be humbugged. Don't be humbugged by fakers.

Chicago folks need not be surprised that President Wilson's itinerary of stops at which he would discuss the League of Nations did not include that city. The idea is probably to honor cities known in advance to be 100 per cent American and to harbor no civic sentiments of a kind to nourish anarchists.

The best treat we believe any American boy can possibly enjoy in the next four months, is the experience of that American boy who has been living with German relatives in Saxony for the past six years, and is now allowed to return to his father's home at Fort Bliss, Texas.

It is up to the building department to provide school accommodation as best it can within its available resources. In doing this it can show good judgment or the reverse. This is a time that calls for wise expenditure of every dollar of the city's money.

When John McCormack bought a neat Connecticut farm and paid $200,000 for it, it is not quite fair to say it "cost him a song." A series of songs would perhaps be better to use but withal very fine and sweetly sung songs!

Those Ozone Hoots

Kansas City citizen goes up in air because air gondolas trespass on his vacant air lot. Argues that ozone boats have no right skidding over the atmosphere above his chimney. Claims that the air over his wigwam is his property as far up as it goes, and all wind wagons should carry up the aerial street or alley on the side of his premises. Maybe in moons to come, land owners will have the air above their property fenced off in chicken wire. Another chance for landlords. Might set up aerial toll gates or lease their air lots, and raise the rent every couple of months for some short-sighted reason, like the high cost of soap, or the wear and tear of their fresh air property by the wing carts. Looks like they'll have to fit down the sharp points on the stars for airplane passage in the future.

A Modern Fairy Story

Once upon a time a young married woman inserted the following want ad in a daily newspaper:

"Wanted—A cook. Must be able to get three meals a day for family of three, do all the washing and cleaning, take care of the baby while mistress is attending to her duties, and be prepared to cook and clean for a family of seven or eight when wife's father comes for visits of three or four months. Cook will have one hour off each week, every Thursday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock, provided mistress has something for her to do. Salary, $1.75 per week, all broken chinaware to be taken out of wages. Apply, Mrs. O. Howe Hopeful, 23 Hard-look st."

Ninety-seven excellent cooks, with superior references, applied for this position and from this number Mrs. Hopeful chose the best, a big Swede who was a bear for work, who was as gentle as a child with children, who adored washing, ironing and housecleaning and who could do things with food that would make a French chef take rat poison out of sheer jealousy. However, after being on the job ten days, the cook made a demand on her mistress. She claimed the work was too little and she wanted her wages reduced to 50 cents a week. Mrs. Hopeful, on the other hand, voluntarily increased the cook's wages to $15 a week and gave her two days a week off. The affair ended in a big row and the cook, rather than make trouble in the family, quit. Now, now, gentle reader, don't get excited and try to locate this cook. Just remember that this is a thoroughly modern and up-to-the-minute fairy story.

Packing

Did you ever attempt to pack a trunk and tell you and were sure you were trying to get things back in the place. Where you're certain they were trying to get in a two-inch space. A garment that takes up eight. And viewing the trunk and the whole thing as a grating, consuming haze!

Did you ever sit down to think it out and figure and measure and swear. Groggling a groan as you cursed the job. And tore at your sweat-damp hair? O, a man who packs, though a saint he be.

Is a temperance cuss at heart. When he's trying to put a coat in a hole. That is far too small for a vest.

You may hammer your thumb when you hang a print. You may smash a stick when you're cleaning house.

But physical hurts are a bagatelle. Compared with the mental pain. When you know that your shoes were in there once.

And you can't get 'em in again! Somewhere in the asphodel meadows, there. Where the shades of our fathers dwell. In the other side of the Path of Joy. By the brink of the place called Hell.

I think those sinners whose sins were great. Are doomed forever to pack. Knowing that things were once in the trunk.

And condemned to get 'em back! —HENRY EDWARD WARNER, in the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

At one time last week it looked as though the jitney as a solution of Boston's increasingly bad transportation problem might come into its own. The case got far enough, in fact, so that the Boston city council went to the extent of drafting municipal regulations under which it proposed to allow jitneys to operate. Apparently never before had Boston taken the jitney seriously, although many other Massachusetts cities and towns have been glad to. A friend of mine has called attention to the regulations which were brought up for action before the Boston city council and avers that in his opinion they were the best set of rules yet devised to govern commercialized motor traffic. Persons familiar with our municipal jitney regulations may be interested to compare.

ours with what is proposed for Boston. In Boston it is proposed to make a five-passenger car file a bond of $2000 as surety against accident. Six-passenger cars must file a $3000 bond with an increase of $500 in the bond for each passenger more than six. The jitney must pay two fees of $5 each, one to the city collector and one to the police commissioner. Some of the other regulations which struck my friend as safe, sane and sensible were as follows:

Adults riding in front seats not allowed to carry children in laps.

No intoxicated, boisterous, obnoxious, disorderly, or profane persons allowed on jitneys.

Chauffeurs can't smoke while transporting passengers.

Tops and curtains must be down after sundown to sunrise unless weather conditions make this impossible.

No passengers allowed to stand on running boards.

No sitting on dashboards, hoods, or tops of cars.

Not allowed to carry passengers in excess of seats.

Must stick to route designated on license and can't turn around until terminus is reached unless emergency makes such action necessary.

Must be equipped with proper sounding horn, fire extinguisher, one serviceable spare tire, complete kit of tools, set of skid chains.

Chauffeurs can't collect fares while car is in motion and must not allow passengers to board or alight while the car is moving.

Chauffeurs must not use any drugs or intoxicating liquors.

Signs designating fare and route must be placed in conspicuous place on car.

Must report immediately all accidents.

Police have power to prosecute and revoke or suspend license for violation of laws of commonwealth.

Fine of $20 each for each offense. Positively no overhauling.

It seems to me that a lot of young fellows who hold down the really responsible job of piloting auto trucks through the city do not realize fully their responsibility. Their employers would do well just now, before anything has happened to caution the young men about speeding. One never knows when somebody is going to step out in front of the speeding truck and when a serious accident does happen it is small consolation to the driver to know that it was really the victim's own fault for being careless enough to get maimed or killed. A little more care means a lot more safety in this city, it seems to me.

If the number of men, women and children that went through Pawtucketville Sunday carrying pails and other receptacles filled with blueberries, is to be taken as a criterion, blueberries are very plentiful this year. Of course the weather for the past few weeks has been ideal for the ripening of the tiny berries and the result is that thrifty people, who know just where to go to fill their pails, are canning in abundance. I am informed that fields on the outskirts of the city are literally covered with the berries, while there is also an abundance of them on marshy land along the meadows and ponds. Mud pond near Lake Massapic is a favorite place with many for the picking of blueberries, while Crystal lake at North Chelmsford is also the scene of many gatherings of berry pickers. There are also large fields of berries in Dracut street and the vicinity of Hildreth street, and across the line in Mammoth road. One of the berry pickers informed me Sunday that bakers are paying between 22 and 30 cents for good berries, while the stores are also giving good prices for them. This party, who by the way, was taking home no less than 25 quarts of berries, had spent but three hours in the fields with his wife and three children and he claims it was a real picnic for every member of the party. He said he is going back again for more, for it is the intention of his wife to can at least 50 quarts before the season is over.

HUN TRAITORS IN U. S. Two Who Betrayed German War Plans to U. S. Secret Service Reach New York

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A story of the betrayal of the German high command through the efforts of the American military secret service, and of the organization among German officers of a vendetta aimed at the lives of the traitors, was brought to light with the arrival at New York yesterday on the transport Agamemnon of "two German prisoners of war consigned to the director of military intelligence, Washington, D. C."

According to information here, the mysterious prisoners who landed from the Agamemnon under heavy guard formerly were German officers of high rank, occupying positions of great responsibility under von Hindenburg. Before the inauguration of the American offensive in 1918, operatives of the American military intelligence corps prevailed upon them, through inducements which have not been divulged, to deliver plans of the German general staff covering the proposed movements on the western front, probable lines of retreat, points at which stands would be made and other detailed information of incalculable value.

Sent Here to Escape Avengers With these plans before him, Gen. Pershing was able to lay out his campaign with great freedom and it is believed that a result was to cut the cost of the American advance practically in half.

The German officers later surrendered themselves to the American forces. Certain of their former associates had become suspicious, however, and are believed to have banded together to mete out stern justice. Utmost precautions were taken, even within the allied lines, to protect the informers, but as officials believed that as long as they were kept in France their lives would be in danger, orders were given for their transfer to this country.

Preparations for the moving of the prisoners were kept a close secret and it was only through the carelessness of some clerk that they were included in the roster of the Agamemnon when she left France.

The plan was to send the prisoners to some isolated army post where they might be given military protection for a time. Eventually, it is supposed, they would be permitted to "escape" to some other country, there to begin their lives anew. Officials will not say whether this plan can be safely followed now.

According to information here, the mysterious prisoners who landed from the Agamemnon under heavy guard formerly were German officers of high rank, occupying positions of great responsibility under von Hindenburg. Before the inauguration of the American offensive in 1918, operatives of the American military intelligence corps prevailed upon them, through inducements which have not been divulged, to deliver plans of the German general staff covering the proposed movements on the western front, probable lines of retreat, points at which stands would be made and other detailed information of incalculable value.

Sent Here to Escape Avengers With these plans before him, Gen. Pershing was able to lay out his campaign with great freedom and it is believed that a result was to cut the cost of the American advance practically in half.

The German officers later surrendered themselves to the American forces. Certain of their former associates had become suspicious, however, and are believed to have banded together to mete out stern justice. Utmost precautions were taken, even within the allied lines, to protect the informers, but as officials believed that as long as they were kept in France their lives would be in danger, orders were given for their transfer to this country.

Preparations for the moving of the prisoners were kept a close secret and it was only through the carelessness of some clerk that they were included in the roster of the Agamemnon when she left France.

The plan was to send the prisoners to some isolated army post where they might be given military protection for a time. Eventually, it is supposed, they would be permitted to "escape" to some other country, there to begin their lives anew. Officials will not say whether this plan can be safely followed now.

BULGARIA ACCEPTS ALLIED PRINCIPLES NEW YORK, July 22.—Bulgaria is willing to have its problems and disputes settled by the peace conference under the principles announced by President Wilson and the allies, according to a cablegram from Constantine Stephanov, leader of the Macedonian colony in Switzerland, to H. INTIMATE VIEW OF EX-KAISER

BERLIN, Sunday, July 20. (By Associated Press.)—An intimate view of the former German emperor is given by Friedrich von Berg, who was chief of his civil cabinet, writing the Aufreichte today. Von Berg was at Amerongen when the German national assembly accepted the peace treaty.

"It was a terribly melancholy moving meeting," he wrote, "and it was a great joy to see the Kaiser was not a broken man. It is true it features have become sharp, but he bears his lot like a real Christian quietly and with dignity, the fatherland's fate weighing more heavily upon him than does his own. Hours of bitterness come also, but they are overcome in calm, quiet discussion at good feeling, and ever the quiet cheerfulness of an earnest man constant reappears."

"Not one complaint was uttered when it became known the ignominious extradition clauses were accepted. There were only quiet words of comfort for the empress, that wonderful unselfish woman, who also bears suffering like a crown and whose health threatens to collapse under the fresh blow."

DASHES IRISH HOPES AGAIN

Lloyd George Says No Settlement Until Irishmen Get Together

Talks in Commons—Anglo-French Treaty Bill Unanimously Passed

LONDON, July 22.—At what was virtually an all night session, the house of commons today completed its consideration of both the German peace treaty and the Anglo-French convention.

The bill carrying approval of the German treaty, was considered in committee of the whole, exciting lengthy debate, in which Premier Lloyd George took an active part. The bill was then placed before the house and passed its third reading, after a motion by John Devlin to reject it as a protest against the premier's attitude towards Ireland, had been defeated 154 to 4.

Then at 3 a. m., the Anglo-French pact was taken up and the bill approving it was unanimously passed after short but sharp debate, in which the argument that the treaty was not consistent with the spirit of the League of Nations failed to find any substantial echo.

The German treaty passed through all its stages without amendment.

In concluding his speech on the treaty Premier Lloyd George, while making no claim of perfection for it, expressed confidence that any defects would be remedied by the League of Nations. Despite its imperfections, he declared, the treaty would stand as a lighthouse in the deep and a warning to nations and rulers of nations against the peril which the German empire threatened itself against.

Premier Lloyd George replied to his critics during the debate. His recent announcement that the former German emperor would be tried before a tribunal in London had created much discussion and several members, including Lord Robert Cecil, expressed doubts as to the advisability of the trial being held in London. The selection of a neutral country for this purpose, he has been contended, would have been better.

The premier, in answer to this, said: "What right have we to assume that any neutral country could desire to be the scene of such a trial? The allies have sufficient evidence in this country that whoever comes here for trial will receive a trial equal to the highest traditions of the British nation, and there are none higher in the world.

"If war is to be abolished it must be treated, not as an honorable game with the prospect of personal glory, but as a crime. That is why we decided that the author of this war should be tried."

Premier Discusses Ireland

Another matter of extreme importance which came up for discussion was the Irish question and to this the premier devoted considerable time, with numerous interjections by Joseph Devlin, nationalist for Falls division of Belfast.

Sir Samuel Hoare, unionist of Chelsea warned the government that some of the unionists considered the settlement of the Irish difficulty just as urgent as did the Irish members.

The premier caused laughter by describing the Irish convention which failed to agree to his attempt to apply President Wilson's principles to Ireland.

Answering Mr. Devlin's demand for a referendum, he urged that the difficulty was that Ireland was not a nation, but three nations in race, religion and temperament and outlook—in fact, in everything representing the fundamental conditions of a nation. Until this difficulty was bridged, it was useless to talk about self-determination, and until Irishmen definitely faced this difficulty he despaired of any settlement.

Want Trade With Germany

There is a natural prejudice against trading with Germany, Sir Donald Maclean said in opening the debate, but he added that he could not see how he allies could recover an indemnity unless they traded with her. He said he regretted that the peace terms should in themselves prevent Germany from giving immediate reparation and making speedy payment of part of the indemnity.

"Unlike many of my party," Sir Donald continued, "I agree absolutely that the ex-kaiser, who was responsible for some of the greatest acts of the war and who has been rejected by his own people, should be brought to a fair and solemn trial."

Sir Donald suggested, however, that instead of the trial being held in London, it should take place in "relative obscurity in some neutral state."

After referring to the seething cauldron in the Near East, Sir Donald said "the one bright and shining hope of the whole picture is the League of Nations."

Lloyd George Gratified

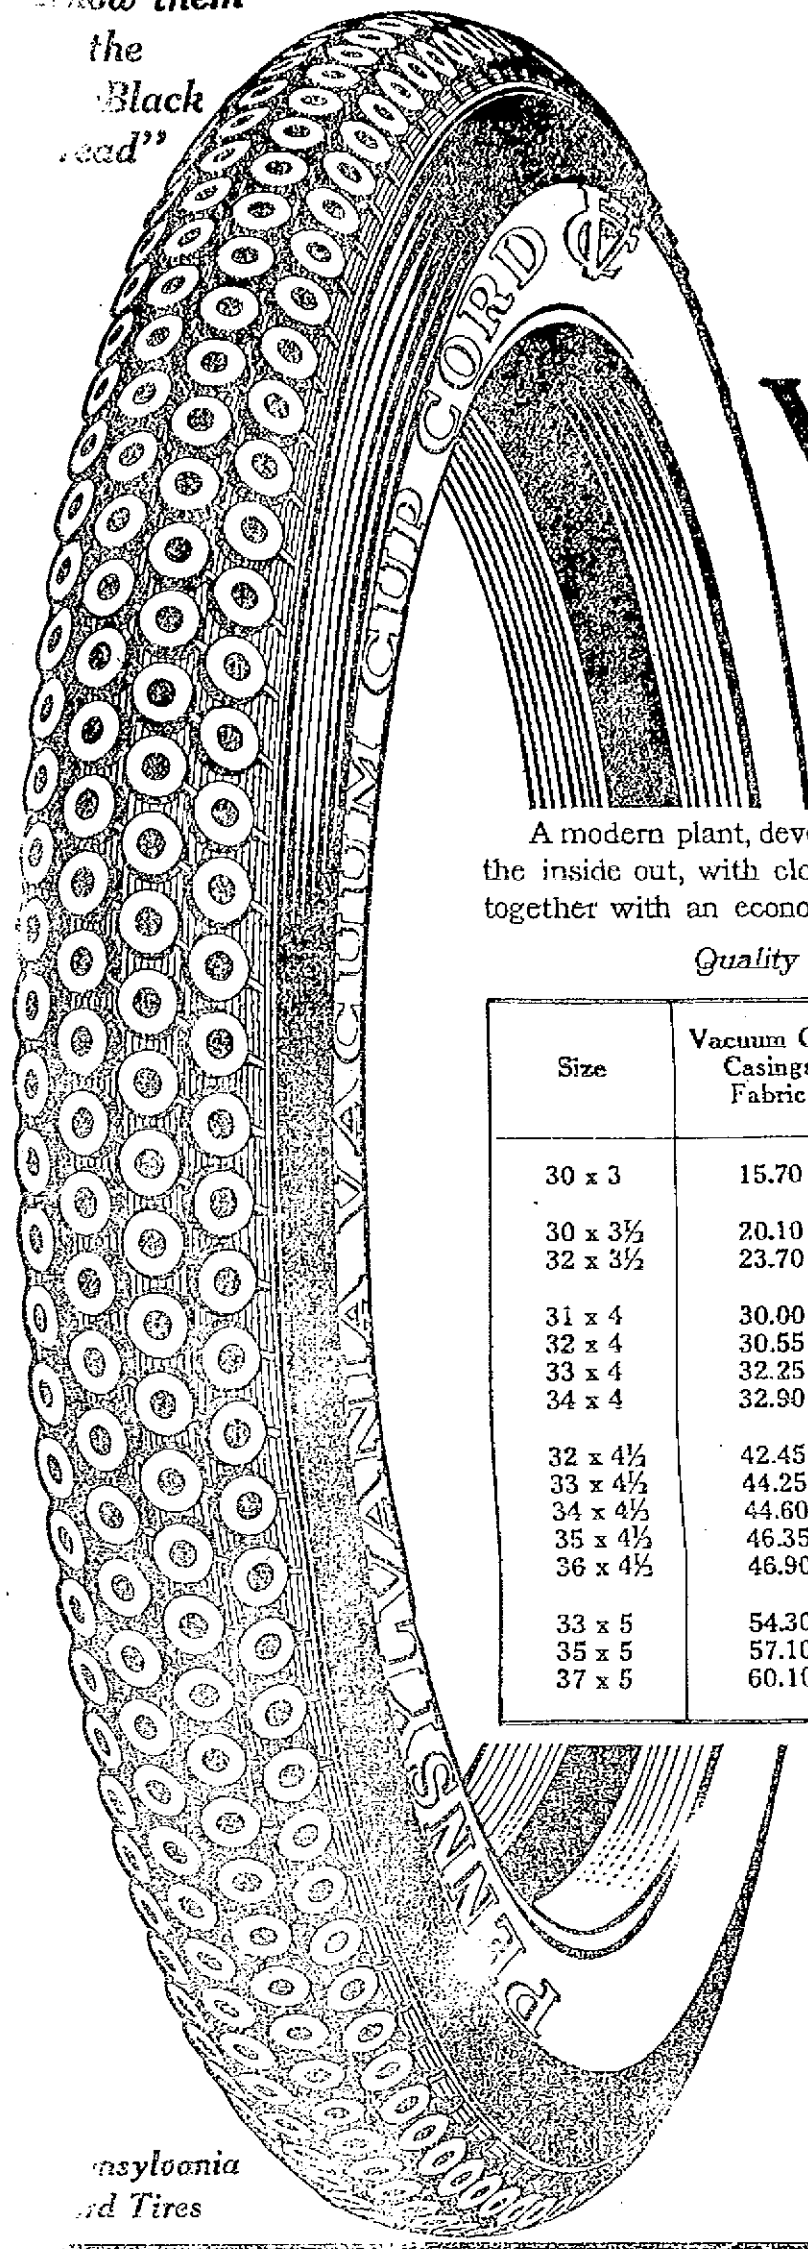

John R. Clynes, former food controller; George Nicoll Barnes, minister without portfolio; Lord Robert Cecil and other members continued the debate. Lord Robert Cecil spoke in favor of a renewal or the revision of the treaties when it became necessary and expressed doubts as to advisability of trying the ex-German emperor in London.

Premier Lloyd George, in replying, expressed gratification at the course the debate had taken and the spirit in which the treaty had been received. He believed this reflected the spirit of the great public outside.

The premier defended the Anglo-American convention with France, which he contended was no proof of France's want of confidence, nor any reflection upon the League of Nations. The league was in the nature of an experiment. He considered France justified in arguing, after the experience she had gone through, that what she believes in that experiment and will do her utmost to promote its success, she thinks the league would have a better chance of establishing itself as a permanent organization if it has the British Empire and the United States behind it and its decrees are feared and respected.

peace treaty itself, the premier thought they had been largely self-restrictive.

Dealing with an amendment moved by Horatio W. Bottomley, independent member for South Hackney, regretting to enter into binding obligations to pay the whole cost of the war, the premier gave details respecting the demands of the treaty on this subject and pointed out that the first clause was a recognition by Germany of her responsibility to defray the whole cost. But he asked, was there the remotest chance of exacting that sum? The total cost of the war was $200,000,000. The summing fund Germany would have to provide was $100,000,000 yearly. How could she pay that?

"It is useless to talk about Germany's war reparations," continued Lloyd George. "The last cash waterways at the Bank of England. It is useless to talk about German soil. You can only get it out of the produce you can get out of Germany and get the cash for Germany the last three-quarters of her income."

Among them was Jack Bettner, pilot of the dirigible which escaped by jumping with the parachute, and W. C. Young, in charge of the aeronautical department of the Goodyear Co.

Fell in midst of 200 Clerks

Of the 11 dead, nine were employees of the bank and two were passengers in the dirigible. Five persons were in the dirigible at the time of the accident and three escaped. When the balloon crashed through the skylight of the bank at 5 o'clock more than 200 employees, mostly girls, were at work.

The balloon with its five passengers was making its maiden trip above the city in the interest of an amusement park. A spurt of flame appeared at the stern above the engine. In a moment there was a puff of smoke and flames attacked the big egg-shaped gas bag. Almost simultaneously four parachutes leaped from the airship. Three got clear, but the fourth was caught in the falling balloon and burned. Its passenger, Carl Weaver, mechanic of Akron, Ohio, plunging to death. Earl Davenport, publicity man for the amusement park and one time for a sporting woman, did not jump from the machine. His body was hurled through the bank roof and burned to a crisp.

Pilot Escapes Injury

Harry Wacker, Akron, Ohio, chief mechanic of the dirigible, came down safely. His tank was broken, however.

Milton G. Norton, a photographer employed on a morning newspaper, also landed, but his legs were broken.

J. A. Beetham, civilian pilot, was the only one of the airship's crew to land without injury.

11 Killed, 26 Injured

Continued

Five of the nine killed in the bank were women employees, three were men, and one a boy. There were but two exits in the iron cage, in the center of the bank, and as the wreckage of the balloon crashed through the skylight to the floor there was no time for the employees to escape. The tanks exploded and the interior of the bank was sprinkled with gasoline, which quickly ignited, burning the employees to death. More than 200 persons were in the bank at the time of the accident.

Pilot Describes Accident

Beetham, the pilot, who was at police headquarters today, said: "As we neared State street I felt the machine buckle and there was a tremor throughout the fuselage. I knew something had happened and saw the flames licking the bag. I shouted for all to jump, and I leaped out of the car."

State street is three blocks from where the airship fell.

Body Falls at His Feet

P. I. Cooper, assistant cashier of the bank, left his desk a few minutes before the balloon crashed through the room, to put some records away. The body of a man, so badly burned and mangled that I could not tell at first that it was a man at all, came hurtling through the air and fell at my feet," he said. "Then there was an outburst of screaming from the railroad car space, where the girls worked, and everything seemed to be a mass of flames."

The damage to the building was not more than $15,000, according to John J. Mitchell, president of the bank.

Against Flying Over City

"I don't see how we can blame anyone for this most regrettable accident," he said. "It was one of those things that no one could have foreseen or forestalled, but I do not think any flying should be done over a large city unless really necessary."

The corporation counsel today began the work of drafting an ordinance regulating the operation of aircraft above the city.

Major Clarence Maranville, chief of the army aircraft division at Akron, who witnessed the accident, has sent a report to the war department.

Making Great Speed at Time

"Deplorable as it is, I believe there is an explanation," he said. "I have my own ideas as to how the flames started, but must decline to tell as it is purely an army matter. I loaned the two La Rhone motors to the Good year people for the experiment. These rotary motors are known to be first dangers, but I asked if the precautions had been complied with and found they had been. It was the first time the motors had been used."

"The tag was gas light, that is, it was being handled for the first time, and as there was only coal for ballast, the heat of the sun had forced the pilot to use the valve to free gas. The balloon was making great speed, I should judge about 30 miles an hour."

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 22.—Selling of stocks for both accounts was assumed at the opening today. Declines of one to three points in Crude Oil, General Motors, H. K. & L. preferred, and Atlantic Gulf, were neutralized by advances averaging a point in California Petroleum, Great Northern Ore., Anaconda, Standard and Pittsburgh and West Virginia. The general list reflected unsettledness during the first half hour.

Vigorous rallies set in later, causing the short interest to cover hastily. The rebound was led by oils, steels, motors, equipments and shippings. Metals, food shares and the cheaper stocks participated more moderately and the entire list underwent a pronounced change from its early unsteady aspects. The rally ranged from 2 to 7 points. Exchange of London was lower, but the money market was relatively easy, call loans opening at 6 to 7 per cent.

Trading decreased at noon but the rally made further progress, especially in minor rails, steels, equipments and specialties. U. S. Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, American Can, General Motors, American Woolen, Standard, United Cigars and Tobacco Products made extreme gains of 2 to 4 points.

Leaders reacted 1 to 3 points later, but held in the main, and the heavy buying of oils. The closing was strong.

BRITAIN FACES ONE OF MOST SERIOUS CRISES

LONDON, July 22.—On the morrow of the peace celebration, with the newspapers' columns still paying plentiful tribute to the great demonstration and urging that the nation now settle down to work, Great Britain finds herself confronted with one of the most serious economic crises in her history.

Alarm is everywhere felt at the action of the coal miners in putting a stop to the output in a large area of the coal fields, and especially at their risking the permanent destruction of some of the mines by preventing the pumps from operating. The London press voices this alarm in unmeasured terms, seeing the nation faced with unparalleled calamity, which is pointed to as threatening national bankruptcy.

Except in socialist quarters, the conduct of the miners is condemned with varying degrees of vehemence and characterized as something from a deplorable, suicidal blunder to wicked, reckless Bolshevism.

Labor experts declare the workers are out of hand, that they were led to expect a new order of things and believe that the way to the promised land is being blocked by the greed of capitalists and profiteers.

MOSES RAPS TREATY

and kings. It roams the plains, sails and seas, delves into the earth, and soars into the skies. Huns, heres and hunsmen alike come within its purview; books, boundaries, and bullets; guns, goats, guarantees and governments; warships, waterways, women and Wilhelm II.—in short the alphabet and alliteration alike are agonized in an attempt to deal adequately with merely a topical item in this instrument which we are asked to ratify in haste lest we break the heart of the world.

Look in Vain for 14 Points

"These constitute a victor's peace, and with them I have no quarrels. But we look in vain its 267 pages for the elusive 14 points of peace. Open covenants long since took to hiding; the freedom of the seas was treated with scant courtesy at Paris; the establishment of equality of trade conditions among nations consenting to the peace is nowhere to be found in this instrument; the earlier doctrine of no annexations and no indemnities long since became a tragic joke; and there remains alone, so far as present negotiations have been reduced to written form, the general association of nations established by specific covenants.

"Neither can we find here any confirmation of the prediction that this treaty was to be written in disregard of the old order of the balance of power and with no element of national commercial greed. All the elements of greed, national suspicion and jealousy are only too evident in almost every article of the treaty.

For Benefit of Big Fire

"In short the sun of commercial expansion in which Germany sought a place passes into total eclipse behind this treaty; and the shackles with which she is to be manacled in her obscurity have been forged with meticulous care by the forward-looking men with whom the president was privileged to co-operate at Paris, but whose co-operation was strictly limited to looking out for themselves, while not omitting to see to it that the United States should be made a full partner in every phase of the enterprise designed for the benefit of the members of the big five.

"It naturally follows that a treaty such as this cannot be self-operative; and we have been assured that if we examine it, we shall find that everywhere throughout its manifold provisions its framers have felt obliged to turn to the League of Nations as the indispensable instrumentality for the maintenance of the new order which this instrument purposes to set up.

Two Groups of Signatories

"I wish to call attention to the manner in which the signatories to the instrument have separated themselves into two distinct groups—the first comprising the United States, the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, and everywhere throughout the treaty described as the 'principal allied and associated powers'; and the second all the other belligerents with the exception of Costa Rica, whose absence from the peace table has not yet been explained—to the number of 22.

"In the delimitation of the new frontier line between Belgium and Germany, it is not the League of Nations, but a commission of seven persons, five of whom will be appointed by the principal allied and associated powers, who will assume this task. In matters of controversy relating to the return of Alsace-Lorraine to French possession it is not the League of Nations which functions, but the central

NO CHANGE IN R. I. STREET CAR STRIKE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 22.—The street car strike situation remained deadlocked today with no prospect of another immediate conference between the receivers of the Rhode Island Co. and union leads. The rejection yesterday by the carmen of the receivers' offer of 55 cents an hour and the refusal by the receivers to assent to the men's counter demand of 60 cents an hour and an eight-hour day left both parties to the controversy unwilling to suggest any further approach to a settlement.

Union leaders were inclined to think this afternoon that increasing public pressure would cause the receivers to agree to arbitration within a few days. The receivers have claimed that it was not within their province, as court officers, to delegate the fixing of wages to any outside party, and they gave no indication of a changed attitude toward this or any other phase of the controversy today.

Thin commission—an organization set up years ago under the old order and now made use of in the light of a new day. In the establishment of the new Czechoslovak state, it is not the League of Nations which will determine its frontiers, but it is the principal allied and associated powers. Similarly with Poland and so, too, with East Prussia.

"Germany renounces its rights and titles over Danzig, not to the League of Nations, but in favor of the principal allied and associated powers, who are to appoint a commission to delimit the frontier. So, too, with the redistribution of sovereignty over Schleswig. The limitation of armaments has been presented to us as one of the fundamental purposes of the league. Yet nowhere in the instrument does this appear to be the fact. Throughout the whole line of minute detailed stipulations which reduce Germany to military impotence it is not the soothing agency of the League of Nations which assigns the task but the strong arm of the principal allied and associated powers. Germany renounces in favor of the principal allied and associated powers and not to the League of Nations, all her rights and titles over the overseas possessions.

Shameful Episode of Shantung

"I shall not dwell upon the shameful episode of Shantung, pausing only to say that it is not to the League of Nations but to Japan that Germany renounces her rights, titles and privileges under the provisions of the treaty.

"The provisions for rendering Germany harmless in a military sense occupy many pages of the treaty. But here again it is a conference of military experts of the principal allied and associated powers and not the League of Nations which will fix the reductions to be made in the number of German effectives and will approve the location and restrict the number of factories and works wherein Germany will be permitted to manufacture arms, munitions and war materials. The dilution of German forces upon the sea is likewise deemed by the treaty to be too much importance to be turned over to the League of Nations.

Task of Reparation

"The task of reparation will rest in the hands of an inter-allied commission. In this day of open covenants openly arrived at, it is interesting further to note the absolute requirement in the treaty that all proceedings of this commission shall be private, unless for special reasons and on particular occasions the commission shall decide otherwise.

"The principal allied and associated powers figure 76 times; the allied and associated powers figure 45 times—a total of 121. Whereas the League of Nations figures altogether 57 times and of these 21 refer to its nebulous connection with administration of the Saar valley. It will be neither a delicate nor difficult task of dissection to remove from the treaty the 15 general provisions which it contains in regard to the League of Nations.

"I hope that an examination of the treaty will convince others as it has convinced me, that the instrument is infinitely worse for us than even the League of Nations, bad as it is. The provisions of this treaty immediately and without recourse thrust us into the endless snarl of attempting to set new boundaries for contentious races in Europe and impose upon us a share in the task of holding Germany in leash.

"This treaty of Versailles is as menacing to the peace of the world as the treaty of Berlin was 40 years ago, and unless we can make it in it changes which I deem primarily essential, I shall not vote for its ratification."

DELAY IN ARBITRATION

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 22.—An official of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. today showed resentment over the fact that opinion in Lowell emanating from officials of the Carmen's union had crystallized itself into an assertion that arbitration proceedings, including the selection of the third arbitrator, were being unnecessarily delayed and that it might be as late as September before the arbitration board commenced its sittings and began to review the troubles alleged to exist between the Bay State and its workers.

The official said: "The carmen have agreed upon James H. Vahey as their representative. Every newspaper reader knows Vahey has had his hands full the past two weeks trying to help the Boston carmen. The employer has selected Samuel Pillsbury, an attorney, as its representative. It is understood that these two men have selected James L. Doherty of Springfield as the third arbitrator. Mr. Doherty has acted in other arbitration proceedings and is regarded as somewhat of an authority on labor matters as well as on the science of transportation.

"Progress of arbitration proceedings now waits on the acceptance of Mr. Doherty of the invitation extended him to be chairman of this board. We expect his acceptance would be sent either to Mr. Vahey or Mr. Pillsbury, and if his decision was sent by him to the president of the Lowell Carmen's union, it would be as a matter of course.

"If Mr. Doherty decides to serve, it is expected that the time when the board starts its sessions will be left to him. He would probably call it at the convenience of the other two members.

"Lowell carmen and Lowell people in general should not hold to the idea that Lowell troubles entirely furnish the topics to be reviewed and arbitrated. The troubles alleged to prevail in Lowell are common all over the Bay State road and this arbitration board will undoubtedly take this view and its province will include every labor trouble existing on the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railways Co. system.

"The prominence of Lowell carmen in the arbitration proceedings lies in the fact that it was their action that drew the matter to a centre, suspended traffic over a great part of the road and forced conditions to make it necessary for an arbitration board to be appointed and to give a decision. There is a likelihood that this arbitration board will start its work no later than the first week in August."

What are Red Pills—and why should I take them?

RED PILLS are for women, taken specially for Anaemia or poor blood. They are a blood food. They make the blood pure and rich, and build up the whole system.

THOUSANDS and thousands of women and young girls owe their bright eyes, their pretty complexions, their graceful forms and vivid vitality to RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Woman.

IF you are not as well and strong as you should be—if you are always tired or "out of sorts"—if you are having headaches and backaches—if you do not eat and sleep well—if you suffer with giddy spells, nervous attacks, indigestion—than you have Anaemia and should get RED PILLS at once.

MRS. LOUIS HUARD, 73 Broad Street, Fall River, Mass., says: "I had twenty-four children, and at that period of life which is always so hard for a woman to pass safely, I was completely run-down and was suffering from the bad symptoms and ailments which women is heir to, and which make her life so miserable, such as palpitations of the heart, dizziness, numbness of the limbs, poor digestion, and so many other complaints known only to women who have experienced them themselves. I was persuaded to start taking RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, and to this day I cannot praise them too highly, for they restored my strength and vitality, and thanks to their salutary effects I was able to pass through this difficult stage of life with as little trouble as possible, and I now feel better than ever."

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French doctor, and they have been widely used ever since.

LETTERS SENT FROM HERE TO GERMANY

Fully 25 letters, addressed to people in Germany, have been mailed at the Lowell postoffice since the mail restrictions with the former enemy were taken off Thursday, postoffice officials claim.

Because direct trans-Atlantic communication with Germany has not yet been established, the reciprocal two-cent rate in effect before the war has not yet been restored. It is necessary to send the mail through Scandinavian ports until steamers start running from New York to Hamburg, and at present a five-cent stamp is required on each letter weighing one ounce, with an additional three-cent stamp for each extra ounce or fraction thereof.

Postmaster Mehan received official notice yesterday of the order removing restrictions on sending parcel post to Germany. Parcels may now be sent under the same regulations as other European countries which are open to American parcel post.

New Postal Orders

First and second class postmasters can now grant leave of absence without pay to carriers and clerks because of illness for periods of 30 days upon receiving a properly authenticated medical certificate, according to information received by the postmaster today.

Formerly it has been necessary to obtain special authority before granting an extended leave of absence. The postmaster cannot grant such leaves to exceed over one year's continuous absence, and when the leaves average 30 months or more, return to duty for less than 30 days will not be considered as breaking the continuity of the leave.

According to the notice postmasters are authorized to grant clerks and carriers short leaves without pay for urgent reasons as long as such leaves do not exceed 30 days in one year.

The new order provides that a substitute can be paid 40 cents an hour out of the pay of the man whose place he is filling, except that when an assistant postmaster is on leave a substitute clerk cannot be placed in his position and paid from his pay.

Clothing and food articles can now be sent from the United States to Palestine and Syria by parcel post at the regular rates to foreign countries plus transit rates.

Parcels for Palestine can be sent at the rate of 12 cents a pound plus a transit of 16 cents for one pound. The transit charge varies and for the 11-pound limit is 75 cents, making the total cost for an 11-pound parcel, $2.10. The parcel post rates to Palestine are the same as to Syria, but the transit rates are slightly higher.

BIG INDUSTRIAL BOOST FOR LOWELL

If the various projects on which the new industries committee of the Lowell board of trade is now working can be brought to a head, this city will experience a big industrial boost next fall.

No less than five large industries, two of them with national reputations, have been in communication with the board recently regarding sites, power, etc., in this city and it is the hope of the board to secure some of them to occupy the vacant portion of the Burgess-Lang building in Middlesex street, formerly occupied by the Snow Shoe Co., as well as the former Bigelow-Hartford plant in Market street. The industries which are considering locations here include a large steel concern, a wooden heel manufacturing company, a textile company, a silk mill and a corset manufacturing concern. Negotiations with these concerns are being handled by John H. Murphy, vice chairman of the board of trade new industries committee.

COMMUNITY SING

If the weather allows, the third outdoor community sing under the auspices of the Community Service Singing league will be held at Davis square, Gorham, Central and Thordike streets at 7.30 o'clock tonight. If it rains the sing will be abandoned. The Merrimack mills will provide the automobile truck for the transportation of the league girls to Davis square, and among the singers will be a large group of Portuguese girls of the International Institute. Albert Edmund Brown will lead the singing as usual and has a bagful of catchy tunes to distribute. A week from tonight the sing will be held on the Aiken street playground.

House Adopts Prohibition Enforcement Bill With Drastic Provisions

Man's Right To Store Liquor in His Home Stands
Against All Attacks

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The prohibition enforcement bill, drastic provisions and all, was adopted yesterday, section by section, by the house, but a man's right to store liquor in his home stood up against all attacks. On the final count, only three votes were recorded in favor of an amendment to make home possession of intoxicants unlawful.

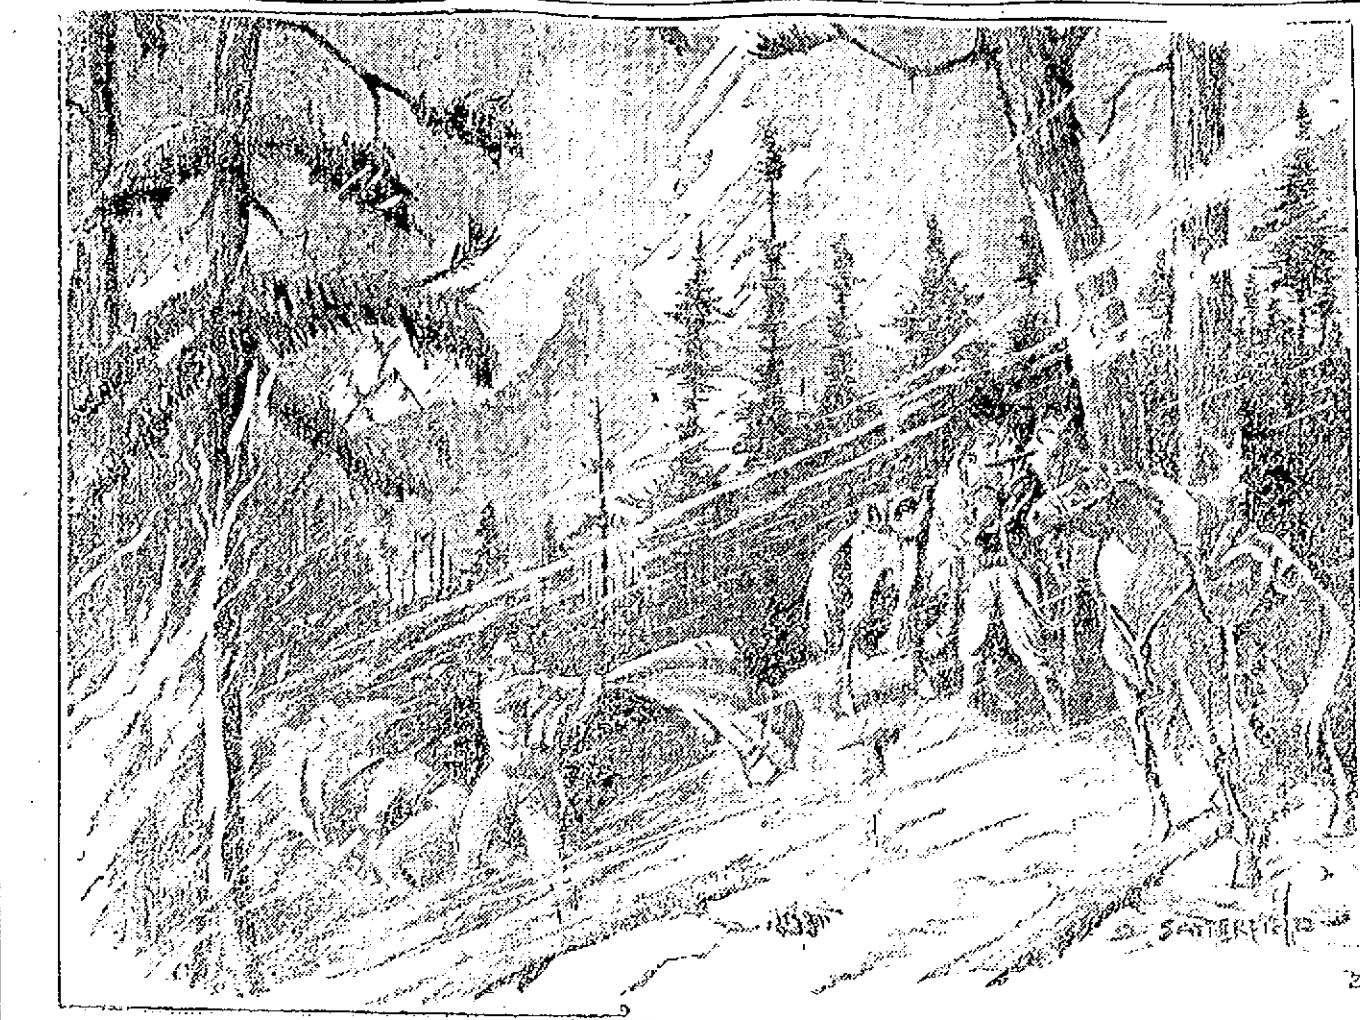

After all perfecting amendments had been adopted and others designed to make the bill less severe had been bowled over in a chorus of "noes" an attempt was made to adjourn over night.

This prevailed, but there was a demand for a rollcall and the prohibition forces, summoned from all sides by their leaders, piled into the chamber in sufficient numbers to keep the house in session last night for the tedious rollcall vote on half a dozen amendments in dispute which had to be passed on before a vote on the bill as a whole.

Demand for a formal reading of the engrossed bill, which was not in shape for that purpose, finally forced adjournment of the house and delayed its passage until today.

Kill Plan for Requiring Bond

The first fight of the day was over the section giving the courts the right to put under bond a person convicted of violating the liquor law. This was stricken out after Representative Gard, dem., Ohio, had pointed out that it provided double punishment for the poor man, who might be sent to jail. The vote was 35 to 66, many prohibitionists opposing its retention.

When the house reached section 55 of the bill, dealing with enforcement of constitutional prohibition and which contained the provision that it was not unlawful to store liquor at home for personal use, the scene was not unlike that on a stock market on a high sales day. Everybody wanted to speak or offer an amendment, fully a score clamoring for recognition at once.

Time for Reporting Stocks

First consideration, as a matter of parliamentary right, was given Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee, in charge of the bill, who had two amendments. These fixed the time for reporting possession of intoxicants. In one Mr. Volstead offered, which the house accepted, the time specified in the proclamation by the state department as to the effective date of constitutional prohibition—Jan. 16, 1920—was accepted without discussion.

Representative Rubey, democrat, of Missouri got the floor after Chairman Volstead was through with the section, and immediately he announced intention to throw the searchlight on American wine cellars, reported to be stocked with liquor enough to last for generations. His amendment provided that a person should not possess more than 500 worth of liquor, which a member likened to "one white chip in a steamboat poker game." The house did not take kindly to this proposal and defeated it.

Save Home Stocks

With this out of the way, Representative Baker, democrat, California, offered what the house had been waiting for—an amendment to make it unlawful to have liquor in one's own dwelling. Chairman Volstead opposed it, saying this section had been given very serious consideration by friends of prohibition. When the vote was called only three members, and all of them democrats, supported the amendment—Mr. Baker and Representatives Blanton of Texas and Uphaw of Georgia, the latter an evangelist.

This section was amended, however, so as to provide that such liquors must be for personal consumption by the owners of the dwelling or his family or bona fide guests. This restriction, put in by Representative Steele, a democrat, Pennsylvania, was aimed at the man who might turn his dwelling into a saloon.

How the Section Reads

As approved the section of the constitutional enforcement measure relating to possession of liquor follows: "Section 55. That on Feb. 1, 1920, the possession of liquors by any person not legally permitted under this title to possess liquor shall be prima facie evidence that the liquor is kept for the purpose of being sold, bartered, exchanged, given away, furnished or otherwise disposed of in violation of the provisions of this title.

"Every person legally permitted under this title to have liquor shall report to the commissioners of internal revenue within 10 days after Jan. 16, 1920, the kind and amount of intoxicating liquors in his possession. But it shall not be unlawful to possess liquors in one's private dwelling while the same is occupied and used by him only as his dwelling and such liquor must be used for the personal consumption of the owner thereof and his family residing in such dwelling and bona fide guests when entertained by him. Provided the burden of proof shall be upon the possessor to prove that the liquor was lawfully acquired and possessed."

Handling of Sacramental Wine

Several amendments were adopted, those including one by Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri, making provision for the handling of sacramental wine, which the bill had failed to do.

Representative Esch, republican, Wisconsin, offered one which would require the government in picking its agents to enforce the prohibition law to give due regard to civil service rules, while Representative Siegel, republican, New York, put through one providing that men discharged from the military and naval service be given first call in making appointments.

Many amendments were defeated and some were ruled out on points of order. A fight was made against the section permitting the manufacture of beverages containing less than one-half of one percent alcohol, after the house had adopted an amendment to include any liquid such as beer, ale, porter or wine.

An amendment by Mr. Igoe, which would make valid the defense of a person charged with violation of the prohibition law if he proved that such liquor or beverage was not intoxicating, was defeated 75 to 35.

URGES FRANCE TO AID IRELAND

PARIS, July 22.—John A. Murphy of the American commission on Irish independence, who is now in Paris, yesterday sent to Andre Tardieu of the French peace conference delegation a letter stating that the Irish-American population was now hostile to the League of Nations, but could be made friendly by a proper settlement of the Irish question.

"The silence of France and its failure to suggest or propose in any form a settlement of that question," he added, "are operating detrimentally to the old ties of friendship and affection the Irish race in America and Ireland had always shown to France."

ENACTMENT INTO LAW OF THIS BILL WOULD COST CITY OF LOWELL $15,348

A bill in which Lowell should be very much interested because of the fact that its passage would mean a loss to the city is entitled "an act to provide for the distribution of a portion of the income tax, and of the income of the Massachusetts school fund, for the purpose of improving the public schools."

The bill has already been passed by the senate and was given a hearing yesterday before the ways and means committee of the house. The net loss for Lowell under the conditions set forth in the bill relative to estimated receipts and deductions for the various cities and towns would be $15,348. The bill was reported by the committee on education.

SWIMMING POOL FOR GIRLS

A committee representing the eight or more women's organizations of Lowell, which have petitioned for the inclusion of a swimming pool for girls in the auditorium, was given a hearing by the Memorial public building commission at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The committee asked for a hearing that it might further argue the desirability of such a pool and its service to many young women if installed.

VACATION days are days of over-eating and under-exercising for most boys and girls. They loiter around nibbling at light food, unconcerned whether the fruit is green or ripe.

The result is cramps, skin eruptions, pimples, "summer colds," constipation and diarrhea. The basis of such trouble is an upset stomach, and nothing will give safer and quicker relief than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, a formula evolved some 30 years ago by Dr. Caldwell himself. Syrup Pepsin is now used by millions of people and is today the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world.

It is the mildest and gentlest of laxatives. It regulates the stomach and bowels so well that they can soon work normally again with the aid of medicine. And unlike the harsher physics and cathartics, Syrup Pepsin does not grip or cause discomfort, even to a tiny baby.

DUNDEE TOO FAST

Tiptitz Is Twice Held Up by the Ropes

Johnny Dundee further proved that he has come back to stay when he defeated Joe Tiptitz of Philadelphia in Boston last night. The Scotch Wop caught his way back into the good graces of Boston fans last week when he beat Valger and simply outboxed the press last night by outboxing the recent conqueror of George Chancy.

Dundee was too fast for Tiptitz and knew too much ring stuff for him. Joe's far famed right smash was missing and although he jabbed well with his left the blows usually landed on Dundee while the latter was backing away. Twice in the 12 rounds Dundee almost had Tiptitz down but the ropes saved the Quaker City boy on each occasion.

BOYS RUN DOWN BY
ENGINE, ONE KILLED

BOSTON, July 22.—William Hennessey, 7 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hennessey of 104 East Newton street, South End, was killed yesterday on the tracks of the Boston & Albany, between Charlestown east and Charlestown West, while his chum John Roach, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Roach of 13 Sharon street, was seriously injured. The third boy in the party crossing the tracks at the time of the accident was Harold Sales, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sales of 45 Sharon street, South End, and escaped without injury.

Young Sales, who on seeing his two "pals" struck by the big engine was so frightened that he leaped the fence and ran all the way to his home, a distance of nearly two miles. When he reached his home he told his parents of what had happened and then was overcome by the shock.

The story is that the three boys jumped a freight train at the Albany street yards and stole a ride as far as the Cottage Farm bridge where they got off.

While they were walking back along the tracks a shifting engine overtook them.

Hennessey and Roach jumped to one side while Sales leaped to the opposite side. Seeing Sales on the other side the other two lads attempted to cross over in front of the engine but before they were able to the locomotive struck both boys, knocking them some distance.

Captain Goode of Station 16 was riding near by in his automobile when the accident happened. He telephoned for the police ambulance and the two boys were hurried to the city hospital. At the hospital it was found that Hennessey was dead. The doctors found Roach to be suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, lacerated scalp wound, fracture of the left jaw and left arm and multiple abrasions and contusions of the body.

ring indiscriminately into the street.

Four Negro Men Killed

Detective Bernard W. Thompson was seriously wounded by a negro in the same section of the city. Four negro men were killed and several others were fatally wounded. Three patrolmen were badly wounded.

Although two troops of cavalry from Fort Meyer had been called out to patrol the streets and four hundred marines from Quantico and the Washington Marine barracks had been added to the provost guard, the situation at times was more than the authorities could cope with.

45 Riot Calls in One Precinct

Reserve squads of police and provost guards were rushed through the streets of the city all night in answer to riot calls. Army motor trucks were stationed at precinct headquarters with a squad of men armed with automatic rifles, assigned to each. More than 45 riot calls were turned in at one precinct alone between 7 and 1 o'clock.

While in the minor disorders of Saturday and Sunday night crowds of white men assumed an aggressive last night's rioting was marked by a general preparedness on the part of the negroes who during the day purchased hundreds of revolvers.

Expert Shot Is Attacked

Early in the evening they formed crowds and attacked white men wherever found. The first casualty occurred when Patrolman J. C. Bunn, who was attempting to place a negro under arrest, was shot in the shoulder. He is the best shot on the local police force.

Soon afterward a negro, riding on the back platform of a street car, opened fire with a revolver on a crowd of white men, women and children, wounding four, two seriously, before he was himself felled by seven bullets fired by an officer who boarded the car close to him. Although each bullet took effect, the negro was not fatally injured.

Marine Shoots Negro

Later in another locality, a negro, who flourished a revolver in an attempt to hold up a street car, was felled by a marine using the butt end of his gun and was fatally shot when he got up and attempted to escape. Two negroes were later shot in the northwest section of the city, one after he had shot and seriously wounded two white men.

Marine Shot in Neck

One of the most seriously wounded was Private Albert Luck, Marine corps, who was shot in the neck by a negro near the treasury building. An unidentified cavalry man was shot from his horse while patrolling the street. A marine sergeant was shot in the neck by a negro, and Patrolman Herman Glassman was wounded in the leg by negroes speeding by in an automobile.

White Woman Assaulted

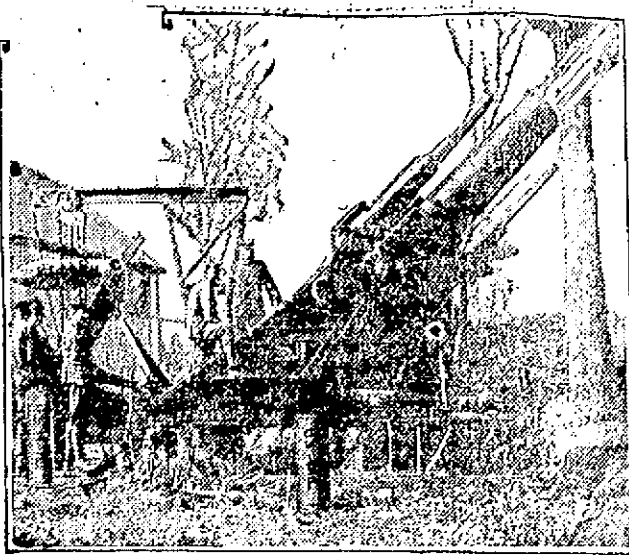

The first police report of the day told of another white woman assaulted and injured by a negro at Capitol Heights, a suburb. The negro, who had lashed about the woman's house all yesterday, was first seized away, and then hiding behind a hedge, seized her as she passed by late last night. The woman was practically disabled in her struggle with her assailant who escaped after she had scratched and bitten him badly.

This was the seventh attack on white women by negro men in and near the District of Columbia within two weeks.

Six Shot at Norfolk

NORFOLK, Va., July 22.—Six persons were shot during a clash between whites and blacks in the negro sections of the city last night. Four of the wounded are negroes, of which two are expected to die. The other two wounded are officers.

The trouble started when the police attempted to arrest negroes fighting among themselves.

BIG CHIEF TELLS

How "Many Bear" Made His Spear

This is the third in a series of talks by Chief Tahan to Lowell boys. These talks appear exclusively in The Sun.

BY CHIEF TAHAN

Of Kiowa Indian Tribe

Boys, when you ask me to tell you how to make a spear, it takes me, on the back track of memory to the time when I was a boy, I lived away out on the western plains then, and was what you might call a savage Indian.

There were great men in our tribe in those days. One of them was a young chief by the name of Many Bears. He had a wonderful spear or lance. It was called a medicine spear. That is to say, a kind of spirit, or magic power, belonged to it; so the warriors believed.

The spear was shaped like an arrow, with feathers on one end, and the point of it was the point of a soldier's sword captured in battle. When the chief went on the war path he always carried that spear; for he believed that the power that belonged to it would help him to defeat his enemies. Before Many Bears went into his last fight he fixed his spear to his body by a long buck-skin sash; and when he saw that his warriors were outnumbered and about to retreat, he rode out in front of them, dismounted, and thrust his spear into the ground. "I will never pull this spear out of the ground unless we win this battle," shouted Many Bears to his warriors. "Here I shall win or die."

It was left for one of his warriors to pull that spear out of the ground; for beside it the brave young chief fell fighting for his country, bound by his sense of honor to his duty by a stronger tie than the buckskin sash which bound him to his lance. But pardon me, boys, I was going to tell you how to make a spear which you could use when you go out into the woods. Well, as I have said, a spear or lance, is made a good deal like an arrow; but it is longer and larger. Get a pole as long as you are tall. Half the size of your wrist, straight, with as few limbs on it as possible. Trim it and peel the bark off. Now take it in your hand—just a little nearer the biggest end than the middle, and see how it will balance. You can make it do that by whittling off the big end, or by moving your hand back on it a little—of course you must trim off the butt end to a point so that it will stick in the ground when you throw it pretty hard.

Dr. Stevens, a graduate of the University of Michigan, has been active in civic work and long served as a director on the prison board. She has already instituted 20 important reforms in the conduct of the prison.

Miss Marion Holmes, suffrage organizer in Florida, and originator of the public school as a community center idea, addresses the following remarks to members of the New League of Women Voters.

"Most members of the League of Women Voters have won the domestic shrines' 321 degree at the altar of the holy cook stove. Now they are putting in time shifts at the community kitchens learning how to co-operate with boards of health, and boards of trade, to keep homes and cities sanitary, to conserve food production, manufacture and transportation for the community."

CURRENT NEWS
ABOUT CURRANTS

BY BIDDY BYE.

Currents are ripe in backyard gardens and on the market stalls.

The price is high this year, but the temptation to make just a little currant jelly for use with meals and salads is still strong, and for those who have a currant crop of their own, or boast a full purse, here are some proper currant recipes:

Currant Raisin Jam

Wash and seed 1 pound of large raisins and put in a preserving kettle. To the raisins add 3 pints of currant juice made from stewing red and white currants together. To the fruit juices add 3 pounds of granulated sugar, mix all well and boil slowly. Cook the fruits until the mixture is thick and smooth, skimming it often. Cool, pack in sterilized glasses and seal.

Gooseberry and Red Currant Jam

Wash, stem and stew red currants enough to produce 2 cupsful of juice. To the currant juice allow 4 pounds of stemmed gooseberries and 3 pounds of sugar. Make a syrup of dissolving the sugar in the currant juice, add the gooseberries, and simmer slowly for 10 minutes until the berries look clear. Pack in sterile pint glass jars and seal.

Red Currant Jelly

Pick red currants, stem and wash, and cook in a double boiler until well scalded, then boil for an hour over a moderate fire. Pour the cooked fruit into a clean jelly bag and let drip overnight. Next day put the strained juice in a preserving kettle and boil for 10 minutes. Lower the fire and skim. Return to a boiling point, and as soon as it boils add the heated sugar, allowing 1 pound of sugar for each pint of juice. The mixture should jelly within 5 minutes. Put in sterilized glasses, seal and let stand in hot sunshine for several days.

Dried Currants

Pick ripe currants, stem and without crushing, stew gently in a little sugar. Spread the cooked currants on platters, sprinkle thickly with granulated sugar and dry in the sun. Serve as a confection with desserts.

Spiced Currants

To 3 pounds of ripe currants, washed and stemmed, measure 3 pounds of sugar, 1 pint of pure cider vinegar, and 1 tablespoonful each of whole cloves, cinnamon, ginger and allspice. Add 1 teaspoonful of salt. Simmer the mixture slowly for 3 hours, then bottle while hot and seal.

Liquor Dealers Panicky

Massachusetts where whiskey was being boldly and openly sold over the bar minus any camouflage whatever.

It has not been a case of belonging to a new order with an accompanying pass word in order to get the strong drink either. The token necessary to present was merely United States currency of the necessary amount.

Patrons still having a kindly feeling towards the saloon keepers insist that in spite of the fact that the saloon keepers and their bartenders were, figuratively speaking, flitting with the possibility of reading their ballscores in the atmosphere of Atlanta federal prison, no profiteering was indulged in and the booze was of a fair quality.

The panic among drink purveyors has been due to the fact that they believe that the advance agents of the internal revenue crowd, were undoubtedly sick detectives who have been in the city a number of days filling their pitchers or the saloon equivalent thereof, at different refreshment places in this Essex county oasis, and have not only bought the drinks with marked bills but have succeeded in growing chummy enough with different bartenders to learn the name of the man who sold the booze. It was expected this forenoon that at least one and probably several arrests for violating the national liquor laws, would take place.

Lawrence Veritable Oasis

Lawrence has been the oasis in the desert for Lowellites as well as others for the last few weeks and there has been something incongruous in the situation, too, inasmuch as Lawrence dealers were buying beer at the brewery in Lowell. The Lowell men coming to Lawrence for their beer constituted a case of going to a neighbor's to buy something made in your own home, but that you could not buy at home. But the answer to it all is that the Lawrence liquor dealers took a chance that the Lowell men in the same business did not care to take.

A WARNING

To the people that need wood for next fall and winter to buy now in the slack season as wood is cheaper now than it was last fall, but every indication points to it rising up again when the cold weather comes. Tel. 2320, your order to Ames A. Brown, 73 Inland St., and receive my prompt attention now.

SHARF'S ICE CREAM

When you are served Sharf's Ice Cream over the counter or at a table you ought to hear it said that the dealer pays more at wholesale for his ice cream than he would have to pay for any other kind.

That means you are getting QUALITY Ice Cream and the BEST that can be made. Try it and be the judge.

FIRE AT MARION, KEN.

Business Section of Town Wiped Out by Fire This Morning

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 22.—The business section of Marion, Ky., was wiped out by fire this morning. The town was destroyed by fire 12 years ago.

BOSTON, July 22.—A. Paul Keith personally invested $217,800 in Liberty bonds, aside from those bought by him as president of various theatrical companies, according to the inventory of his estate, filed by the special administrator, John P. Gorman, yesterday.

The inventory shows Mr. Keith's personal estate was $2,663,311 and his real estate $1,207,454, a total of $3,870,765. This does not include his holdings in real estate outside of Massachusetts, which are understood to be much larger than his holdings in this state.

There were miscellaneous stocks and bonds amounting to $577,324.84, and the balance was almost exclusively invested in his business.

DEATHS

FELTON.—Mrs. Jennie Felton, wife of Elmer J. Felton, died yesterday at her home, 43 Inland street, at the age of 54 years. She leaves her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Edith Smith and Miss Jennie Bell Felton of this city, and two sons, James Felton of this city and Harry Felton of the United States navy.

CALAHAN.—John A. Calahan, a former resident of this city, died last night at his home in Lawrence at the age of 31 years. He is survived by his mother, Mary McKee Calahan, a sister, Mrs. James McLaughlin of Paterson, N. J., and a brother, Henry Calahan of Lawrence.

RICHARDS.—Delbert N. Richards died yesterday at the Corporation hospital at the age of 13 years. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Stella Richards, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Richards, two brothers, Leonard and Bernard, all of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Frances Wood of Franklin, Vt. He was a member of the Masonic lodge of St. Armand, Canada. The body was forwarded to Pigeon Hill, Canada, where services will be held and burial will take place.

FUNERALS

PUTNAM.—The funeral of George Frederick Putnam took place from his home, 97 Market avenue, Hough's Neck, yesterday afternoon. The body was brought to this city, and burial took place in the family lot in the Edson cemetery. Services were held at the grave by Rev. Charles H. Shurt, pastor of the Advent Christian church. There were many flowers. The bearers were relatives. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

NO LIQUOR LICENSES TAKEN OUT HERE

Although the license commissioners stood ready and willing today to grant 17 of the first, second and fourth class liquor licenses which were applied for by Lowell liquor dealers recently and which have now been advertised for the necessary 10-day period required by law, none of the 17 dealers had applied up to noon today for the grants which would allow them to open their doors again for the sale of beer subject to federal regulations.

This bears out the prediction made in The Sun yesterday that local liquor men—nearly all of whom have applied for licenses at the office of the commission in the past 10 days—would not open up again until the prohibition legislation now being worked out in Washington looked more promising from their viewpoint than is now the case.

It is the belief of the liquor men that congress will soon pass the prohibition enforcement bill making it illegal to sell any beverage containing over half of one per cent "kick," and therefore they feel that they would be taking a long chance in opening at present.

THIEF WAS VERY FOND OF BOOKS

Perhaps if arrested the thief, who a few days ago broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson J. Lebrun at 192 Pawtucket street, will tell the court that it was for the purpose of broadening his education that he entered the house, for he took along with him a valuable encyclopedia and several other books. The intruder also incidentally got away with a small amount in change, but he did not bother with other articles of value that were in the house, such as jewelry and silverware.

The break in the Lebrun home was committed while Mr. and Mrs. Lebrun were enjoying their vacation at the beach. According to neighbors the intruder paid two visits to the house and gained an entrance by picking the lock with either a skeleton key or a small file and in each instance his visit was during the night. The neighbors also claim that the thief used a flashlight to find his way through the various apartments.

The police were not notified and there was nothing said about the break until Mr. and Mrs. Lebrun returned from the seashore, and both were alarmed when upon entering their home they found everything turned upside down, the house having been ransacked from cellar to attic. They immediately notified the police, but as yet no arrest has been made.

THE MILK SITUATION

There is practically nothing new in the milk situation in Lowell, that is the producers are selling to the dealers at an advanced price, while the dealers are retailing at the old price. It was expected that there would be a meeting of the dealers last evening, but it was learned this morning that this has been postponed until Friday evening at which time definite action will be taken. It is not known just what the result of the meeting will be for it is understood that some of the dealers are in favor of increasing the price of milk at once, while others, even though they are selling at a loss, prefer that no action be taken until the first of next month.

COAL PROPAGANDA TO FRIGHTEN PEOPLE

WASHINGTON, July 22.—"Blatant coal operators are conducting a nation-wide propaganda to frighten the people into buying coal at the present prices," Representative Huddleston, democrat, of Alabama, declared yesterday before the house resolution committee which is considering a resolution proposing congressional investigation of the coal situation. Lack of domestic demand for coal, he said, was due to "extortionate" prices. The committee reserved decision on the resolution.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Because he got married a few days ago, the case against young William J. Milnes, charged with being a stubborn child, was placed on file by Judge Fisher in police court today. William's mother testified that he had been very backward in coming through with his share of funds with which to keep the wolf from the door, hence the complaint for stubbornness. Now, she said, he has taken out himself a wife, but this has not caused him to loosen up any more than in the past. Judge Fisher allowed that she was entitled to some help from her son, and recommended that she talk things over with the clerk with reference to making out a new complaint against the youthful benefactor.

Other Offenders

Another young man, William Brown, was charged with stealing newspapers from the stand in front of the waiting room at Merrimack square, and the case continued until Friday, when it will be tried in the juvenile session.

The one lone offender who graced the dock this morning, Thomas Carroll, of Woodstock, N. H., was given one week to get out of town under a suspended sentence of a month in jail. Thomas admitted being drunk, but averred that it would never happen again if the court would give him another chance. Where Thomas got the wherewithal to tank up he absolutely refused to divulge.

RAIN KILLS BUSINESS AT CONEY ISLAND

NEW YORK, July 22.—Proprietors of New York seaside resorts declared yesterday that if it does not stop raining soon they will be ruined. Six days of wetness—and prohibition—have cost restaurants and managers of attractions at Coney Island alone approximately $5,000,000, they estimated, and the loss is still piling.

Bathhouse owners reported that surf bathing has been almost suspended because of the persistent downpour.

The daring ones who ventured out yesterday without umbrellas were soaked when the downpour began again while they were at luncheon. The rain, which started last Tuesday and has continued almost without ceasing since then, has reached a precipitation of 6.6 inches. The local forecaster said indications for the next 24 hours were for rain, with only occasional flashes of sunshine.

A Newark bricklayer committed suicide yesterday because the rain had thrown him out of work for a week and he was convinced it would continue 31 days more, according to the superstition of St. Swithin.

MINIMUM WAGE OF $3

For Government Employees Exclusive of Those in Postal Service

WASHINGTON, July 22.—By a vote of 363 to 17, the house today passed the bill providing a minimum wage of three dollars for all government employees except those in the postal service. The wage is exclusive of the war time bonus of $240 a year allowed employees. The measure now goes to the senate.

JUDGE PICKMAN HOLDS INQUEST

An inquest was held by Judge Pickman today on the death of Donald Millard, 41 of 131 Hall street. According to the police, the boy was struck by an automobile driven by Narcisse Pelland, 173 Ludlum street, on the evening of July 2, and died at the Lowell hospital the following day as a result. Millard was playing on Alken street at the time of the accident, and is said to have run suddenly in front of Pelland's car.

Business Suspended THE BOULGER SHOE STORE

Located at 233 Central Street, Lowell, is closed temporarily to arrange and prepare for a tremendous sale. The Manufacturers' Sales Corporation is now in charge and its representative states that when the store opens again Lowell people will see the biggest shoe sale ever pulled off in the city. The Boulger store is one of the oldest and best known concerns in the state, having been established since 1884. This store is filled from cellar to roof with high grade standard makes of honest footware for the whole family.

WATCH FOR ANNOUNCEMENT

MUST PROVE THAT PRODUCT INTOXICATING

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 22.—The government in prosecutions of alleged violations of the war time prohibition measure as relates to beer and other malt liquors, must set forth that the product in question is intoxicating, declared Judge Arthur L. Brown in the United States district court here today, in sustaining the demurrer of the James Hanley Brewing Co. to a criminal information brought by the United States district attorney. The government claimed that the defendant corporation manufactured malt liquor containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol. The government was given two weeks to amend its complaint.

SEN. BECKHAM SAYS MAJORITY FOR LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Speaking in support of the peace treaty in the senate today, Senator Beckham, democrat, of Kentucky, urged early ratification without reservations, declaring a majority of the American people favored a trial in the hope that the League of Nations would promote international concord.

"No advocate of this document," he said, "can proclaim it perfect."

"The great common people of this country have seen with remarkable quickness and precision that flaw in the argument of the opposition which suggests no substitute, which proposes no plan, which offers no remedy to protect us in any way whatever from the hideous monster of war. They realize no instrument of this kind can be at once framed and promulgated without imperfections or defects, but they are willing to try it."

Opposition to the treaty because of the Shantung provision Senator Beckham characterized as "one of the shallowest arguments yet advanced."

"I think that under all of the circumstances the peace conference did the best it could in regard to the Shantung issue," he said. "Let Japan be given the opportunity to make good her promise to right the wrong originally committed by Germany before we undertake this severe and improper criticism of her."

WAR OVER BLAME THINGS NOW ON PROHIBITION

Prohibition is to blame for the present sugar shortage in Lowell and throughout the eastern states.

At least, it is mainly responsible for the scarcity of sugar which has made itself felt in Lowell for several weeks, say the local wholesale men, who admit, however, that the marine strike is also to blame to some degree.

With the advent of the dry days of prohibition, the local dealers say, there has been an enormous demand for "soft" drinks—which contain a large percentage of this sweet—and this has resulted in the refineries failing behind on deliveries in an effort to keep up with the orders of the "soft" drink manufacturers. Many refineries are from 30 to 45 days behind on deliveries and have been oversold for the past month.

Another thing which has helped to bring about the present condition is the heavy buying of sugar which has been going on in the city since it was rumored that a shortage was expected. Many families attempted to "stock up" on sugar in order to evade the expected shortage, and bought a much larger amount than would ordinarily have been the case.

Lowell has not felt the shortage to the same degree as other cities throughout the state, notably in Worcester, where sugar is reported to be almost impossible to get this week. It is the opinion of the local dealers that the city has seen the worst of the so-called famine, and that if householders will avoid purchasing more than they actually need at any one time there will be little real cause for the public to worry. And there is still further assurance in the fact that the government has some 13,000,000 pounds of granulated sugar stored in New York and other cities. This sugar was bought for army and navy use but is no longer required for that purpose.

PARISIAN OPERA SINGER COMING

One of the features of the mass meeting on the North common on the evening of Labor day in connection with the welcome home celebration for the French-speaking soldiers and sailors of this city, will be singing by Francis C. Chantreaux, a Parisian opera singer, who is now stopping in Boston. This matter was decided at a meeting of the general committee, which was held last evening at the C.N.A.C. hall with Chairman Joseph L. Lamoureux in the chair. Mr. Chantreaux is a musician of exceptional ability. At one time he was connected with the old Boston Opera company with which he scored a big success. He is favorably known in Lowell, having sung the leading part in Faust at the Opera House of this city some fifteen years ago. He was also the soloist at the Opera House when this place of amusement was opened a few years ago as a moving picture house. Mr. Chantreaux is an author and composer of songs and he will render some of his own compositions.

In the course of last evening's meeting the various sub-committees reported progress and it was announced that at least seven bands will be hired for the monster parade to be held in the afternoon and the mass meeting on the common in the evening. It was announced that a very important meeting of the residents of Pawtucketville will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the quarters of the Pawtucketville Social club for the purpose of organizing the district for the celebration.

In the offering of the above described cottages at public sale, the opportunity to secure a home at a very low price, in a handy location is here given. The location is within easy and comfortable walking distance to Merrimack Square, also to the largest of the mills, factories, shops, etc. The great scarcity of tenements, and with the large number of people of moderate means looking for a home in this, an essentially home locality, and for the chance to buy a home, and with the very few parcels suitable, have it all by itself, as each house is in this, an essentially home locality, and should be taken and acted upon by the many, many numbers of home-seekers. In all probability, a most liberal mortgage can be arranged on each house. The various properties may be seen at anytime before the sale by calling at the office of the auctioneer.

W. E. GUYETTE, in charge.
